The Greatest Birthday.
More Land for America.
We Talk More Rapidly.
Mr. Hoover's Triumph.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

TODAY is the birthday of the biggest of all Americans. He gave this country the right to govern itself and gave his fellow citizens the advice to keep out of foreign alliances and entanglements. May they have brains enough to take that advice and thus maintain the independence that Washington won for them.

BYRD, looking down from the air, maps out vast new territories in the Antarctic regions, claims them for the United States and names them for his wife, "Marie Byrd Land."

WHETHER other nations recognize a claim based on "I saw it first" remains to be seen. For a few years it will not matter, but a few thousand years hence, when the North and South Poles change their positions, and flowers grow where the Poles are now, "Marie Byrd Land" will be valuable. By that time, however, there may be only one nation on all the earth.

THE wise Rockefeller family sent men to the Arctic region, dug wells there, found oil, plugged up the wells and will run a pipeline, sometime, if they need to.

It would cost $100,000,000, too much money with oil as abundant as it is today.

THE "Yankee drawl" is vanishing, and even the deliberate speech of the South is speeded up, with new steel and textile mills and so much business to attend to.

THE Shorthand Reporters' Association is told that in 20 years, the average speech of the American has increased 10 words per minute. That's hard on the shorthand men, but makes no difference to the talking machine. Talk into it as rapidly as you like and it will repeat as slowly as you like.

TWENTY-EIGHT governors will participate in Herbert Hoover's inaugural parade, giving the new president what the old Romans called a "triumph."

In Caesar's triumph, he rode ahead in his war chariot of gold. Behind him, on foot, marched the conquered, kings and queens in golden chains, barbarian chiefs with chains of iron. The victims were usually slaughtered after the triumph.

The modern plan, with a presidential triumph made up of judges, governors, distinguished citizens, all surviving the day, is much pleasanter.

THE snow is thick in New York, but there was sunshine in Wall Street. Prices climbed "to new highs." Call money cost only 5½ per cent. When the bell rang, brokers went home for a three-day rest. No more news from that Street until next Monday at 10 in the morning.

SENATOR HEFLIN, of Alabama, annoyed by one of Ned McClean's bright young men, characterizes gentlemen in the Senate press gallery as "squirrel heads and possum heads."

Senator Bruce of Maryland, defended the reporters, but it was hardly necessary.

An opossum knows when to keep quiet. A squirrel knows enough to store up food for the winter, and his brain is active and efficient in proportion to its size.

If the senator from Alabama wants to insult newspaper men he should tell them that they have heads like wart-hogs or like the rapidly vanishing white rhinoceros, which has absolutely nothing above its ears.

MANY in Britain believe that Labor will win the next election.

It depends largely on the "flapper vote," millions of young women who will vote for the first time at the general election. A majority of these girls, rich and poor, except those brought up in union labor surroundings, will vote the Conservative ticket. Woman is naturally conservative, as she should be.

AMERICAN capitalists have bought British companies that supply light and power to important cities.

This worries a Labor member of Parliament, but it needn't. American industrialists will show their British cousins how to run power companies profitably and how to make profits.

AND there won't be any trouble about money. The American and Foreign Power Company announces a plan to raise a little more than a hundred million dollars, largest stock offering ever projected by a public utility company.

GREAT BRITAIN used to sing, "We've got the men, we've got the ships, we've got the money, too." WE haven't got the ships, but we have got the men that know how to do business and we have got the money.

INVESTMENT trusts in Wall Street are as "thick as autumnal leaves that strow the brooks in Vallombrosa," and thicker.

NEW YORK'S Legislature proposes to investigate investment trusts and see what they are doing. Other investigations may follow in Washington.

Spreading their funds over many securities, the average of safety is increased, and growth in value in this country seems inevitable.

BUT an investment trust is no safer than the judgment of the man who makes the investment.

As in other things, the good ones are very good, and the other kind are bad and dangerous.

KIDNAPED GIRL FOUND, 3 HELD

FINAL "SLUSH FUND" REPORT URGES BARRING VARE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—The Senate's special investigating committee today submitted a final report recommending that William S. Vare, Republican, be denied a seat as Senator from Pennsylvania.

The committee took into consideration the previous declaration of the Senate that Vare be given an opportunity to present his case personally and declared that "in view of the present physical and mental condition" of the Senator-elect it was for the Senate to determine "what action is proper in the premises."

There was but one ray of sunshine for Vare in the whole report. That occurred in King's minority report, in which the Utah senator expressed belief that Vare should be given the oath of office before being expelled.

Vare is now confined to a sick

International News Service.

More than 20 deaths were attributed today to the storm which swept from the southern border states to Canada, blanketing the eastern tier of states from the Carolinas to Maine with a thick coverlet of snow.

While the snowfall was reported halted, the temperature dropped to within hailing distance of zero in most localities. In Maine and North Dakota the thermometer was reported from 10 to 14 degrees below zero.

FIRES HOME, FIGHTS OFF POLICE, FIREMEN

Believed to have been crazed by the loss of his job, John Matvia, 35, set fire to his home at 226 Virginia avenue, Braddock Park, and for an hour stood in the doorway of the blazing dwelling, threatening police and firemen with an ax, Braddock police reported today. He was subdued by Chief of Police Charles Balfour and Patrolman Burt Brozvick, of Braddock.

Before setting fire to the home, police say Matvia drove out his wife and two sons, 6 and 8 and then poured kerosene into one of the rooms and lighted it. The house was destroyed.

Braddock authorities today committed him to the Allegheny County Home at Woodville, after physicians declared him mentally deranged. He was discharged from the employ of the Mesta Machine company, West Homestead, about two weeks ago.

DOG BITES 2, CAUSES EAST LIBERTY PANIC

Excitement prevailed in the streets and stores of the East Liberty shopping district for several hours today as a small dog, believed to be mad, ran amuck and bit a boy and a woman before finally being captured.

The first victim was Donald Hamilton, 12, of 5814 Murrayhill avenue, who was bitten on the calf of the left leg while making a purchase in a Penn avenue novelty store. Other patrons made way for the dog to dash out into the street again.

A short time later it was reported to Frankstown avenue police that Mrs. W. L. Conrad, of 330 Elysian avenue, was bitten three times on the right leg by the same dog at Penn and Center avenues.

Patrolmen E. McNamara captured the dog as it dashed out of a drugstore at 6005 Penn avenue after threatening patrons and clerks alike and took it to the Animal Rescue League for observation.

KANSAS CITY, Mo.—After being shot and dangerously wounded by his wife, James H. Combs, 37, ran a block from his home to the residence of his attorney, E. J. Fleming, to make a new will disinheriting his wife in an estate estimated at $50,000.

Mercury Drop To 5 Degrees Is Forecast

The sudden shifting of the wind from south to northwest today heralded the approach of another cold wave which will drop the temperature to between 5 and 10 degrees tonight, according to the weather bureau.

A slump of approximately 25 degrees was in prospect, Forecaster W. S. Brotzman said, as the mercury stood at 30 degrees this morning.

Tomorrow will continue cold, with clear skies, but by tomorrow night the chill will moderate. Sunday will see the mercury rising, Brotzman predicted.

With slush from a 5-inch snowfall on the highways in many places, motorists face dangerous driving with the hard freeze late today and tonight, the weather bureau warned.

P. R. R. FLYER NEAR CRASH, CAB IN PATH

The big six-wheelers of the Broadway Limited were pounding the rails west out of Pittsburgh last night, and in the Pullmans behind several hundred passengers were settling down to slumber.

There—suspended by a rear wheel from the edge of the bridge, and swaying slightly, was a battered taxicab, hanging directly in the path of the Limited.

Patrolman Geis ran along Irwin avenue, but he could find no steps down to the tracks there, and a high iron fence made jumping impractical.

MELLON HALTED AS RAIL GATE CRASHER

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—Andrew W. Mellon may be one of the richest men in the country and Secretary of the U. S. Treasury, but to a Pennsylvania Railroad gatekeeper here he was only a would-be passenger without a ticket early today.

Hurrying to the Broad Street Station to catch a train to Washington after attending a dinner to Gen. W. W. Atterbury, president of the railroad, Mr. Mellon was stopped by a gateman.

"Where's your ticket?" the gateman asked. "I have a private car here," Mr. Mellon replied.

"Yeah?" queried the doubting employe. "Well, you'll have to see the station master about that."

4-YEAR-OLD CHILD, MISSING FOR WEEK, SAFELY HOME

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—One of the greatest police searches in the history of California came to an end today.

Identity of the arrested trio was not disclosed by police.

STRANGER ENTERS

Mrs. Sharp told police the girl had been brought to them by a mysterious stranger who told them the child was her own, whom she had not seen for more than a year.

"I am not satisfied with the story of Mr. and Mrs. Sharp," Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson said after the child had been restored to her mother. Mrs. Murphy was on the verge of collapse, but identified the child positively as her own, detectives said.

CALLED TO WHARF

Mrs. Sharp told the detectives, when they claimed the girl, that last Friday—the day Doris disappeared—a note was slipped under the door of the Sharp home, tell-

CHICAGO GANGSTER'S DEATH AUTO FOUND

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—A dismantled and partly burned 1927 Cadillac touring car today had proved police with what they regarded as the first definite clue in running down the St. Valentine's Day slayers of seven members of the George (Bugs) Moran gang.

The automobile, of the same model used by detective squads, was found by firemen called to extinguish a blaze in a private garage in North Wood street, the heart of "Little Sicily," about three miles west of the scene of the gang killings. Apparently the garage had been set afire by an acetylene torch being used in a hasty attempt to destroy the car. The attempt was a failure.

Half a dozen arrests followed the finding of the smoldering automobile which police believe was used by the killers.

In the garage, owned by a grocer living on the premises, police found a loaded pistol, a man's hat, and a siren similar to those with which police cars are equipped. Witnesses to the Moran execution say some of the slayers were dressed in police uniforms, that they rode in a car similar to detective cars, and that it was equipped with a siren.

The grocer said he had rented the garage to a man who told him his name was Rogers and who gave an address which police found

HOEY TO WAIVE VERONA HEARING

Alderman John J. Verona will be deprived of the thrill of conducting a hearing in the case of Harry Fink, a private detective operating out of Verona's office, against his political foe, Police Inspector J. N. Hoey and four others, charged with conspiracy to prosecute Fink.

Hoey and the other defendants, Magistrate A. D. Brandon, of Morals Court; Precinct Detective Patrick Tuley, Motorcycle Patrolman Thomas Martin and Sergt. Harry Lemp, announced today they would waive hearings when arraigned before Verona tomorrow noon.

The five defendants agreed upon this course, despite a recommendation of the city law department that they go into a hearing.

Fink filed charges against the five after he had been held for court by Magistrate Brandon, charged with a serious offense involving alleged harboring of a girl, said to have been taken from the county workhouse by Fink through payment of her fine.

PIRATES APPROACH PASO ROBLES CAMP

By CHARLES J. DOYLE,
Staff Correspondent.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—The advance squad of the Pittsburgh Pirates, composed mainly of pitchers and catchers, passed through here early this morning on the last lap of their transcontinental journey to Paso Robles, where they are scheduled to start their spring training tomorrow. The squad was due to reach camp late today.

The trip across the continent was made without mishap, yet the players appeared to be elated that the long jaunt was about completed. Manager Bush informed his athletes that he expected every one of them to be on hand early tomorrow morning for the initial workout of the season.

Golf has been banned for the members of the Pirates during their spring training activities. Manager Bush does not believe the two sports mix and has warned his players to stay away from the links during their sojourn at Paso Robles.

ORIE ADMITTED SHARE IN GAMBLING HOUSE, COURT TOLD

8 CONVICTED IN 3 RUM TRIALS

Three smashing blows at the North Side rum ring, alleged to have been organized by wards under political patronage and with police protection, and eight convictions, have made a "perfect week" for the United States government in the renewal of its prosecution of various groups charged with conspiring to create divisional monopolies in liquor supply.

The government achieved its third victory in as many days when a jury late yesterday convicted the defendants in the Twenty-fourth Ward group.

They were Thomas C. Johnson, alleged concessionaire in the ward; Thomas F. Wills, county employe and chairman of the ward Republican club, and David J. Adams, alleged delivery man. A fourth defendant, R. M. Levay, pleaded no defense and, appearing as the chief government witness, was largely instrumental in the prosecution's success. The verdict was reached after two hours' deliberation and was returned before Judge Nelson McVicar in United States Court at 4:30 o'clock.

ONE COUNT IGNORED

Johnson and Wills were found guilty on five counts, conspiracy to sell, possess, transport, deliver and furnish intoxicating liquor. Adams was convicted on the counts of possession, transportation and delivery. All three were acquitted on a count of manufacture by direction of the court on motion of Government Counsel Ralph H. Smith.

The government won its second victory when a sealed verdict was opened yesterday convicting Daniel McLaughlin, Santo Laquatra and Jack Laquatra, defendants in the Twenty-first Ward group. Fred Stratman and Oscar Reister, Twenty-third Ward defendants, were convicted Tuesday. Disposition of defendants in the three cases was deferred pending motions for new trials, which defense counsel said will be filed.

APRIL SESSION CALLED

In order that there will be no delay in the prosecutions, United States Attorney John D. Meyer said that a special April session of court has been called, the first in the history of the court, to dispose of the remaining liquor charges as well as to bring the calendar generally up to date. The two remaining North Side groups charged with conspiracy, in the Twenty-second and Twenty-seventh Wards, have been listed for trial April 1.

The alleged South Side conspiracy, with 35 defendants, is listed for trial Monday, when 300 witnesses reporting this week were told to return. The March term of the United States Court at Erie will intervene before resumption of the prosecutions. No session of court is held today because of the holiday.

Baldwin Reverses Irish Claim Policy

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—The government of Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin today reversed a stand taken earlier this week and announced that southern Irish Loyalists would be paid in full for damages sustained in disturbances there. The action followed a revolt within the Conservative party, which on Tuesday threatened a vote of no confidence in the cabinet.

Next Rum Trials April 1, and No Fooling

Witnesses in the alleged liquor conspiracies in the Twenty-second and Twenty-seventh wards were told yesterday in the Federal building to return April 1, when the trials have been listed. They have been waiting to be called all week. "April first, no fooling?" they asked Ralph H. Smith, one of government counsel. "No fooling," he rejoined.

bed in Florida and Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, the chairman of the special committee, has indicated he will be guided entirely by the decision of the Senate. It is not expected that action against Vare will be pressed in the closing days of this session.

On the basis of the committee's first report on its inquiry into an alleged slush fund's use by Vare in his three-cornered race for the Republican senatorial nomination in Pennsylvania in 1926, the Senate declined to administer the oath of office to him.

CLAPP FILES REPORT

Charges of gross fraud and election corruption were made against the Vare organization by A. R. Clapp, of Philadelphia, the committee's special attorney, in a separate report. Clapp declared William B. Wilson, the defeated Democratic senatorial nominee, had lost 10,000 votes in Philadelphia and 2,220 in Pittsburgh through election frauds.

The committee declared it had finished with the Vare issue, but would not ask to be discharged pending a final decision in its case against Thomas W. Cunningham, Philadelphia sheriff, who was hailed into court for refusal to testify to the committee.

Youth Sentenced In Uncle's Murder

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Feb. 22.—Reuben Upshaw, 19, near Uhrichsville, has been sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory for an indefinite term for the slaying of his uncle, Harrison Upshaw, near Midvale, November 24. He was found guilty of manslaughter.

STEER CRASHES WINDOWS

Out of obscurity into prominence, a brown steer trotted today, swishing his tail. The events that occurred in the meantime are by no means a reflection upon the steer, for it was all a mistake. And, anyway, he is dead.

The steer's schedule called for a short trip through East Liberty to the Lowenstein Packing Company's plant in Hamilton avenue. But the steer was not one to be bound by schedules.

PLANS CHANGED

With a shake of his head, as much as to say, "Schedules be hanged," he changed the plans. It was in front of Lester's Women's Ready-to-Wear store, at 6224 Frankstown avenue. There were frocks and filmsy invitings in the windows.

Utterly without philanthropic intentions, the steer started for the windows. And went right through. The windows—four of them—were broken, and so was the law. So the driver, Elmer Lowrie, of 2139 Lowrie street, called police.

In pursuit came Patrolman Joseph Hudack and James O'Donnell. They commandeered a truck. Patrolman Joseph Voegler commandeered a taxicab and joined the chase.

BOVINE LASSOED

At Penn and Sheridan avenues the truck was in front of the steer. The steer was in front of the taxicab. The truck stopped. The taxicab closed in from behind, and at that instant Patrolman Hudack dropped a chain around the bovine neck.

But at Broad street and Sheridan avenue he lay down as best he could, what with the chain and the truck pulling him. This time the police gave up.

They called the owner, Saul Lowenstein. Lowenstein informed the Humane Society, which removed the animal to the slaughter house, where it was dispatched.

Betty, Mrs. Sharp said, is her child by a former marriage, the same age as Doris, and had been living for more than a year with her father, Mrs. Sharp's first husband, in Los Angeles.

Detectives said there were marked discrepancies in her story which would be investigated.

THREAT RUSE FAILS

Shortly after the girl was kidnaped Mrs. Murphy received a series of letters signed "KK."

Their text indicated the child had fallen prey to a subnormal person, and would be killed unless police were called off the case.

While police discounted these letters, either as the work of a "crank" or as a subterfuge of the kidnapers to delay police investigation, they had the mother near a nervous breakdown.

One received yesterday was so revolting in its threats that Mrs. Murphy fainted after reading it.

Unidentified Clubber Dazes South Side Girl

Florence Kozlowski, 20, of 1729 Wharton street, South Side, is recovering today from lacerations of the head and shock suffered last night when an unidentified man attacked her near her home.

Dazed by the blow, apparently from a club, Miss Kozlowski was rushed to the South Side Hospital in the South Side police patrol. She was taken home later by police. No attempt was made to rob her.

Leopold in "Solitary," Stole Prison Alcohol

JOLIET, Ill., Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Nathan Leopold, one of the slayers of little Bobby Franks, was in solitary confinement today for the infraction of prison rules. The young murderer was found cooking a midnight meal in his cell over an improvised stove. His fuel, it was said, was alcohol smuggled from the prison ration shops.

HOLIDAY DRAWS MORE TO FLAG CONTEST

Washington's Birthday is an appropriate time to join the United States Flag Association's contest for the trip-around-the-world prizes. Boys and girls between the ages of 14 and 18 years who are entered in the contest and who are studying the history of the flag find it inseparably linked with the name of Washington. It was designed from an adaptation of his coat of arms and when it was unfurled by the regiments in the Continental army Washington was in command.

In many communities in Pittsburgh and in the adjoining states flag contest units are being formed today and are getting their supplies and the contestants are catching up with the questions in order to be ready to write the five-minute address on "Old Glory's Greatest Glory." Those who want to compete will bear in mind, of course, that they cannot enter the contest individually, but must be enrolled in a school group.

After reading the rules of the contest, which appear in the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, boys and girls have been urged to take up the matter with their teachers. Nearly all the groups have been organized on the initiative of the students themselves. The contest is being sponsored by the Hearst newspapers, and in addition to the wonderful journey around the world, there will be trips to Washington, D. C., and to patriotic shrines in the Middle Atlantic and New England states. These winners will visit Washington's home at Mt. Vernon, Valley Forge and the battlefields of Brandywine, Germantown, Trenton, Stoney Point and other famous places.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Gasoline was retailing at prices ranging from 10 to 17 cents here today and the end of the price-cutting war is not in sight.

HOOVER TAKES HOLIDAY REST FOR STUDY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—President-elect Hoover had mapped out for himself a quiet observance of Washington's birthday today with fewer political consultations on his program than has been usual since his return from South America.

He welcomed a day of greater solitude in which he would have an opportunity to digest the results of the conferences with party leaders he had held lately and reached definite conclusions both as to the major appointments he will have to make and as to the policies he will pursue and recommend on the opening of his administration.

His inaugural address, although almost finished, has yet to undergo final revision and in certain parts actual elaboration, and the President-elect hopes to make definite progress toward its completion in the course of the day.

ROBINSON DINNER GUEST

The selection of suitable cabinet and major diplomatic appointments has constituted Mr. Hoover's chief occupation lately. Yesterday numerous prominent possibilities were reviewed by him in addition to discussion of the general political situation with congressional leaders.

Henry M. Robinson, of Los Angeles, concluded a day of almost constant conference with the President-elect by remaining as a dinner guest at his house last night. His conversations with Mr. Hoover aroused much interest not only because he is known to be a very close friend who has figured prominently in Mr. Hoover's plans for the next administration, but because the report was spread that he had carried out for the President-elect a survey of various names suggested for the secretaryship of labor. It is supposed, on the basis of this report, that he yesterday informed Mr. Hoover of the conclusion he had reached.

CONFERS WITH MELLON

In addition, Mr. Hoover received for a long conversation Secretary Mellon, of the Treasury Department, who is considered almost the only certainty among all the names so far mentioned for a place in the cabinet.

Decision as to the selection of an attorney general still has to be reached by the President-elect, since Senator Borah, of Idaho, to whom he had offered the post, decided, according to friends of the Senator, to refuse the position. The Idaho Senator, his friends said, felt that his greatest field of usefulness in public life lay in the Senate.

Police learned that the two cabs had collided on the bridge and that Miltenberger's had been forced against the east railing. About 18 feet of the railing gave way, and the cab went over.

Miltenberger extricated himself and his two passengers, Ray Rapp, of 208 Charles street, and May Davison, of 1614 Liverpool street.

MAGISTRATE ACCUSED AT TRIAL

Police Magistrate John W. Orie, on trial in Federal Court for alleged evasion of income taxes for 1924 and 1925, admitted being one of the owners of a gambling house in Penn avenue, according to Clifford C. Mack, a special agent of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, a government witness. Alleged incomes derived from gambling operations are the basis for the government's suit.

Agent Mack testified that Orie told him his partners were Martin J. Grady and "three men prominent in state affairs," whose names the police official refused to divulge. Mack told of making an investigation of the tax liabilities of Orie for the two years.

The government alleges that Orie owes a tax of $8,416.84 in 1924 on an income of $59,797 and a tax of $6,645.52 in 1925 on an income of $58,970. Miss Reginia Hayes, a clerk in the office of D. B. Heiner, collector of internal revenue in Pittsburgh, was the first witness called. She testified she had made an investigation and was unable to find any income tax returns by the defendant for the two years.

LENT MONEY TO CHURCH

Frank J. Lois, a deputy collector of internal revenue, who joined with Agent Mack in making the investigation and corroborated the testimony of the latter, testified under cross-examination that Orie said the gambling house was conducted at a loss.

Mack said that Orie had a checking account in the Franklin Savings and Trust Company and a joint account with Grady in the same bank, and had deposited various sums of money to the account of the Rev. Ladislaus Alachniewicz, rector of the Immaculate Heart of Mary Church, as a loan to the congregation at 4 per cent interest. Father Alachniewicz said loans were made between 1921 and 1927, and in March of the latter year Orie drew out $10,500.

The rector had been called as a government witness.

BANKER TESTIFIES

W. L. Crawford, secretary of the Franklin Savings and Trust Company, testified that Orie had a checking account in the bank and a joint account with Grady. The latter was convicted last week in Federal Court of defrauding the government by failing to file tax returns showing his net income for several years. At that trial it was also testified that he and the police magistrate were partners in a gambling business.

Mack also testified concerning incomes received by Orie from rents and commissions on real estate transactions. In the prosecution of the suit the government is represented by Assistant United States Attorney J. A. Richardson and the defendant by Attorne. A. M. Oliver. Judge F. P. Schoonmaker is presiding. After yesterday's session court recessed until Monday.

Sub-Station Worker Killed by Live Wire

Robert Sherman, 28, of 4134½ Market street, McKeesport, was killed yesterday when he came in contact with a high tension wire while at work in the Third avenue sub-station of the Duquesne Light Company. Fellow employes made a futile attempt to resusciatate him.

20 LOSE LIVES IN STORM

FOOD REACHES SILVERTON

SILVERTON, Col., Feb. 22.—(INS.)—The first train in three weeks reached Silverton today. The 1,200 or more inhabitants had been cut off from the outside world except for runners on snowshoes, since February 3.

One locomotive, engaged in clearing the track ahead of the 36-car train of provisions, went over the embankment when it hit a huge snowdrift.

$50 Speeding Fine Paid to His Fiancee

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—The curiosity of Miss Fannie Axelrod, 21, when she saw a woman in an automobile with her fiance, has added $50 to her hope chest. Magistrate Healy ordered Sussman Ballin to pay her that amount in lieu of a fine when both were arrested for speeding. Ballin said he was taking the woman home at the request of a friend and was speeding to avoid an embarrassing meeting. The couple left court arm in arm.

$5,000 FELLOWSHIPS PRIZE FOR CHEMISTRY STUDENTS

BALTIMORE, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—One of the richest prizes ever offered to American undergraduates was laid before students of chemistry throughout the country today by President Frank J. Goodnow, of the ohns Hopkins University.

He announced the acceptance of gifts providing for an unprecedented experiment in education, designed to train young chemists of exceptional talents to carry their learning to succeeding generations of students and workers.

PLAN STARTS IN FALL

The program, including establishment of a new chair of chemical education and a number of fellowships amounting to a year, will be put into in next fall on an experibasis. It is expected to help need for inspiring teachers and if successful will be made permanent with endowments pledged by the donors of the experimental funds.

Each student receiving one of the fellowships will have a five-year course of training, covering not only all of the requirements for a doctor's degree, but the equivalent of one extra year of work devoted to certain studies in education to equip him as a teacher. At the end he will be free to choose his own career, in academic or industrial life.

DIRECTOR APPOINTED

The new chair of chemical education has been provided for by Francis P. Garvan, president of the Chemical Foundation of New York. Dr Neil E. Gordon, a Johns Hopkins graduate, former head of the chemistry department of the University of Maryland, and editor of the Journal of Chemical Education, has been appointed to fill this chair.

Through a fund provided by A. R. L. Dohme, of Baltimore, the special students will have an opportunity to come in personal contact with leaders in chemistry in America and abroad who will be brought here to lecture.

A fellowship will be awarded by the committee. And chemistry student who has had at least two years of training in a college or university in a state where a fellowship is available will be eligible to apply for it.

WHERE PATROLMAN FLAGGED BROADWAY LIMITED

Waving his flashlight back and forth again and again through the iron grating atop the railroad cut at Irwin and North avenues, Patrolman Geis flagged the Broadway Limited, running behind schedule, to a stop, averting a crash with a taxicab he discovered hanging, as the artist shows, from this bridge.

WOMEN TAX AUDITORIUMS FOR EVANGELIST'S VISIT

How to accommodate more than 2,000 women of Allegheny County church organizations who are making luncheon reservations to hear Rev. Dr. E. Stanley Jones, author and evangelist, who comes here next week, is one of the greatest problems that ever confronted Pittsburgh hotelmen.

A luncheon, to be addressed by Dr. Jones at William Penn Hotel Wednesday, brought 1,400 requests, filling ballroom, blue room and corridors, and when several hundred additional reservations were made an overflow was arranged at the Fort Pitt.

Mrs. Harry G. Samson, Mrs. P. N. Jones, Miss Carrie Carnahan and other members of the committee in charge were overwhelmed with additional requests today, and the question of a second overflow gathering was considered. At the Hungry Club on Monday Dr. Jones will relate personal reminiscences of Mahatma Ghandi, and another overflow is being planned. The evangelist addresses night meetings next week in Trinity Cathedral.

LINDY HOPS OFF FOR WICHITA

He was forced to land yesterday on account of a frozen motor.

A cracked waterjacket is being replaced.

"Lindy" indicated he would not reach the Pacific coast "for some time." He evaded questioners who sought to learn if he intended to fly to Mexico City to visit his fiancee, Miss Anne Morrow.

PITTSBURGHERS HONOR FIRST PRESIDENT

Pittsburgh today observes Washington's Birthday by initiating plans for joining the whole country in 1932 for the celebration of the two-hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Father of His Country.

Stevenson

Father Pitt, commemorating Washington's six visits to Western Pennsylvania, will have little time in the intervening three years to prepare for its part in the nation-wide celebration. The Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania will sponsor the Washington duo-centennial in Pittsburgh.

MAP 1932 CELEBRATION

At the February meeting of the historical society next Tuesday a committee will be authorized to proceed with the plans for the celebration, it was announced today by William H. Stevenson, president of the society.

"The Washington jubilee, while it will be tied in with national celebration, will offer opportunities for Pittsburgh to eclipse its great observance of the sesquicentennial of 1908," said Stevenson. "We must not forget that it was on Washington's advice that Pittsburgh was founded, having first been recommended by him in 1754, as a site for a fort."

Meeting of patriotic societies, a rally in Memorial Hall by the American Citizenship League, Martha Washington tea parties and other social events remind the people today that on this date 197 years ago, George Washington was born on a Virginia plantation on the banks of the Potomac.

The principal feature in today's celebration is the annual meeting for new citizens in Memorial Hall under the direction of the American Citizenship League. F. J. Kress, president of the league, will preside, and the principal address will be made by Judge Theodore G. Risley, solicitor of the United States Department of Labor.

FARM AID BILL HEARINGS SET

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—The first step has been made toward setting the house agriculture committee to work upon a farm relief bill to carry out the promises of the Republicans during the last campaign.

With the house ways and means committee already far along in its work upon the other farm relief proposal, tariff revision, a provision was incorporated in the second deficiency bill reported to the house yesterday to permit the agriculture committee to conduct hearings between the end of the short session and the opening of the projected special session in April.

Chairman Haugen, of the committee, indicated that the thrice vetoed McNary-Haugen bill, carrying the equalization fee proposal, had been definitely discaded and that the committee would listen with an open ear to any suggestions that President-elect Hoover might send to it.

10 TO BE ACCUSED IN RUM SALES TO PEABODY PUPILS

County detectives, under direction of District Attorney Samuel H. Gardner, were preparing today to lay before Alderman George J. Anderson evidence on which they will ask him to hold for court trial 10 alleged keepers of resorts at which Peabody High School students are said to have obtained liquor.

The 10 places, all in East Liberty near the high school, were raided Wednesday and Thursday, after District Attorney Gardner had received complaints from Peabody pupils' parents that their children were getting intoxicated.

The last place visited by the detectives was a tearoom at 128 Shetland avenue, said to be a rendezvous for petting parties. The officers seized a large quantity of liquor, wines and cordials there and arrested a woman, Mary Bellam, as the proprietor.

While Gardner goes ahead with plans for prosecution, an independent investigation is being made by the school authorities. Dr. W. M. Davidson, superintendent of public education, ordered an inquiry, saying the matter could not be thought of in any other light than as "very, very serious."

"Second Section" Plane Service Inaugurated

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Pan-American Airways announces inauguration of what is believed to be the first regular aerial "second section," similar to the second sections of fast railroad trains.

Having carried nearly 800 passengers between Miami and cities in five countries on the "Lindbergh Circle" during the first 30 days' operation of the international routes, and being booked to capacity seven days ahead, the company decided to add another plane on the Miami-Havana run at once.

Hoey Spoils Jury's Acquittal for Negro

"Nelse" Wesley, 23, Negro, alleged member of the Hill district "Blue Bird" gang, acquitted of a charge of stealing an automobile, was about to walk out of the courtroom when Police Inspector James N. Hoey identified him as an escaped member of a gang of purse snatchers who operated here several years ago. Wesley was jailed. Hoey said the Negro was indicted for robbery under the name of Leroy Wesley.

Costes Primes Plane To Overtake Lebrix

VILLACOUBLAY, France, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Dieudonne Costes, who escaped death by the narrowest of margins in a crash on Tuesday, is so intent on reaching Indo-China ahead of his former friend and partner, Joseph Lebrix, now en route there, that he is already testing a new motor and may take off tonight.

ARREST SQUIRE IN GIRL'S CASE

Justice of the Pease Arthur G. Reed, of Greentree, was arrested today, charged with malfeasance in office. He is alleged to have retained money intended for maintenance of a mother and her child.

Reed was taken into custody at his home by County Detectives John W. Geisler and O. W. Alexander. He gave $1,000 bond before Alderman George J. Anderson for a hearing. No date has been set.

Extortion, conspiracy and fraudulent conversion are the detailed charges set forth in the information against Reed. Similar charges have been made against his constable, M. G. Riser, county detectives said. He was expected to give himself up later.

The informations were made yesterday after Geraldine Shuey, 28, of Greensburg, had complained to county detectives.

Miss Shuey alleged that Reed had settled for $420 an action brought by her against George Snyder, of Canonsburg, who, she alleged, was the father of her child. Snyder waived a hearing, but Squire Reed would not hold the man for court and insisted on questioning her, the woman alleges.

She refused to answer questions by Riser, but changed her mind when the justice threatened to keep her baby from her. Miss Shuey told Chief G. W. Murren. Under the same threat, she signed an agreement by which Snyder was to pay $420 for settlement and a small sum weekly for the baby's maintenance, she alleges. Snyder paid $300 in cash and gave a note for $120, but nothing was ever paid to her, the woman charges.

In the grand jury vice and graft probe Squire Reed was indicted as an agent in operation of a lottery after thousands of lottery tickets and printing plates were alleged to have been found in his printshop in Greentree. He is awaiting trial on this charge.

EX-POLICEMAN IS WASHINGTON COLLECTOR

Otto J. Bierly, a retired city policeman, of 7717 Kelly street, is, beyond a shadow of doubt, Pittsburgh's most ardent admirer of George Washington.

For nearly a half-century, Bierly has made it his hobby to collect pictures, books and curios on Washington.

250 PICTURES

Bierly's prize possession is a collection of over 250 pictures of Washington. No two of them are alike and most of them are old prints. A number of them are more than 100 years old. All are framed and are hung on the four walls of one of the rooms in his private museum.

Equally as interesting and priceless is Bierly's collection of books on the life of the great American Revolutionary General. His library contains more than 100 volumes on Washington. The most valuable volume is John Marshall's biography on Washington, which was published in 1804.

ALL EMPTY

He also has one of the rarest collections of whisky bottles bearing the name and likeness of George Washington. Some 40 of these bottles are over 100 years old.

Bierly has been an antique collector practically all his life. He began as a boy when he collected stamps and coins. Bierly was retired from the police force in 1927. For the greater part of his 20 years' service he was on duty at the Frankstown avenue station.

OLD PAPER TELLS OF RITES

A copy of the Ulster County Gazette of January 4, 1800, carrying a story of the memorial rites for George Washington on its first page, is the property of A. B. Longacre, of 4711 Center avenue.

The paper was printed in Kingston, in Eastern Pennsylvania, and is now yellow with age. Virtually the entire first page is devoted to the Washington rites, with an apology for the lack of foreign news.

Inside are items by John Adams, news from the First American Congress, and dispatches on the French and British War. There are also advertisements for the sale of slaves.

The Washington Infantry annual banquet will be held tonight in the jade room of the Law and Finance Building. Assemblyman M. A. Musmanno, Col. Jarvis Bain and Miss Lillian Dawson will speak.

REBELS ROUTED BY CHINESE

CHEFOO, China, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Fighting between former Northern soldiers under command of Marshal Chang Tsung-Chang and loyal Nationalist troops in Shantung reached a climax today in a clash between 7,000 Nationalists and a force of revolters estimated to number 26,000.

The battle took place about 10 miles west of Chefoo and is stated to have resulted in a Nationalist victory. The revolters lost 200 dead and the Nationalists 100. Three hundred prisoners were captured, as well as thousands of rifles and 15 machine guns.

Today's fighting was described as the most severe of the past 48 hours. The Nationalists cut into the ranks of the revolters and hand-to-hand combats were numerous, the Nationalists driving the revolters before them with swords.

TOWN HONORS W. J. M'ELROY

EBENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 22.—Unusual tribute was paid to the memory of William J. McElroy, 77, former Pittsburgh newspaperman and former manager of the Ebensburg office of the Postal Telegraph Company, when business in the town suspended for an hour during Mr. McElroy's funeral services yesterday. The veteran telegrapher was found dead in bed in his room here Wednesday, death being due to heart trouble.

Mr. McElroy was the Associated Press correspondent in Pittsburgh during the exciting days of the railroad riots of 1877 and in later years as a telegrapher handled special wires on the old Pittsburgh Post. He came here from Pittsburgh 12 years ago.

The funeral was conducted with Masonic honors. Mrs. J. H. Juers, of New York, a daughter, attended the services, other children being in California.

WASHINGTON PUT O. K. ON 1ST U. S. BALLOON FLIGHT

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—George Washington, while he was the nation's first President, issued an order to permit the first balloon flight to be made in the United States.

This was disclosed today by Henry Woodhouse, president of the Aerial League of America, who said he found the authorization among Washington's documents.

The authorization was granted by Washington, Woodhouse said, to J. P. Blanchard, a French aeronaut, who made at Philadelphia—then the national capital—the first balloon ascension in America on January 9, 1793. President Washington was present at the ascension.

In his authorization, according to Woodhouse, Washington asked the American citizens to honor Blanchard for his "efforts to establish and advance an art in order to make it useful to mankind in general."

Objects to Trotzky Entering Germany

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Objection to the proposed admission to Germany of Leon Trotzky, exiled Soviet leader, was voiced today by Count Friedrich von Westarp, the well-known leader of the Nationalist element in the Reichstag. He wrote to Chancellor Mueller that the presence of Trotzky would endanger German peace and security. Tageblatt says that the cabinet is divided on whether to admit Trotzky.

Dam Disaster Laid To Geologic Fault

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Blame for the St. Francis Dam disaster in California, last March, and other major dam breaks was laid to geologic conditions rather than faulty engineering design, in a symposium tody at the convention of American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers. Engineers were told by authorities on geological formation they should co-operate more closely with geologists before they start building dams.

SUBSTANCES ANALYZED IN 'PINHEAD' AMOUNTS

A chemical substance as small as a thirty-millionth of an ounce, or as small as the head of a pin can now be subjected to analysis by the microanalytic process, recently brought to Pittsburgh from Europe by Dr. R. T. K. Cornwell, of the department of organic chemistry, University of Pittsburgh.

The university, according to Dr. Cornwell, was the first to teach microanalysis in this country. He lectured on the subject at a meeting of the Pittsburgh Section of the American Chemical Society at the United States Bureau of Mines last night.

The value of microanalysis was demonstrated recently by the commercial production of hormone or gland-extract drugs at values of more than $100,000 an ounce. Whereas with the old method of analysis two-tenths of a gram of the drug, costing more than $1,000, was needed for analysis, the new method made it possible to analyze a minute quantity costing only $10.

"Microanalysis is slowly being adopted in this country," Dr. Cornwell explained. "Because of the economy of time, space and materials, the method is being extensively used in Europe. It has been estimated in this country that in industries where the analythical control laboratory costs from $50,000 to $100,000 a year, microanalysis makes it possible to effect a saving of from 50 to 60 per cent."

Dr. Cornwell studied microanalysis under Prof. Fritz Pregl, of Graz, Austria. The latter won the Nobel prize for this work. "In Europe one may now submit samples of pin-head size to professional micro-experts for remarkably accurate analysis," Dr. Cornwell declared. He expressed the belief that the day is not far off when present large-scale methods of chemical analysis will be scrapped in favor of the micro-method.

Frats at Nebraska Abolish 'Hell Week'

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—"Hell Week," a seven-day period which heretofore has been devoted to fraternity initiations at the University of Nebraska, has been abolished by united action of the fraternities.

There has been much criticism of "Hell Week" recently because of time wasted and frequent disturbances blamed on it. Discovery that an underclassman has suffered temporary loss of memory as a result of his initiation into a fraternity led to last night's decision to abolish the week.

Mother of Blymyer, 'Hex' Slayer, Stricken

YORK, Pa., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Mrs. Emanuel Blymyer, mother of John H. Blymyer, witchcraft slayer of Nelson D Rehmeyer, was stricken with paralysis today while visiting her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Olewiler, this city. She was taken to her home near Hallam, where her condition is reported to be serious. Worry about the conviction of her son of first degree murder is partly responsible for the stroke, her physician says.

(Copyright, 1929, by Los Angeles Examiner.)

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—Added light on the murder last Saturday night of E. L. Doheny, Jr., and the suicide of his slayer and confidential secretary, Theodore H. Plunkett, was thrown yesterday.

For some six months, "Ted" Plunkett possibly had been a more or less habitual user of veronal and other similar drugs, an independent investigation by the Examiner disclosed.

Almost to the very last day's climax of sudden unreasoning murder and suicide, Plunkett had been using these supposedly mild sedatives, it was learned, to relieve the nervous tension under which he was laboring and to bring him relief from the insomnia produced by that nervous condition.

DOCTOR GIVES INFORMATION

The disclosure that "Ted" Plunkett had supposedly become addicted to the use of veronal and the other barbituric acid derivatives came from Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, personal physician for the younger Doheny and his family and for the past year and a half the physician for Plunkett as well.

Dr. Fishbaugh revealed that several weeks ago, after Plunkett's nerves began to give way entirely, the latter revealed to him that he was using veronal and other similar compounds to produce sleep and ease his nerves.

These drugs, Dr. Fishbaugh said, had been purchased by his patient over the counter at drug stores. At the time he began to take them, there was absolutely no legal restraint against their sale by druggists.

UNKNOWN TO MOTHER

However, about two months ago, an ordinance was passed by the city council prohibiting the dispensing of veronal except under prescription. The other barbituric acid derivatives remain on the druggists' free list. They can still be purchased without a written order from a physician.

Mrs. Charles A. Plunkett, 3900 Dalton avenue, knew nothing of her son's habits, she said.

"We did not see much of Ted. Most of his time was spent working or with friends. He did not live here and we only saw him occasionally. I have never known him to be addicted to the use of stimulants or sedatives of any kind," she said.

Dr. Fishbaugh's knowledge of Plunkett's use of the drug came from Plunkett himself. Since a prescription was not required, the frequency with which Plunkett took these drugs or the amounts in which he took them are unknown to the physician.

DRUGS TIP SCALES

But Plunkett's own statement to Dr. Fishbaugh made it appear that he had used the drugs habitually during the last six months as his only means of fighting off insomnia and quieting his tensed nerves.

Just how large a part this addiction to the supposedly mild drugs played in the ghastly tragedy wrought by the youthful secretary must, of course, remain unknown.

But physicians, state narcotic agents and police surgeons constantly dealing with cases involving the use of veronal indicated that the drugs might have tipped the scales—tipped them ever so slightly but decisively, nevertheless.

Police Surgeon Ivo J. Lopizich pointed out that veronal, used properly and infrequently, would bring no negative aftermaths in its wake. But its frequent, more or less constant use, he declared, was unquestionably habit-forming and injurious.

BILL WOULD BAN SALE

Not only is it habit-forming, he declared, if taken frequently, but it is used largely by drug addicts when they find themselves unable to obtain heroin, cocaine and morphine.

In view of these facts, Senator Rochester has introduced a bill in the state Senate which would prohibit the sale of veronal except under a physician's prescription. The proposed law would set up the same restrictions in regard to the purchase of veronal as those already existing in regard to such drugs as cocaine, morphine and heroin.

The bill was introduced last January by Senator Rochester.

Police records also disclosed that since January 1 of the present year, 51 attempted cases of suicide have been reported. The majority of those who sought death, the records showed, used veronal in the attempt.

Dr. Lopizich also disclosed that a great many shop girls have become addicted to the use of veronal and that the same drug figures in feminine suicides in a majority of cases.

USERS BECOME VICIOUS

Capt. Charles Senger, head of the police narcotic squad, whose experience with veronal users has been widespread, went even further.

"A drug addict is usually a tame customer when compared to an habitual user of veronal," he said flatly. "Personally, I would far rather handle a drug addict than a veronal user.

"The latter, as the addiction grows, become vicious and savage. They lose all co-ordination between mind and muscle and they become extremely difficult to handle."

He, too, asserted that drug addicts take to veronal when real narcotics are not available.

KOEHL LAYS SEA FLIGHT PLANS

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Friends of Capt. Herman Koehl said last night that the Bremen pilot probably would start his nonstop Berlin-to-New York flight from a small lake near Berlin.

They declared preparations for the flight still were in an early stage and it still was doubtful whether it could start in June. Col. Fitzmaurice, co-pilot with Capt. Koehl on the Bremen flight probably will be a partner in the new venture.

Koehl believes that by refueling in the air at specified points along the route a flight from Berlin to New York can be made easily and safely.

Capt. Koehl favors Lisbon, the Azores and Bermuda as refueling points.

MUST QUIT U. S. TO BE CITIZEN

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—A Belgian war orphan who entered the United States as a stowaway at the end of the World War will be aided in becoming an American citizen by the American girl he married, but he must leave the country before he can obtain his citizenship papers.

The Belgian, Albert Vaughn, married Miss Anne Burch Brian, of Nashville, two years ago. Under a provision of an act of the Seventieth Congress, she is entitled to obtain citizenship for him, but first must ask permission to bring him to America. Then Vaughn must leave and return after the permission has been granted.

Noted Pathologist Suicide by Poison

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Dr. Carl O. E. Werner, noted pathologist, was dead here today, a suicide, police reported. Friends revealed that he recently expressed the opinion that he was becoming insane. An investigation disclosed he ended his life by taking poison. Dr. Werner was born in Germany in 1877.

Two Killed in Blast Of Peanut Roaster

MOBILE, Ala., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Edward E. Chedville and Miss Ione Garrett, both 19, burned seriously by exploding gasoline in a peanut roaster yesterday, died last night. The accident occurred in a grocery here where both were employd.

DRUG PROBLEM, IMMIGRATION LINKED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Expressing the sentiment of law enforcement officials generally over the country, Robert T. Bushnell, of Cambridge, district attorney for the Northern District of Massachusetts, yesterday indorsed the LaGuardia-Wheeler resolution for a congressional investigation of the narcotics traffic.

The inquiry is to determine what legislation is necessary to combat the growing menace.

An effort will be made in the Senate today to have the resolution adopted immediately. Already it has been approved by unanimous vote of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

URGES DEPORTATION

Based on his experiences in prosecuting violations of the anti-narcotic laws, Bushnell proposed a number of recommendations for consideration by the investigating committee.

"I feel that the narcotics problem is closely linked up with the immigration and deportation laws," he declared.

"My first recommendation would be mandatory deportation of any alien guilty of a narcotics offense. I would abolish the five-year time limit for deportations and have no limit at all. I feel that there is a lack of system and co-ordination between the Federal courts and the immigration department in forwarding notices of convictions to this department.

FINGERPRINTING ALIENS

"Secondly, I would recommend an amendment to the immigration law, providing for the fingerprinting of every alien coming to this country and the filing of those fingerprints with the Department of Labor. The present system, as I understand it, is simply to have the captain of the liner bringing in immigrants file a manifest which gives the names of the immigrants, together with certain information.

"When the alien is later caught violating the narcotics act, he can conveniently forget the name of the ship he came in on, say 15 years previous, and camouflage his real identity. The fingerprinting would make it impossible for the practice of such deception and would also prevent the re-entry into the country by lega. means of the same man under another name.

FOR DRASTIC ACTION

"I feel that drastic deportations along these lines would go far toward curbing this traffic.

"I am heartily in favor of the resolution, and think it may be productive of much good. My only question would be as to whether less than one year is not too short a time to give to it. I think many of our inquiries of this nature are too limited in their scope."

Under the resolution, the committee must report its recommendations to Congress next December.

W. C. T. U. Leader Commends War On Drugs

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 22.—Commendation of the war against the illegal use of narcotics being carried on by the Hearst newspapers, was voiced yesterday by Mrs. Clara C. Clayton, of Lincoln, president of the Nebraska W. C. T. U., before the W. C. T. U. convention here.

"We plan to devote our efforts to securing observance of the anti-dope laws," she said. "The last week in February will be 'Narcotic Week,' when we plan to bring before the people of Nebraska the evils of the traffic in narcotics. We hope to impress upon the youth of the state the terrible effects of habit-forming drugs."

"The best looking suit you've had on in years!"

You'll hear something like that many times a week in any Richman store.

Many wives come to Richman's to help their husbands choose new clothes — and we like to have them come. For a woman's judgment of style, materials and needlework is better than that of most men.

She doesn't judge Richman's Clothes by the price, but by what she sees — smart style and faultless fit, rich fabrics of long wearing pure wool yarns, tailoring without a flaw.

PROJECT FOR WIDENING FIFTH AVENUE INDORSED

The Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce has adopted a report from its City and Suburban Transit Committee, Frank L. Duggan, chairman, indorsing the proposed widening of Fifth avenue to a six-lane street by setting back the street line from Robinson street in Oakland eastward to Point Breeze, where Fifth avenue joins Penn avenue.

The report was presented by the transit committee after conferences with representatives of the City Department of Public Works, the City Planning Commission, the Better Traffic Committee and the Pittsburgh Railways Company.

The committee found that the City Planning Commission is giving preferred consideration to this project and that in the general opinion of the agencies consulted the widening can be effected at the present time with a minimum disturbance to existing buildings.

On the other hand, there are improvements immediately contemplated which would render the widening at a later date extremely costly. Accordingly, the resolution adopted by the chamber recommends to City Council that steps be taken to obtain releases from the property holders affected by the proposed widening.

The Chamber of Commerce has also adopted a report from the committee in regard to the proposed street-car subway plan developed by Franklin Mall for the relief of downtown traffic congestion. This plan was referred to the committee for study by the president of the chamber. The plan embraces five projects any of which may be considered independently of the others.

WASHINGTON FAVORED TEMPERANCE, NOT PROHIBITION

WINES REGULAR PART OF HIS MEALS

In connection with the temperance prize contest many will recall today that like Lincoln, Gen. George Washington, first president and "Father of His Country," was no prohibitionist, but that unlike Lincoln, Washington drank excellent wines and fermented malt beverages such as beers and ales, though always in moderation, according to his historians.

In his account of Washington as a country gentleman (Bobbs-Merrill) Paul Leland Haworth asserts that in the matter of eating and drinking the great man was abstemious. It is of great interest to note from the testimony of guests who enjoyed the hospitality of Mt. Vernon what meals were like at the mansion on the Potomac which so many hundreds of thousands of Americans and foreigners have visited.

Ordinarily for breakfast he had tea, English fashion, Indian cakes with butter and perhaps honey, of which he was very fond.

His evening meal, or supper, was equally light, consisting of perhaps tea and toast, with wine, and he usually retired promptly at 9 o'clock.

Dinner was the main repast of the day at Mt. Vernon, and was served punctually at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. One such meal as Haworth notes, is thus described by a guest:

"He thanked us, desired us to be seated, and to excuse him a few moments . . . The President came and desired us to walk in to dinner and directed us where to sit. No grace was said . . . The dinner was very good, a small roasted pig, boiled leg of lamb, roasted fowls, beef, peas, lettuce cucumbers, artichokes, etc., puddings, tarts, etc., etc.

"We were desired to call for what drink we chose. He took a glass of wine with Mrs. Law first, which example was followed by Dr. Croker Crakes and Mrs. Washington, myself and Mrs. Peters, Mr. Fayette and the young lady whose name is Custis.

"When the cloth was taken away the President gave the toast, 'All Our Friends.'"

Often Drank Beer

It is related that Gen. Washington ordinarily confined himself to a few courses and if offered anything very rich, would reply, "That is too good for." He often drank beer with the meal, with one or two glasses of wine and perhaps as many more afterwrad, often eating nuts, another delicacy with him, as he sipped the wine.

It will be seen, therefore, that Washington was no prohibitionist, though he was a strong believer in temperance. He and the public men of his time, being aristocrats, were wine drinkers, and few of them were drunkards.

Haworth notes:

"Many of the Virginia gentlemen of Washington's day spent a fourth or even a third of their income upon their cellars. He was no exception to the rule, and from his papers we discover many purchases of wine.

"One of the last bills of lading I have noticed among his papers is a bill for 'two pipes of fine old London Particular Madeira wine, shipped to him from the island of Madiera, September 20, 1759. One wonders whether he got to toast 'All our friends' out of it before he died."

The Washington sideboard and table were well equipped with glasses and silver wine coolers of the most expensive construction, it is narrated, and as in many other matters, the General's inventive bent turned in this direction.

Having noticed the confusion that often arose from the passing of the bottles about the table, he designed when President, a sort of silver caster for four bottles. They were used with great success on state occasions and were so convenient that other people adopted the invention, so that wine 'coasters,' after the Washington design, became a part of the furniture of every fashionable sideboard. The same idea was utilized for oil and vinegar cruets.

Laid in Ice for Wine

To cool wine, meat and other articles of food, Gen. Washington early adopted the practice of storing or "putting up" ice in winter. In January, 1785, he prepared a dry well under the summer house and also one in his new cellar and in due time had both filled.

On June 5 of that year he "opened the well in my cellar in which I had laid up a store of ice, but there was not the smallest particle remaining. I then opened the other repository (called the dry well) in which I found a large store." Later he erected an ice house to the eastward of the flower garden.

His experience with the well in his cellar was hardly less successful than that of his friend, James Harrison, on a like occasion. Madison had an ice house filled with ice, and a skeptical overseer wagered a turkey against a mint julep that by the Fourth of July the ice would all have disappeared.

The day came, they opened the ice house, and behold there was enough ice for exactly one julep! The commentator notes that "this was truly a sad situation when there were two Virginia gentlemen.

Most people, this author comments, think of the great Mr. Washington as a marble statue on a pedestal rather than as being of flesh and blood with human feelings, faults and virtues. He was self-contained, he was not voluble and he had a sense of personal dignity, but underneath he was not cold.

He was really hot-tempered and on a few well-authenticated occasions fell into passions "in which he used language that would have blistered the steel sides of a dreadnaught."

Further interviews by the Hearst newspaper with persons of note on the $25,000 temperance prize contest are subjoined:

Dr. Victor G. Vecki

Dr. Victor G. Vecki, noted physician and author of "Alcohol and Prohibition," San Francisco, Cal.:

"The Hearst prize is a timely godsend. It will stimulate the search for facts concerning alcohol and prohibition. An ounce of facts is worth more than a ton of theories. And every competent doctor will concede that the present prohibition law was based upon fallacious prejudices, idle theories, and not upon balanced scientific facts.

"Our aim must be temperance. But that simply means moderation, as the Greeks conceived temperance as the golden rule of moderation. The dry fanatics forget that alcohol has its scientific uses. No physician of any experience can deny the value of alcohol in cases of depressive psychoses and psychasthenics. Or, when fatigue, excitement, anger and anxiety may impair the appetite in spite of the need for food, a drink of alcohol in a pleasant form will counteract many baneful influences by creating psychic relaxation.

"On the other hand, excessive drunkenness is certainly baneful. The conditions of the liquor trade before prohibition were decidedly deplorable. So a remedy was sought for it. And thus it came in the form of the incredible, impossible Volstead act! The trouble with the present prohibition is that it is intemperate itself! To make men temperate, do not enact laws that are intemperate!

"If the American people, doctors and laymen alike, think out calmly they will find the golden mean. The Hearst prize offer is calculated to stir the nation to such thought."

Fred A. Britten

Fred A. Britten, representative in Congress from Illinois:

"All conditions that relate to the present sad state of affairs resulting from prohibition should be re-examined. Most of the crimes in our modern big cities are the direct result of prohibition. The beer runner, the bootlegger and the racketeer are products of Volsteadism.

"Any endeavor by newspapers to find a practical solution for present haphazard conditions should be encouraged. The Herast papers are doing an excellent work in seeking to educate the people as to the true basis of temperance.

"The last election has been misinterpreted by the prohibitionists. Many issues entered into the result. Unfortunately the hold of the prohibition extremists is strong. We must lessen that hold to achieve real temperance.

Mrs. John W. Kern

Mrs. John W. Kern, of Indianapolis, widow of the late United States Senator from Indiana:

"I think Mr. Hearst is doing a fine type of missionary work. Surely through his generous offer some method of arriving at a sane solution of the prohibition problem will be achieved.

"My opinion is that we are pouring millions of dollars into rat holes in our present feeble enforcement methods. There must be some solution through modification of the present law, or some other plan through which we can be redeemed from our national disgrace.

"The women of this country no longer fear the bugaboo of a saloon on every corner which has been threatened in previous movements to solve the prohibition question. I believe they will be content to try a sober, sane method of solution if it can be found through Mr. Hearst's contest."

7 Rules for $25,000 Temperance Contest

The purpose of the contest is to obtain a practicable plan, as a substitute for prohibition, which will secure better actual temperance conditions, which will be more easily possible of enforcement by state and Federal authorities, which will offer less encouragement to crime and tend less to debauch the public service, and which will not so outrage and violate the fundamental rights and personal liberties of American citizens.

The rules and conditions of the contest are simple and are as follows:

1—Every person is entitled to enter the contest, but no one person may submit more than one plan.

2—The practicable plan proposed as a substitute for prohibition must be set forth in an article containing not more than 1,000 words.

3—This contest will close on April 30, 1929, and no plan which has not been mailed and postmarked on or before that date will be considered.

4—The articles submitted in the contest will be judged by a committee of eminent Americans, the personnel of the committee to be announced at a later date.

5—The full prize of $25,000 will be awarded to the contestant submitting the best plan as a practical temperance substitute for prohibition.

6—If other plans not awarded the first prize shall still be considered worthy of some compensation by the committee, a second prize of $5,000 and other prizes of $1,000 each may be awarded.

7—Articles submitting a plan to be considered in this contest may be sent to the temperance contest committee, care of the editor of any one of the following Hearst newspapers: Albany Times-Union, Atlanta Georgian, Baltimore News, Boston Evening American, Chicago Herald and Examiner, Detroit Times, Los Angeles Examiner, New York American, Omaha Bee-News, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Rochester Journal, San Antonio Light, San Francisco Examiner, Syracuse Journal, Seattle Post-Intelligencer, Washington Herald, Wisconsin News (Milwaukee).

Hindus and Moslems Renew Religious War

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—A dispatch to the daily mail from Bombay says that religious rioting between Hindus and Moslems has broken out in Bangalore, the chief city of Mysore, Southern India.

The outlook is described as serious with reports of police having been stoned while attempting to rescue a Hindu from a mob. The dispatch says that the trouble originated in charges that the Moslems have been stealing Hindu children for sacrificial purposes.

Coin Stops Bullet, Saves Officer's Life

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Patrolman Allan Pratt, of Hammond, today owed his life to a 50-cent piece.

Pratt yesterday engaged in a running gun-battle with three bandits and during the exchange of shots a bullet struck the coin in Pratt's vest pocket. The coin deflected the bullet, which otherwise would have penetrated his body. Pratt said, "It was like some one landing a solid punch."

Fumes in Garage Kill White House Guard

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Lieut. James McQuade, former sergeant of the guard at the White House and lately night inspector of the Metropolitan Police here, was found dead of monoxide gas in the garage of his home last night.

The doors of the garage were closed, and the motor of his car was running when his body was discovered by his son, James McQuade, Jr. a screw driver clenched in his hand indicated he had been attempting to repair the car.

Woman Hit by Train Dies of Her Injuries

Mrs. Myrtle G. Yates, 35, of Irwin, died last night in the Allegheny Valley Hospital, Tarentum, of injuries suffered February 2 when she was struck by a passenger train while crossing the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near Saltsburg, according to the coroner's report.

Boy Determined To Come Here Balks Police

HARRISBURG, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—The grandparents of Norman Myers, Jr., 14, of Shooter's Island, N. Y., may expect him to visit them any day. The boy has been doing his best to reach their Pittsburgh home but thus far his efforts have been nullified by the watchfulness of local authorities.

Norman was picked up here Tuesday by railroad police who took him from a Pittsburgh-bound train because he did not have train fare. He was held in the detention home here and his parents sent him money to return home.

A ticket was bought for him and he was put on a train yesterday for Shooter's Island. He traveled as far as Lancaster, where he left the train and started to hike for Pittsburgh. A motorist brought him to this city and took him to police headquarters. He spent the night at the detention home while authorities were planning some sure way to send him home.

Two Parked Autos Looted of Luggage

Police today are searching for thieves who looted two parked automobiles last night. A sample case valued at $50 was stolen from the auto of L. Bagran, of 403 Fifth avenue, in Watson street. From the auto of Paul Hessler, of Youngstown, O., parked in William Penn way, luggage valued at $125 was taken.

Auto Theft Suspects To Be Returned Here

NEWARK, N. J., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Federal Judge Runyon has signed an order for the removal of Robert and Irene Everitt, of Nutley, to Pittsburgh, Pa., to answer an indictment charging them with transporting stolen automobiles in interstate commerce. They were arrested in March, 1927.

Greene Co. Gets Tax Share

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 22. — County Treasurer Frank R. Hill, of Greene County, has received a check for $7,876.29 from the State Treasury Department as the county's share in the state gasoline tax.

S. C. Senator Blocks Probe of N. Y. Judge

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—The resolution for a special inquiry into the action of Federal Judge Francis A. Winslow, of New York City, rests on he Senate calendar whence it can be called up only by a majority vote of that body.

Senator Blease, Democrat, of South Carolina, blocked favorably reporting the resolution to the Senate yesterday when it was approved by the judiciary committee. Blease said he had "inside information that the request for an inquiry was a personal attack on the judge by a man who thinks the judge is too polite to an attorney whom this man hates."

Jewels Worth $1,500 Stolen from House

Thieves who entered through a second-story window while the family was absent stole jewelry valued at $1,500 from the home of L. Leslie, of 2125 Noblestown road, last night, according to a report to police. Three watches, three rings and three stickpins were taken.

3 CONVICTED IN RUM PLOT ON HILL, 3 PLEAD GUILTY

Domonic Scanga, Dan Aiello and Ralph Scanga were convicted late Thursday afternoon in Federal court of conspiring to violate the national probition law.

Three others in the case, William Davis, J. Ray Austin and William A. Dunn, entered pleas of guilty, and Irwin Americus, alias "Itts" Americus pleaded no defense.

Assistant United States Attorney Raymond D. Evans, who prosecuted them before Judge F. P. Schoonmaker, asked for a directed verdict of acquittal for three other defendants, John Scanga, Oscar Whitfield and David Sirota.

The government charged the convicted men with operating a rum ring in the Hill district and with various ramifications of illegal liquor traffic. They will be sentenced later. The government dropped the suit against Frank Miller, another defendant in the indictment, which was returned by the grand jury last November.

KONJOLA

The Konjola Man would be pleased to meet the users of the famous new compound, Konjola, anyone who has obtained beneficial results may call at the Dow Drug Store, Penn Avenue and Sixth Street. A worthwhile message awaits you.

ASTOUNDING! THAT'S WHAT I SAY OF KONJOLA"

Seventy-Six-Year-Old Pittsburgh Man Finds Glorious Relief from Rheumatism in Advanced Medicine.

Day by day, Konjola, the new medicine, is adding to its fame and friends throughout Pittsburgh and vicinity. The amazing success of this medicine does not rest on promises nor claims, but on a bed-rock foundation of accomplishments and results.

MR. WILL EISENBEIS

Konjola contains no alcohol, nerve-deadening drugs, nor heart-depressing chemicals—it needs no such ingredients for Konjola is a medicine that Nature herself might have compounded. Konjola works at the very fount of the disease and its 32 health-giving, pain-banishing, disease-eliminating elements soon bring that warm glow of returning health surging through the system. It is results that every sufferer wants—not promises, and in Konjola you will find the end of that long and fruitless search for benefits. What a world of hope and cheer there is for all who are ill and who would be well again, in the countless voluntary indorsements from men and women that are received by the Konjola Man, who is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch), Penn avenue and Sixth street, this city. Take, as an example, the fine experience of Mr. Will Eisenbeis, 716 Fulton Street, North Side, Pittsburgh, and with Konjola. A few days ago he called on the Konjola Man and made this astounding statement:

"Astounding, that is what I say of this new Konjola. Although I am seventy-six years old, I look forward to many more years of life; life with glorious health. And to Konjola I owe it all. I suffered dreadfully from neuritis and rheumatism, from which I could get no relief. The sharp, agonizing pains in my back destroyed all pleasure in life. All my life I had enjoyed health, that is, up to the time I was afflicted with these accursed diseases. You can imagine my chagrin when, in my declining years, I was forced to lie awake at night, suffer by day, nursing those ailments—enduring miseries indescribable. Indeed, it was a most discouraging situation.

"I sought health, sought it frantically, and when I heard of Konjola and its wonderful works, I grabbed at this chance for betterment, just like a drowning man clutches at a straw. But Konjola was more than a straw, it gave me a firm foothold on the glorious road to health. I had hardly taken a few doses when I sensed an amazing change throughout my system Then gradually, the aches and pains grew less intense, my muscles and joints became limber and supple. Life took on a brighter aspect. I realize now that Konjola was the medicine I always needed. Firmly do I believe that with a few more weeks treatment I will be permanently relieved of my troubles. Already I feel like a different person, many years younger. Yes, Konjola is a blessing to suffering humanity."

Day by day more and more happy, grateful indorsements are being added to the files, already overflowing, of this master medicine, Konjola. All that Konjola asks is the chance to make you well. Results are not long in coming when Konjola is put to use.

The Konjola Man is at the Dow Drug Company (formerly McCulloch's), Penn avenue and Sixth street, Pittsburgh, where he is meeting the public daily, introducing and explaining the merits of this master medicine.

NINE MURDER INDICTMENTS RETURNED BY GRAND JURY

Nine true bills charging murder were returned by the grand jury yesterday.

Jesse Patton, alias James Patton, was charged with the death of Nora Green, 30, of 185 Torrance street. The woman was shot October 23, at her home.

Dominick Paolini was charged with causing the death of Mrs. Jennie Schott, 50, of 357 Omega street, by blows on the head at her home November 15, death being due to a fractured skull and pneumonia.

Clarence Thomas was charged with the death of Joseph Stevens, Negro, 28, of 132 Trent street. Stevens died from gunshot wounds received at 607 Morgan street, October 21.

WOMAN KILLED

Lucius B. Woodward was charged with the fatal shooting of Mary Woodward, 28, Negro, at 827 Kirkpatrick street, November 28.

Walter C. Butler was charged with the death of Russell Brooks, 25, Negro, Broadway, Carnegie. Brooks died from gunshot wounds received in front of 4 Broadway, Carnegie, October 29.

George Davis was accused of the death of Mose Kelly, 45, Negro, 208 Elm street, December 22. Kelly suffered a fractured skull caused by being hit over the head with a crutch.

Charles Feruch was charged with causing the death of Eliel Ragy, 35, of 1307 Louise street, Munhall. Ragy was shot in the chest in the rear of 242½ Second avenue, Homestead, December 25.

FIGHT IN GALLATIN

Americo Filippelli was charged with the death of Louis A. Davis, 25, Gallatin, October 28. Davis died following blows received on the head during a fight at East Monongahela, Forward Township.

Frank Magliazzo was accused of the death of Santo Ferraindo, 21, Oak Way, Homestead. Ferraindo was shot in the abdomen September 9.

The grand jury ignored a bill charging murder against William A. Brown, who was accused of causing the death of Rankin Frank Walls, 66, of 427 Woodward avenue, McKees Rocks.

Man Shot and Beaten Frustrating Robbery

SALEM, W. Va., Feb. 22.—Physicians today said Austin Meyers, 22, State University graduate of East Salem, probably would recover from pistol shot and other wounds received from two Negro burglars as they were breaking into the home of Mrs. Mathias Williams, on East Main street.

Meyers saw the Negroes trying to break in as he was passing the house and when he sought to frustrate them he was shot and felled with a blackjack.

Brothers Sentenced To Terms in Prison

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Feb. 22.—Joseph and Edward Huff, Stillwater, brothers, were sentenced to the penitentiary by Judge E. E. Lindsey from one to seven years on charges of robbing C. R. Young, Dennison, last December.

Magnesia Best for Your Indigestion

Warns Against Doping Stomach With Artificial Digestants.

Most people who suffer, either occasionally or chronically from gas, sourness and indigestion, have now discontinued disagreeable diets, patent foods and the use of harmful drugs, stomach tonics, medicines and artificial digestants, and instead, follow the advice so often given in these columns, take a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia in a little water after meals with the result that their stomach no longer troubles them, they are able to eat as they please and they enjoy much better health. Those who use Bisurated Magnesia never dread the approach of mealtime because they know this wonderful anti-acid and food corrective, which can be obtained from any good drug store, will instantly neutralize the stomach acidity, sweeten the stomach, prevent food fermentation, and make digestion easy. Try this plan yourself, but be certain to get Bisurated Magnesia especially prepared for stomach use.

OUR DAILY SHORT STORY

PETE'S CHANCE

By EFFIE DELNORD

PETE clicked the receiver in place with his left hand and with his right wiped a film of dampness from his forehead. Not that it was at all warm in the room, but Pete's thoughts galloping ahead of his actions were real heat producers. He wished he had a car, he must find a timetable, he'd get that story first or die on the job. This was his chance, so to say his last chance, nothing would stop him, not even Lou.

For three weeks he had expected to be fired daily. The strain of that coupled with the good news over the telephone left him a little dizzy. Not that his job was much, being a reporter who reported rather badly. Somehow or other he usually missed his mark. He tried hard enough but something always happened. He would miss the celebrity, get to the wrong place, or come too late, or somebody got the story first. Pete was not the kind to blame others for his failures, but after analyzing several unsuccessful days and getting down to dry facts he found the reason for most of his failures was Lou.

Lou was of the blonde, brown-eyed variety who realized the value of her beauty even at the early age of 17. Though she claimed she loved Pete her heart was equally entangled in the prospect of a career of her own making. In vain Pete had argued and ridiculed. His saddest, darkest pictures of girls starving in Hollywood only made Lou more eager to show him how different her startling career would be.

He reasoned that long before the diploma of movie eligibility came through the mails into Lou's delighted hands, the leading newspapers of the country would be clamoring for his services.

Apparently his chance for recognition had come. Horner, the star reporter, was giving him this chance. It was a big thing and Horner would have gone himself if he had not been booked up for an interview with some royal person. Pete found a timetable and looked up the trains to Chesford. One would leave in three-quarters of an hour. That was fine, no need of hurrying.

He went over Horner's information and instructions. This was the third time the payroll of the Allico Silk Mills had been robbed. Never a clue or the slightest trace of the money had been found. Now one of the best detectives in the country was speeding out to Chesford and Pete made up his mind that he would be right there getting his story.

The telephone rang just as Pete was about to leave. Probably Horner with some last minute instructions. It was Lou. "Pete, will you come over? Just for a minute, I must see you."

Pete was well acquainted with Lou's minutes. "I can't possibly, I'm leaving for Chesford in a few minutes. I'll see you tonight."

"Well all right, then I'll say good-by to you now over the phone."

"Lou! What's happened? What are you up to now? Now don't do anything until I see you this evening, promise!"

Lou's soft little laugh was not reassuring. "Sorry, then it's good-by, Pete, dear I would have liked to have seen you but—"

"I'll be right over, wait till I get there, understand?"

She dimpled and looked so adorable that Pete forgot everything for the moment and kissed her.

"I tried to telephone you before but your line was busy. Really, Pete, I didn't expect to leave so suddenly but you know, I got my diploma the other day and the school wrote that I show exceptional ability and—"

Pete remembered his train. "Where's Aunt Kate?" he demanded to know.

"I took her over to grandma's to stay until I am established then I'll probably send for her and grandma too," Lou informed him airily. "Aunt Kate's so excited about all this and just so happy! She has a lot more confidence in me than you have, Peter Dale!" Lou pouted.

"Where did you get the money for the trip?" he asked sernly and thought, "Oh, these silly women! "I've got to stop her and I'll make that train or bust!"

"I'm trying to tell you but you don't give me a chance. The school is sending me out to Hollywood! Now, what do you say?" she gloated triumphantly. "I'm just waiting for their representative to come to give me the address out in Hollywood.

"For the love of Mike!" groaned Pete. "The country is flooded with these correspondence schools, but I never heard of any paying a girl's expenses out to Hollywood. Look here, Lou, I haven't time to explain, but under no conditions can you go. Your Aunt Kate is a foolish old woman to—"

"Stop calling Aunt Kate names! You're just jealous, that's all. I was going to ask you to take me to the station, but now I won't let you."

Another groan escaped from Pete's throat. Only 10 minutes to catch that train to Chesford. "This representative you're waiting for will never show up and if he does it's only to wheedle some money out of you or—worse! Lou, this is terrible. I hate to leave you, I shouldn't only I'm so sure this man won't come. I got to make that train. I'll see you tonight!" Only seven minutes. He wanted to kiss her, but pale with anger Lou pushed him away. For a second Pete hesitated, then he rushed away.

He missed the train. The next one would not leave for two hours.

"I'll go back and take Lou to her grandmother's and then I'll hire a car to take me out to Chesford. I'll be too late as usual. Lou's ruined another chance for me, probably my last, too."

As he turned the corner he saw a man with a satchel disappear into Lou's home. Pete grinned. "Mr. Representative, here's where you land in jail. And incidently, I'll have a nice little story of my own to report." He beckoned a nearby policeman.

The front door was unlatched and Pete tip-toed in. Lou's bags stood in the hall. From the living room came a man's low voice. "Yes, the bag's locked, our representative in Hollywood has the key. All you got to do is deliver it, understand? All the papers and things necessary for your career are in it, so take care you don't lose it, see? Best thing would be to put it in one of your big suitcases."

When it was all over and Pete had telephoned a full account to his newspaper, Lou stood bewildered, still gasping. "Thousands of dollars in that satchel! The payroll of the Allico Silk Mills! They might have killed me after I delivered it! Oh, Pete!" she began to cry hysterically in his arms.

"There, there, sweet!" Pete comforted. "do you know what this means for us? A wedding day! The Allico people offered a big reward. Now don't cry because I want you to look nice for the pictures. Yes, you'll be right on the front page tomorrow morning! Yes, my little Lou!"

She looked up with shining eyes. "Pete, do you think when they see my picture in the paper, I'll get an offer for the movies?"

COOLIDGE RADIO TALK TO EULOGIZE WASHINGTON

HUGHES TO SPEAK ON DEBT TO FATHER OF OUR COUNTRY

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

"The Debt the Nation Owes to George Washington" will be the subject of Mr. Hughes' talk over WCAE at 7:30 o'clock.

The voice of Mr. Coolidge will go on the air, probably for the last time while he is President of the United States, when he speaks at 8:15 to the mid-winter convocation of students at the George Washington University in the capital. The President and Mrs. Coolidge will be presented honorary degrees as doctors of law. WCAE will have this feature.

PITTSBURGH STATIONS
217.3m.—KQV—1,380k.
232.4m.WJAS—1,290k.
245.8m.—WCAE—1,220k.
305.9m.—KDKA—980k.

HISTORIAN TO SPEAK

Something new in the life of our first President may be revealed through KDKA at 8:15 when John L. E. Pell, historical expert, tells of "The Doughboy Under Washington." Mr. Pell has the reputation of finding out things.

Belle Baker—and we say here again that she would be mayor of New York if fans had their way—will come to us again tonight at 8:30 through WJAS. Belle has the original recipe for making "whoopee" over the radio.

"Take Me Back to Old Pittsburgh" will be injected into the Captain of the Keyboard's half hour of fun at KQV, 9:30 p. m.

Gus and Louie are still having trouble with the jailmaster at Schradertown, but tonight they gain their release when the band plays for the warden. WCAE at 9:30.

CONWAY'S BAND AGAIN

Even if Patrick Conway's Band did cross us up on "Stars and Stripes Forever" Monday night, we still like marches and so it is with beaming eye that we direct you to the Wrigley presentation over KDKA at 9 o'clock. This time it will be Bagley's "National Emblem March." And this time we aren't going to say whether it will be played first, last or in between, although it is marked for the opener.

The pathos of "Il Trovatore" will be brought to us through WJAS at 10 p. m. by the United Opera Company while the NBC Concert Bureau will present Rosaline Greene and others in a miniature comedy, "Washington's First Defeat," at the same hour through WCAE.

Several Pittsburgh youths are members of the Allegheny College Glee Club which will be heard at 5:30 from WCAE. Some of them are Michael Cammarata, city; Joseph Stirling, Ben Avon; Howard Walker, Duquesne; Clifford Behlhorst, Avalon; Howard Reuter, city; Paul Younger, Avalon; James Meadowcroft, Trafford City; Charles Hartung, Coraopolis.

"IL TROVATORE."
Verdi's "Il Trovatore" will be sung by the entire company.
The scene is laid in Biscay and Aragon in the middle of the fifteenth century and concerns the rivalry of the Count di Luna and Maurice, the Troubadour, who are both in love with Leonora, a noble lady of the court. Leonora is in love with Maurice, who, unknown to all, is the brother of Di Luna. Di Luna through jealousy causes the deaths of both the lovers and at the end of this tragic drama, fails senseless on discovering that he has killed his own brother.
WCAE—Concert bureau.
WASHINGTON SKETCH.
An all-star cast picked from outstanding dramatic features on the NBC will present a miniature comedy of "Washington's First Defeat," in addition to regular musical features.
The story deals with the great American warrior's disappointment in love, when at the age of 16 he was jilted by the "Lowland Beauty," Lucy Grymes.
Characters will be portrayed by Rosaline Greene as Lucy Grymes, Joseph Bell as George Washington, Katherine Tift-Jones as Camellia. Musical background by the concert orchestra and the choristers.

Story by McNamee To Be in Sunday Sun-Telegraph

Graham McNamee, the world's most popular radio announcer, will write about "My Thrilling Experiences," in the Sunday radio section of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph. His story will be accompanied by a photograph taken while McNamee stopped off at the William Penn Hotel, last Saturday.

McNamee's story is mighty interesting and you will enjoy every word of it.

Pittsburgher's again heard the chimes from 5SW at Chelmsford, England, last night through KDKA. Pictures illustrating the steel towers at this powerful station and the method of rebroadcasting its signals by KDKA at East Pittsburgh, also will be found in the Radio section of the Sunday Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

May-Stern's Open Till 9 P. M. Saturday

May-Stern's February Sale
June Bride Home Outfits

The Greatest Home-Making Event of Its Kind in America

The mightiest influence in American home-life! A merchandising achievement of such major importance it has the fullest endorsement of an entire home-loving nation. This unique sale originated years ago and copyrighted by May-Stern's is celebrated nationally—in every city where there is a May-Stern store. What a golden opportunity for Pittsburgh's brides and bride-to-be to realize their dreams—"a modernly furnished home of their own."

The Bridal Boudoir

"Give particular thought to the selection of the June Bride's Boudoir," were the orders given the men who bought these suites. They did, surely, for these creations excel in beauty, style and smartness. Early American pieces with surfaces of high-lighted curly maple enriched by carved mouldings, fluted sides and adorable floral decorations in the natural colors of flowers. Elegantly rounded posts, charming, graceful lines! Consists of new French dressing table, now the vogue; stately dresser, a distinctive spool bed, chest, upholstered bench and chair.

New Dinette Setting

Ideal for the smaller dining rooms or breakfast rooms of today's apartments. The discriminating June Bride insists upon newness and distinctiveness in her dining furniture. Here is more than she hopes for! A suite of Renaissance period design with surfaces of richly figured and superbly matched walnut. Deep-toned green line tracings harmonize delightfully with the green figured velour on the chair seats. This Bride's dining room consists of beautiful pedestal extension table, graceful china cabinet, spacious buffet and the four chairs.

Any One Room $150

Any Two Rooms $285

Any Three Rooms $425

Bride's Living Room

As modern as tomorrow—the living room wherein the newlyweds will proudly welcome their guests. Don't confuse this suite with ordinary furniture—this one is expertly tailored in quality mohair and is adorned by intricately wrought hand carving. Its sweeping lines express the spirit of the new era in living room furniture. Spring-filled cushions yield to every curve of the body. Reversible cushions on the sofa, club chair and wing chair. Group completed by the smart "Art Moderne" lamp and the charming decorated mahogany occasional table.

'Art Moderne' Bedroom

Just how "she" had secretly planned to outfit the bedroom in her own home-to-be . . . in "Art Moderne." And May-Stern's have foreseen her intention! What rare beauty—choicest matched walnut veneers with lovely satinwood top drawers and base rails . . . larger lower drawers of Oriental walnut . . . ivory handled pendant drawer pulls . . . beveled mirrors and 3-ply wood backs . . . thoroughly dustproof . . . can you ask for more? All the elegance and smartness of the modern era! Includes French vanity, dresser, new low style bed, and the popular chest. Bench & Chair, $19.75 extra.

Eight Rooms to Choose From!

The most modern room ensembles—carefully chosen furniture that retains character groupings of the very newest modes. May-Stern furniture that bespeaks quality and economy. Stylish living rooms, charming boudoirs, hospitable dining rooms and efficient kitchens such as the present day bride has in mind—they are included in this great June Bride Room Outfit Sale. At prices that all can afford to pay—and terms that young couples find a great aid toward starting housekeeping in a home of their own:

Two Whole Years To Pay

A small first payment delivers these outfits and then the most liberal credit offer in Pittsburgh is available—TWO WHOLE YEARS TO PAY. Such a generous credit policy must add to the May-Stern fame as the Most Liberal Credit Furniture Store in this city. This enables every young couple to participate in this great event.

Two Rooms In One!

A problem solved for the newlyweds. Though a stylish, modern living room, yet, within an instant, it can be converted into a sleeping room for overnight guests. This combination room always appeals to the foresighted bride. A complete living room group featuring the Kroehler suite with richly embossed jacquard velour upholstery and serviceable loose cushions. Excellent spring construction assured by the Kroehler label. Consist of davenport that opens into full-size, comfortable bed, club chair, wing chair, graceful floor lamp and davenport table.

Don't Fail to See "Honeymoon Lane" Fourth Floor

We have arranged a most extensive display of these June Bride Home Outfits in modern room settings. No expectant June Bride should miss this modern exhibit.

The enthusiasm of young couples sauntering along "Honeymoon Lane" knows no bounds—Join them!

And "Her" Kitchen

Of course, the bride's kitchen embodies all the latest improvements to lighten her household duties and add to her leisure. And it's modernly attractive, too. It has a white enameled cabinet with slide-out porcelain enameled table top, companion broom closet; famous Dr. Price hygienic ice-saving refrigerator in white enameled 3-door, side-icer style; cabinet gas range with white porcelain enameled door panels and spacious oven and broiler; sturdy utility table; two bow-back chairs; exquisitely decorated 32-piece set of dishes and room-size Congoleum rug. All complete.

Bride's Dining Room

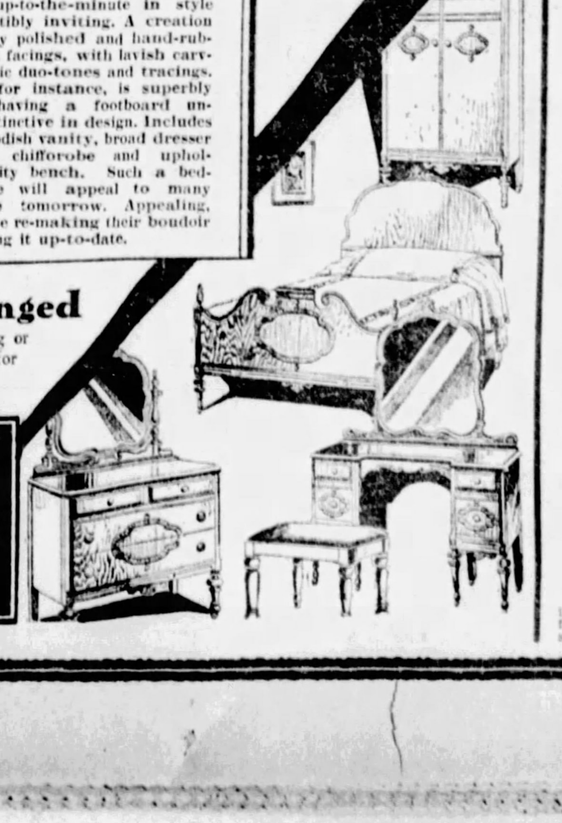
The bride-to-be who contemplates entertaining dinner guests frequently will need this larger dining suite of nine exquisite pieces. It represents the handiwork of a master designer who has embodied in this suite all the magnificence of modern fine furniture. Lavishly ornamented suite of satiny figured and matched walnut surfaces, deep inset panels, artistic stretchers and massive, turned legs. Includes china cabinet, buffet, extension table, five side chairs and host chair, upholstered in figured jacquard velour. Quality! Beauty!

Purchases Held for Later Delivery if Desired

Don't pass by such a golden opportunity—avail yourself now of the February Sale prices offered on June Bride Room Outfits. We will cheerfully hold your purchases until you are ready for it.

Another Bedroom

Many fastidious brides will prefer this rich suite that assures "her" a bedroom up-to-the-minute in style and irresistibly inviting. A creation of skillfully polished and hand-rubbed walnut facings, with lavish carvings, artistic duo-tones and tracings. The bed, for instance, is superbly wrought, having a footboard unusually distinctive in design. Includes also the modish vanity, broad dresser full-length chifforobe and upholstered vanity bench. Such a bedroom suite will appeal to many brides-to-be tomorrow. Appealing, too, to those re-making their boudoir and bringing it up-to-date.



Evening Appointments, Easily Arranged

Realizing that many young couples cannot attend this event together Saturday evening or during regular store hours, we therefore gladly arrange for evening appointments for those who so desire. Call Mr. Metzger or Mr. Pollock.

JETTA REFUSES DRINK, SMOKE, POLLY MORAN WEARS SPANISH SHAWL

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 22.

IT WAS a party. An informal party. Garret Graham, title writer, was host. Jetta Goudal, with others, was a guest. Dinner finished. Mr. Graham turned to Jetta:

"Can I get you a drink?"

"I never drink," said Jetta.

"Can I get you a cigaret?" patiently.

"I never smoke."

"Can I get you some candy?"

"I never eat sweets."

Mr. Graham gazed wearily at his charmingly gowned guest and made one final, desperate try:

"Can I fry you an egg?"

Polly Moran had been invited to an ultra party. She made up her mind she would be an ultra lady, so she dressed meticulously and climaxed her costume with a Spanish shawl. Arriving at the party a little early, Polly seated herself in a straight back chair in the lobby. The guests arrived. Polly arose to join them. She discovered her shawl had caught in the chair. It remained caught, despite genteel efforts to free it. Disgusted, Polly marched into the dining room, the shawl dragging behind her, and the chair behind it! Ask La Moran "What Price Ladyship?"

Ian Keith Cuts Hand in Wreck

THE hour was legitimate. Jan Keith sped sanely to the studio to continue heroing for Corinne Griffith in "Prisoners," directed by Bill Seiter. In the back seat lorded his police dog. The dog became annoyed at something. Jan turned to soothe him. At which crucial moment the car in front of him came to an abrupt stop. Keith's collided with it. The chief damage was done to his hands. They went through the windshield and were badly cut. He had them bandaged and reported for work. The scene was a courtroom. He represented the lawyer. He spieled into the "mike." At the conclusion of his long say, Keith very quietly and unobtrusively fainted. That ended the day's work. He and his bandaged hands were bundled home to recuperate. And that's that.

Howard Greer, fashion director, says:

Betty Compson knows that no woman's wardrobe, however expansive, is complete without one tailored dress of black satin. It is the perfect thing for somber days, worn with two silver foxes and a close-fitting, brim-on-one-side felt hat. Her favorite black satin dress has a straight bodice, long, tight sleeves and a skirt flat in the back and cut circular across the front, attached to a pointed V girdle.

Rusian Choir Here Next Monday Night

The Cossack Choir, under the direction of Basile Kibalchich, will appear on Monday evening in Carnegie Music Hall as the fifth number of the Bortz concert series. The choir will sing, among other numbers, the following selections: Two Spanish Songs, Dubinushka Laborer's Song, Moscow Street Song, The Bride's Song, The Wedding Song, Down Mother Volga, Soldier Song Vanka-Tanka, Chechoslovakian Song, Tantum Ergo, Symphony No. 8 and Glory.

FOR SALE SIGN :-: MARKS PASSING :-: OF MOVIE WEST

Tom Mix rode the movie plains as swiftly and as recklessly as any of the camera cowboys. But now his rides are growing fewer and he has taken his cowboy regalia to the vaudeville stage.

And what of the gallant steeds of those movie westerns? you ask. Well, FOR SALE is the fate that has overtaken some of them. You see before you five cowponies that have had their day in the sun. . . . and that day is gone.

Hoot Gibson is another who may sigh at the dwindling popularity of the westerns, as he realizes how the cowboy parade is diminishing.

NEXT WEEK'S BILLS ON STAGE

Minna Gombell and Myron C. Fagan, star and author, respectively of "Indiscretion," now playing in the Nixon, were invited to be guests of honor at a tea at Carnegie Tech, given by the drama classes under Chester Wallace this afternoon.

The Hollywood Redheads, headed by Miss Babe Egan, will present what is described as "a whirlwind of rollicking mirth and rhythm" in the Davis next week. Julius Tannen, "The Chatterbox," and Rin-Tin-Tin, movie dog, also will be on the bill.

Woodman Thompson, designed the settings and costumes for "The Merchant of Venice," in which George Arliss is to appear in the Pitt, Monday night. Mr. Thompson for a time was an instructor in Carnegie Institute of Technology. He visited Venice to make sketches for the stage decorations for the Shakespeare comedy.

The romance with music, "White Lilacs," comes to the Alvin for a limited engagement of one week, opening Monday evening. It is a musical version of the life of the composer, Frederic Chopin. Guy Robertson, Odette Myrtil and De Wolf Hopper head the cast. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday.

In Revue

Josephine Balzer, daughter of Mrs. Isabelle Haupt, West Carson street, will appear on the Penn stage next week in "Southern Belles."

College Singers In Contest Tonight

This evening in Carnegie Music Hall 250 college boys coming from seven Western Pennsylvania school will compete for the silver loving cup in the third annual Intercollegiate Glee Club contest. The colleges represented will be Pitt, W. & J., Juniata, State, Bucknell and Allegheny. The Chamber of Commerce Chorus also will sing three groups.

The program is follows: "On the Sea," Juniata; "Our Good Cause," Tech; "Lullaby," Pitt; "Winter Song," Bucknell; "Gladstone Radiance," Allegheny; "To Arms," Penn State; "March of the Men of Harlech," W. & J.; "Juniata Medley," Juniata; "Dear Old Carnegie Tech," Tech; "Hail Bucknell," Bucknell; "Blue and White," Penn State; "To Allegheny," Allegheny; "Hail to Pitt," Pitt; "Alma Mater," W. & J.; prize song, "Songs My Mother Taught Me," by each of the seven competing colleges; "Hymn to Pittsburgh," "My Love," and "Russia Kyrie," by Chamber of Commerce Chorus, and the combined clubs in "Prayer of Thanksgiving."

"Weary River" Grand Feature

After being closed for several days for alteration and renovation, the Grand reopened last night under a new policy, with "Weary River," featuring Richard Barthelmess and Betty Compson, as the principal attraction. Evidently there was much interest in this picture, as the theater was crowded to capacity and had a waiting queue of patrons soon after the doors opened.

The pictured proved to be the most interesting in which Barthelmess has appeared in a long time. It is a story of a young gangster who goes to prison and, through the kindly interest of the warden, acquires a new outlook on life. His musical talent is developed and he writes a song, "Weary River," which he sings over the radio with such success that he wins a pardon. But he fails to succeed as an entertainer "outside" and goes back to the gang, but is saved from himself through the action of the girl he admires. There is dialogue and sound, including the singing of the theme song, "Weary River." Both Barthelmess and Miss Compson do good work in this picture.

Synthetic Voices Make Debut At Studios

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—Casting directors are beginning to realize that the sound pictures have cluttered Hollywood up with an inexhaustible supply of synthetic voices, including people who claim they can imitate anything from a snake's rattle to a lion's roar.

Others have prevailed upon the casters with cracked opera voices, asthmatic saxophones and wheezing accordians, not to mention the owners of pet animals who claim they are made to order for sound pictures.

Aged Duquesne Man Hurt in Fall on Ice

Evan Jenkins, 79, of 117 South Sixth street, Duquesne, suffered a fracture of the hip last night when he fell on an icy pavement in front of his home. He was taken to McKeesport Hospital, where his condition was said to be serious.

Pittsburgh Agents Make Raids in Erie

ERIE, Pa., Feb. 22—Six Pittsburgh prohibition agents last yesterday raided the Amber Glow Inn, 1327 Buffalo Road, seized a quantity of ale and whisky and arrested George Stuberg and his wife, said to be owners of the place. Following a hearing before U. S. Commissioner Enoch Filer, they were released in $1,000 bail each.

The agents also raided a place at 111 West Seventh street. The owners were absent. After a search they said they uncovered a quantity of ale, gin and whisky.

28 MEN, 2 WOMEN FINED IN DRY VIOLATOR'S PARADE

A parade of self-confessed violators of the national prohibition law Thursday before judges of the Federal District Court netted the government $3,125 in fines. In the procession were 28 men and two women.

All were first offenders under the dry law and were ordered to pay fines ranging from $50 to $200.

They pleaded to violations of the law committed in Pittsburgh, Erie, Johnstown, Altoona, East Monongahela, McKeesport, Rankin, Glassport and McKees Rocks.

Michael Downs, Frank Buzikowski, Patrick Connolly and Peter Coyne, were fined $200 each; George Markos and Sam Crown, $150 each; Agostino Colsameno, Alfred Smith, Elizabeth Fenllo, C. J. Crossen, Lester Serafini, Harry Marchini, Louis J. Cjetovic, James Toohey, J. G. Goetz, Milton Shermer, Joseph Roma, Patrick Reddington, George Franz, Albert Snyder and Roland Cromartie, $100 each; Gene Thomas, $75; John Herman, Leonard Williamson, Richard J. Hauser, William J. Bittner, Lee Smith, Joe Winning, Helen C. Menchek and William Lynn, $50 each.

RECIPE TO CLEAR A PIMPLY SKIN

Pimples, sores and boils usually result from toxins, poisons and impurities which are generated in the bowels and then absorbed into the blood through the very ducts which should absorb only nourishment to sustain the body.

It is the function of the kidneys to filter impurities from the blood and cast them out in the form of urine, but in many instances the bowels create more toxins and impurities than the kidneys can eliminate; then the blood uses the skin pores as the next best means of getting rid of these impurities, which often break out all over the skin in the form of pimples.

The surest way to clear the skin of these eruptions, says a noted authority, is to get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water each morning before breakfast for one week. This will help prevent the formation of toxins in the bowels. It also stimulates the kidneys, thus coaxing them to filter the blood of impurities and clearing the skin of pimples.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia. Here you have a pleasant, effervescent drink which usually helps make pimples disappear.

COUNCIL AND RAILWAYS FIRM IN PAVING DISPUTE

Lengthy discussion marked the efforts of the city to get the Pittsburgh Railways to contribute $47,000 for the improvement of Irvine street, Hazelwood, at a meeting Thursday of council and the traction conference board.

The city is asking for the $47,000, contending that the Pittsburgh Railways Company will be relieved of the expense of crossing watchmen at two grade crossings which the improvement will eliminate. Street car service will also be sped, the councilmen believe.

Officials of the company refused to pay the additional sum. They said that the work would cost them $168,000 and that the additional $47,000 asked should be paid by the city.

Another meeting will be held next week when the company will present an ordinance for its franchise on Irvine street.

I Want To Whisper Something Girls —

I have been taking the new discovery, ACIDINE, and it is wonderful. Since I started I haven't had a bit of indigestion, or sick headache, or skin trouble or any of those other nasty conditions our stomachs get into if we over-indulge too much. ACIDINE has been a life saver to me many a time, and it is just too priceless to be without. You, too, can enjoy the benefits of ACIDINE. It will save you many a weary day, headachy evening or sleepless night. It is wonderful, this ACIDINE, and best of all, if it doesn't help you, your druggist will return your money. All druggists have it or write Health Laboratories, Inc., Pittsburgh, Pa.

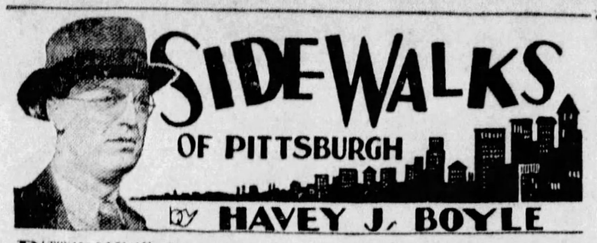
NORTH SIDE PLANS "GO-TO-CHURCH" DRIVE



SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

PITTSBURGH deserves special mention in any observance of Washington's Birthday. He was a familiar figure here. He first surveyed some of our territory and returned later with Braddock, escaping in miraculous fashion from the massacre that saw the end of the gallant Braddock.

It is difficult for the average man to realize that such a figure as Washington ever lived. If his day was not relatively a short while back skeptics in looking over his history would start stories that he was a myth with the plausible argument he was too good to be true.

His story is filled with delightful chapters, as we all know, but the chapter on his trying ordeal at Valley Forge stands out as one of the finest.

When we leave school we imagine that a man named Washington led every American against England. As we grow older we realize that what we see now was happening in Washington's day—with factions and groups and cliques with various aims.

Washington bitterly complained at Valley Forge that he was getting no support from Congress; he looked with fishy eye on some of the swell people who found interest and entertainment associating with the King's soldiers in Philadelphia, and even among his own soldiers he found an apathy at times that brought about strict orders of punishment, including flogging and execution.

The modern method of biography has made an attempt to reduce Washington from a national god to a man almost ordinary, but in Washington's case it falls down badly for to every small boy and girl he looms as the finest thing that ever happened to this country and even when boyish and girlish illusions generally fade away as manhood and womanhood develops, Washington remains free from being reduced in stature.

And he was around this region so much he was almost a local boy.

* * *

Only a few of the downtown buildings display the old signs warning book agents and peddlers and beggars to stay out. Peddlers and beggars took the hint, but not book agents.

It would be a great sign that would bother the book agent. He still makes his rounds of the office buildings and does a tidy business.

His wares are pulled from ample pockets, bindings, only, of the books he plans to sell. He is convincing, aggressive and well-groomed. He has a knack for putting his prospect on the defensive. When he is turned down he achieves an air when walking out which seems to say: "Well, just another sap."

* * *

A MAN selling books came into my office the other day. He was interested in compiling a history of the town. He was anxious to get biographies of what he termed prominent people. Would I oblige him with a short history? I was suspicious, but I consented to answer his questions. His questions were adroit, as their sequence, somehow or other, would allow the most insignificant of men to draw a pretty life history. He was not only concerned about me. He wanted to know the names of the children and then he pursued a course back into ancestry. Once or twice I protested mildly that he had the wrong man, but he smiled and indicated he knew what he was about. At last the interview was completed.

Naturally, I was not the only man who was to get into this history of Pittsburgh. He flashed a list of really prominent names. I was to be in good company, most certainly. Then as he folded his notebook he pulled out an order slip. Naturally, there would have to be customers for such a monumental and expensive work. I glanced at the subscription pad and heard my friend say something about $40 or $50. I shook my head no. I was not interested. All at once our pleasant meeting was turned into something cold. He folded up his paraphernalia and departed. He said goodby, but there wasn't much warmth in it. You see, he was a little offended because I wouldn't pay $40 or $50 to get a write-up.

And now I'll bet that in spite of the facts I gave that at first pleased my friend that history of Pittsburgh will come out with never a word about me. And between you and me I don't care a you-know.

GOLLMAR HEADS LOWER CAR FARE MOVE

Former Judge Frank I. Gollmar has been appointed chairman of a special committee of the West View Board of Trade to seek the establishment of a 5-cent-fare zone, principally for school children. Other members of the committee will be named soon by President C. U. Shoup.

The board desires that a 5-cent zone be established between West View and Bellevue on one hand and the north city line, on the other.

The board will hold its monthly meeting Monday night in No. 3 Engine house, Perry highway near Chalfonte avenue. W. Y. Sprenkle district manager of the Bell Telephone Company will discuss the work of the new exchange plant soon to be complete in West View. William M. Dickson, president of the borough council will speak on the "1929 Improvement Program."

MAN MEETS BEAST

Man and beast met here and the beast was afraid, confused, until the "man-monkey" tendered a banana that was received with Simian thanks.

NINE CHURCHES WILL JOIN IN SURVEY

Nine churches of downtown North Side, with a combined membership of 5,200 will begin a visitation Evangelistic campaign, Sunday, March 3, with the object of winning between 1,200 and 1,400 persons at present not affiliated with any church.

The drive will be under the general direction of the Rev. Dr. Edward Bleakney, pastor of the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church. The committee of North Side ministers in charge, consists of the Rev. J. J. Allen, of Sandusky Street Baptist Church; the Rev. John B. McElroy, of North Presbyterian Church, and R. F. Rope, secretary of the Allegheny branch, Y. M. C. A.

Each participating church will be represented by 20 visitors who will call at homes listed in a survey previously made. The visitation will continue one week. Report meetings will be made each night at 6:15 o'clock in the Allegheny branch Y. M. C. A.

The churches joining in the campaign are the First United Presbyterian, Calvary Methodist Episcopal, First Presbyterian of Allegheny, Fourth United Presbyterian, Second United Presbyterian, Seventh United Presbyterian, North Avenue Methodist Episcopal.

FARE CUT DRIVE INDORSED

At a mass meeting last night in the Lemington school, residents of the Lincoln avenue district approved efforts of the Lincoln District Board of Trade to improve street car service and to secure a reduction of fare in the East Liberty-Lincoln avenue section.

M. W. Cook, supervisor of traffic of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, in a talk before the meeting explained that the company is now operating 17 shuttle lines with five-cent fares, but that none of them have proved successful enough to warrant the establishment of such a line in the Lincoln district.

SERMON TOPICS IN SOUTH HILLS

The Rev. Dr. J. W. Watson, pastor of the Concord Presbyterian Church, Crailo street, Carrick, has chosen "Ownership Acknowledged —Its Measure" for his Sunday morning's sermon theme. In the evening, a pictorial study in the life of Christ will transpire.

"Jesue the Divine Saviour and Lord," will be the topic of the morning seromn to be preached by the Rev. Dr. Charles C. Cribbs, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, West Prospect avenue, Ingram. Union services will be held in the church in the evening.

Automobile Hits Man Running for Trolley

R. Crow, 3331 Latonia avenue, Dormont, received bruises about the face and body when he was struck by an automobile driven by Lawrence B. Clark, Bridgeport, O., on West Liberty avenue, Dormont, Wednesday. According to Motorcycle Patrolman Charles Cribbs, Crow was running across the street to board a street car which was stopped in the safety zone at the time he was struck. Clark was arrested and released on $100 cash bond.

Dormont Burgess Fines Six Motorists

Two speeders were fined $10 each and four parking violators were fined $1 each by Burgess William S. Haddock, of Dormont, last night. Due to Washington's Birthday, the weekly hearings were advanced a day.

In Play

RUTH M. BECHTEL

Miss Bechtel will have a role in "Kempy," annual play of the Ingram Presbyterian Christian Endeavor, to be presented in the Ingram School, March 7 and 8. Rehearsals are held under the direction of Clair McDonald.

Mrs. Elizabeth Funk, First street, Braddock, has filed suit for divorce against Leonard Funk, Braddock Township, in Common Pleas Court.

GETS 90 DAYS IN AUTO THEFT

Edward Burton, 26, Negro, Fifth avenue, Homestead, arrested by Patrolman Byron Fallon in the 2200 block West Carson street Tuesday was sentenced to serve 90 days in the county workhouse by Magistrate John J. Sweeney in South Side Police Court yesterday, after it was testified that he stole the automobile in which he was driving.

Hyman Little, 5400 Albermarle street, brother of Attorney Louis Little, is the owner of the machine, and testified that the car was stolen from Fifth avenue Tuesday morning.

Burton told the court he was ton after he told the court he was released from the workhouse the morning he took Little's automobile.

Stewards Guest at Heinz Auditorium

Members of the Pittsburgh Association with their wives and families attended an Educational Night in Heinz Auditorium, Progress street, North Side, last night. Following a dinner, motion pictures were screened to show the growing of crops and the preparation of food. There also was a lecture on the same subject. The evening was arranged as a part of a program to better acquaint the stewards with prepared foods. The committee consisted of P. K. Collins, C. K. Schmidt, Charles Sohn, Oscar Braumiller, Thomas F. Leg Broken by Truck, Woman Asks $40,000

Her right leg broken when a big truck knocked a little truck onto the sidewalk where she was standing, Miss Clara E. Stewart, 5807 Elmer street, has filed suit in Common Pleas Court for $40,000 damages against the John A. Presy Company, owners of the big truck. The accident occurred June 21, 1928, at Ivy and Walnut streets.

Democracy Mothers Elect 1929 Officers

The Emsworth Branch, Mothers of Democracy, held their annual election of officers yesterday in the home of Mrs. H. G. Beck, 144 Allegheny avenue, Emsworth. The following were chosen: President, Mrs. Robert Reilly; vice president, Mrs. James Hartley; secretary, Mrs. George McClelland; treasurer, Mrs. H. G. Beck.

SIMIANS SCORN 'MONKEY MAN'

There was too much "monkey business" going on in the monkey house of the Highland Park Zoo when Nathal, the French vaudevillian, called there.

In his clever disguise as a huge ape, Nathal, with all the gestures and mannerisms of a simian, first called on Alice, scion of the chimpanzee family and champion vegetarian of the monkey house. Alice was taking her afternoon siesta when the man-monkey climbed the bars of her cage and greeted her with a regular monkey growl, which in simian parlance means "Hello, monk!"

Alice shrieked, leaped up from her nap and jumped atop a box at the other end of the cage. Her body quivered from fright, and she gave vent to her resentment over the intrusion by repeatedly stamping her foot on the box.

No amount of coaxing by Nathal made her come down from the box.

Although the "man-monkey" leaped about like a real simian, climbed pipes and used all of the mannerisms of an ape, the smaller members of the tribe climbed to the tops of their cages from sheer fright.

Nathal, however, did make friends with Mike, a rather tame monkey and the friendliest of them all with the children. Mike seemed curious to learn from which part of the African jungle his big visitor had come, and the two became quite friendly.

Nathal, who is appearing at the Davis Theater, has been in the "monkey business" for 10 years. He studied the mannerisms of apes and monkeys in the African jungle and in zoos the world over.

Life Menaced, Wife Charges in Suit

Testifying that her husband had slashed her throat with a razor, causing her to spend a week in a hospital, Mrs. Carrie Mertz, 51 Butler Plank road, Undercliffe, detailed many abuses in the course of her divorce trial against William Mertz, heard by Judge Josiah Cohen in Common Pleas Court.

"He slept with knives in the bed, and once a revolver," she said. "Then one day he got me down on the floor and slashed my throat, cheek and shoulder with a razor. My son heard my screams and got there just in time to save my life."

Fathers and Sons Will Hold Banquet

The third annual father and son banquet will be held by the Brotherhood of the Spencer Methodist Episcopal Church of Carrick, in the dining room of the church, tomorrow night at 6 o'clock. Dr. Jacob Payton will be the toastmaster and the Rev. Dr. L. D. Spangy, of McKeesport First Methodist Episcopal Church will deliver the principal address.

Bellevue Loser, Not Winner in Debate

Through an error yesterday Bellevue High School was reported as having won simultaneous debates on the question, "Resolved, That Congress should provide for a Secretary of Education in the President's Cabinet," East Pittsburgh won the debate both at home and at Bellevue, according to the Bellevue High authorities.

EXPECT PASTOR HERE MARCH 3

The Rev. Cameron B. Reed, of St. Louis, is expected to assume pastorate of the McClure Avenue Presbyterian Church, Sunday March 3.

Word has been received that he will leave St. Louis next Monday and will come with his family by automobile. He will succeed the Rev. Dr. S. J. Glass, who retired last July and was made pastor emeritus after 38 years' continuous service with the McClure avenue church.

Mr. Reed is a graduate of Boston University and the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. He has been pastor of the Gibson Heights United Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, for several years. He held previous charges at Thompsonville, Conn., Cambridge, Mass., and the Fourth U. P. Church, St. Louis.

Bellevue Postoffice Observes Holiday

Bellevue Postoffice was closed today, Washington's birthday. No mail was delivered by carrier, but special delivery mail was to be dispatched promptly, Superintendent Fred A. McCune announced.

Forced to Sleep On Floor, Wife Files Suit

Charging that her husband kicked her out of bed and forced her to sleep on the floor, Mrs. Ruth E. Dooney, 1316 Woods Run avenue, testified before Judge Richard W. Martin in her suit for divorce from Charles Dooney, 222 Federal street.

They were married October 29, 1924, and separated January 18, 1928. She said he was extremely jealous of her, drank heavily and fought with her frequently.

JUDGE POURS OIL ON TAXPAYERS' CONTENTION

When Judge Richard W. Martin found a large array of Findley township taxpayers on opposite sides of his court room in a dispute involving the township commissioners over objections that had been filed to the auditors' report, he poured oil on the troubled waters and brought about an amicable truce.

Judge Martin sustained objections to the auditors' report, and directed that a new report be filed which will contain figures showing the exact debt of the township. It was claimed the township owes more than the 2 per cent of the assessed valuation allowed by law, the amount running between $10,000 and $15,000 over.

W. W. Purdy, one of the commissioners, and other taxpayers, had filed the objections to the audit. The other commissioners, C. B. Gould and A. D. Stewart, were charged with having voted together against Purdy in making large expenditures for road building machinery, over the debt power of the township. A bond issue to take care of the extra indebtedness was defeated at the last election.

No personal actions against the commissioners are contemplated. Attorneys John Winner and Horace Thomas tried the issue.

Church to Observe Washington Birthday

Washington's birthday will be observed by the Community Brotherhood of West View Methodist Episcopal Church, tonight, with a gathering in the Sunday School rooms. Refreshments will be served and Dr. D. T. Atkinson, burgess of West View, will give an illustrated talk on his travels in Yellowstone National Park, California and other Western points. He will also show a moose hunt in Canada.

Desertion Charged By Wife in Suit

Mrs. Lillie Mae Lippert, 5014 Gertrude street, has filed suit for divorce in Common Pleas Court against George C. Lippert, Butler, Pa., charging that he deserted her. They were married in 1906 and separated in 1926.

Will Rogers Says

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.

Washington's birthday. Hear the political speeches delivered under the guise of being addresses on Washington. They start out by saying that it's the birthday of our first President and had he only lived to see the fruits of the great Republican Party."

As a matter of fact there wasn't any Republicans in Washington's day. No Republicans, no boll weevil, no income tax, no cover charge, no disarmament conferences, no luncheon clubs, no stop lights, no static, no head winds. Liquor was a companion, and not a problem. No margins, no ticket speculators, no golf pants or Scotch jokes.

Living in those times, who wouldn't be great?

INTIMATE PAPERS OF COLONEL HOUSE

Wilson's Reply to Pope's Overtures of Peace Commended

CHAPTER VI.

DURING the early summer the movement for a peace of compromise had gone far in Austria and in certain German cities; it was stimulated by the Russian suggestion of a peace without annexations or indemnities. The German military leaders were hostile to any consideration of peace. "Ludendorff," wrote Czernin, Foreign Minister of Austria-Hungary, "is exactly like the statesmen of France and England; none of them wishes to compromise, they only look for victory." In Austria, however, the need of an early peace had been realized by Czernin for some months. "I am nevertheless quite convinced," he wrote on April 2, "that another winter campaign would be absolutely out of the question; in other words, that in the late summer or in the autumn an end must be put to the war at all costs."

The Austrian Emperor had already started secret negotiations with the Entente through Prince Sixte, of Bourbon, brother of the Empress and an officer in the Belgian army. But they lagged and finally fell through, partly because the Italians would hear of no concessions sufficient to attract Austria towards a separate peace, partly because Czernin intended to use the negotiations as a means to a general peace, including Germany, and the Allies were determined not to compromise with an undefeated Germany. Nor would the German military group consider peace without an increase of territory; Ludendorff made it plain that he regarded the war as lost if Germany did not emerge from it with enhanced power.

Members of the German Reichstag began to doubt the possibility of complete victory. Matthias Erzberger, a leader of the Center Party who was in touch with Czernin and aware of the latter's memorandum upon the necessity of peace, was able to form something of a bloc, opposed to the control of the military group and advocating a peace of compromise. On July 18, under his management, a majority of the Reichstag voted a resolution declaring that "the Reichstag strives for a peace of understanding and the permanent reconciliation of the peoples. With such a peace forced acquisitions of territory, and political, economic, or financial oppressions are inconsistent." The resolution was carried by 212 votes to 126.

This revolt against military influence proved abortive despite the hopes it aroused abroad. The parliamentary crisis made necessary the resignation of the chancellor, Bethmann, who had lost the confidence of all groups; but his successor, Michaelis, a capable administrator without parliamentary experience, refused to accept the control of the Reichstag and so far as a peace of compromise was concerned became almost as determined as Ludendorff, if less unequivocal. The parliamentary revolution proved a fiasco and the Reichstag resolution a mere pious opinion. The position of those in Germany who advocated a compromise peace was weakened thereby, as it was by the refusal of the Entente to consider the Reichstag overtures in a conciliatory mood.

It was obvious, nevertheless, that a strong current was running towards peace in Germany, although it did not carry with it the governing power in the empire. Doubtless in the hope of strengthening it and perhaps at the inspiration of Erzberger or Czernin, or both, the Pope issued August 1 a note addressed to all the belligerents, suggesting a settlement of the war based upon the principles of complete restoration of occupied territory, disarmament, and international arbitration.

Answering the Pope

In Europe the Allies seemed to be somewhat fearful lest the President should answer the Pope's offer in such a way as to commit the United States to negotiations for which the Allies were unprepared, or so as to weaken the war spirit in Allied countries. They were embarrassed by the lack of close co-ordination with the United States, especially in view of the fact that Wilson was coming to be regarded in the popular mind as spokesman for their cause as against that of Germany.

Col. House himself was unquestionably convinced that a categoric proposal would have unfortunate effects. It would discourage the German liberals, who would be again told that the Entente were planning nothing less than the political annihilation of Germany. It would hasten the collapse of war-weary Russia. House was anxious that the President should use this opportunity to insist publicly that it was not the Entente that stood in the way of peace, but rather the imperialistic designs of Germany as represented by Ludendorff.

Thus on grounds of policy he desired a conciliatory reply. Emotionally he wanted to have a hearing given to any peace proposal whatever, on the chance of shortening the war and relieving humanity of its present sufferings. He was appalled by the horror of war. Who could guarantee that, by continuing the butchery until the maximum war aims of the Allies were secured, the final settlement would be sufficiently improved to justify the loss of life?

House to President

Magnolia, Mass.,
August 15, 1917.

Dear Governor:

I am wondering how you will think it best to answer the Pope's peace proposal.

On a basis of the status quo ante, the Entente could aid Austria in emancipating herself from Prussia. Turkey could be sustained as an independent nation under the condition that Constantinople and the Straits have some sort of internationalization. This would settle the question of a division of Asia Minor between Russia, France and Italy—a division which is pregnant with future trouble. Turkey would be inclined towards the Entente today if it were not that she prefers being a German province rather than to be dismembered as proposed by the Allies.

This leads me to hope that you will answer the Pope's proposal in some such way as to leave the door open and to throw the onus on Prussia. This, I think, can be done if you will say that the peace terms of America are well known, but that it is useless to discuss the question until those of the Prussian militarists are also known, and further that it is hardly fair to ask the people of the Allied countries to discuss terms with a military autocracy—an autocracy that does not represent the opinion of the people for whom they speak. If the people of the Central Powers had a voice in the settlement it is probable an overwhelming majority would be found willing to make a peace acceptable to the other peoples of the world—a peace founded upon international amity and justice.

I believe an occasion has presented itself for you to make a notable utterance and one which may conceivably lead to great results.

Affectionately yours,
E. M. House.

The President was more belligerent than House, less inclined to any sort of compromise; he intimated that he might not take any notice at all of the Pope's offer. He went on to indicate his objections to even a tentative acceptance of the papal proposal, which he asked House to forward to England for Balfour's information.

II.

Expresses Views to Wilson

Magnolia, Massachusetts,
August 17, 1917.

Dear Governor:

I am so impressed with the importance of the situation that I am troubling you again.

I believe you have an opportunity to take the peace negotiations out of the hands of the Pope and hold them in your own. Governmental Germany realizes that no one excepting you is in a position to enforce peace terms. The Allies must succumb to your judgment and Germany is not much better off. Badly as the Allied cause is going, Germany is in a worse condition. It is a race now of endurance, with Germany as likely to go under first as any of the Entente Powers.

Germany and Austria are a seething mass of discontent. The Russian Revolution has shown the people their power and it has put the fear of God into the hearts of the imperialists.

A statement from you regarding the aims of this country would bring about almost revolution in Germany in the event the existing government dared to oppose them. The mistake has been made over and over again in the Allied countries in doing and saying the things that best helped the militarists. The German people are told and believe that the Allies desire not only to dismember them, but to make it economically impossible to live after the war. They are therefore welded together with their backs to the wall.

A statement from you setting forth the real issues would have an enormous effect and would probably bring about such an upheaval in Germany as we desire. While the submarine campaign gives them hope, it is a deferred hope, and the government, not less than the people, are fearful what may happen in the interim. What is needed, it seems to me, is a firm tone, full of determination, but yet breathing a spirit of liberalism and justice that will make the people of the Central Powers feel safe in your hands. You could say again that our people had entered this fight with fixed purpose and high courage and would continue to fight until a new order of liberty and justice for all people was brought about and some agreement reached by which such another war could never again occur.

You can make a statement that will not only be the undoing of autocratic Germany, but one that will strengthen the hands of the Russian liberals in their purpose to mold their country into a mighty republic.

I pray that you may not lose this great opportunity.

Affectionately yours,
E. M. HOUSE.

Wilson Speaks for Allies

Col. House was by no means unaware of the opposing opinion which held that the Pope's offer, inspired by the Germans and Austrians, indicated their failing strength and was designed merely to save them from the just consequences of a war which they had started and made the most brutal in history. Ambassador Jusserand wrote very definitely that any peace based upon pre-war boundaries would mean the defeat of everything for which the Allies had been fighting. He shared with President Wilson a suspicion of the promises of the existing rulers of Germany.

President Wilson finally decided to reply in formal fashion to the Pope and to base his reply, like his Flag Day speech, upon the doctrine of peace to the German people and war on the German government. He centered his note, as he wrote to Col. House, on the point that it was impossible to accept the word of the existing rulers of Germany. This in itself might serve to weaken German confidence in their leaders. He continued with the assurance that the Allies did not desire the political or economic annihilation of Germany and hinted strongly that reconciliation with a liberalized Germany might be possible. He disavowed explicitly the threat made in certain Allied quarters of an economic war against Germany after the peace, and specifically guaranteed his opposition to "punitive damages, the dismemberment of empires, the establishment of selfish and exclusive economic leagues." The essence of the reply, then, was a refusal to consider a peace reconciliation concluded with the present rulers of Germany; but an invitation to the German liberals to co-operate in a new and better world organization.

House to President

Magnolia, Massachusetts
August 24, 1917

Dear Governor:

You have again written a declaration of human liberty . . . . I am sure it is the wise, the statesmanlike, and the right way to answer the Pope's peace overtures. England and France will not like some of it, notably where on page three you say that "no peace can rest upon political or economic restrictions meant to benefit some nations and cripple others, upon vindictive action of any sort, or any kind of revenge or deliberate injury."

And again on page four where you say: "Punitive damages, the dismemberment of empires, the establishment of selfish and economic leagues, we deem childish, etc." But you have the right of it, and are fully justified in laying down the fundamentals of a new and greater international morality.

America will not and ought not to fight for the maintenance of the old, narrow, and selfish order of things. You are blazing a new path, and the world must follow, or be lost again in the meshes of unrighteous intrigue.

I am cabling Balfour expressing my personal hope that England, France and Italy will accept your answer as also theirs.

I am, with an abiding affection,
Your devoted
E. M. HOUSE.

The President's note to the Pope, which was published on August 29, evoked general commendation. I am delighted, wrote Mr. Wilson to House, that you thought the reply what it should be and that it has, on the whole, been so well received. Dr. Alderman, of the University of Virginia, later wrote to House that of all Wilson's messages it touched the "high-water mark of his papers in its breadth and dignity and beauty." The day of its appearance Lord Grey said of Wilson's messages, "One after the other they go to the real root of the matter and fill me with satisfaction." Lord Robert Cecil cabled to House in the same vein: "We greatly admire the note and it has been received with much satisfaction by our press."

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

...y people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

SHREVEPORT'S RADIO LIFE UP TO AIR CZARS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—(INS).—Confronted with a truckload of affidavits testifying that Station KWKH, Shreveport, La., supplies high-class and amusing entertainment, the Federal Radio Commission today took under advisement the controversy between W. H. Henderson, the station's operator, and Station KVOO of Tulsa, Okla., which has applied for Henderson's wave-length.

The KVOO Station is owned by William G. Skelly, oil millionaire, Republican National Committeeman in Oklahoma, and a powerful factor in the Hoover victory in that state in November.

"HELLO, WORLD!"

Henderson is known to radio listeners everywhere for his "Hello, World," and his 'Dog-gone it!" to say nothing of his frequently and candidly expressed opinions about things in general.

The Skelly people contended Henderson slandered Skelly by intimating over the air that he was connected with the Teapot Dome scandal.

TRUCKLOAD OF "O. K."

Henderson countered by sending to Washington a truck load of affidavits, coming from more than 160,000 people, testifying to their enjoyment of his programs.

A decision is not expected for some weeks. Meanwhile Henderson will continue his "Hello world."

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, just a healing, soothing vegetable laxative mixed with olive oil.

No griping is the 'keynote' of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Merely Margy, An Awfully Sweet Girl

Story by Lloyd Mayer

"My dear, I was PRACticably enRAGED enough to gargle BUTtermilk because MOTHer thought it would be SIMply salUbrious to invite a lot of strange FEmales in for TEA to MEET me, and she and DADdy were kind of conGRATulating themselves that I wasn't going to encounter any MEN at this poisonous affair, my dear—can you COPE with it? GOSH, I was simply LIVid, because ALL these FOUL looking SHIMmy-fluffers arrived and sat HEAVily in CORners imBIbing TEA and SANDwiches and things, and sort of cooing little NOTHings at each other until I honestly thought I'd go MAD and BITE myself, so I sort of WANdered OFF vaguely and discovered BASil HIding somewheres to escape this inVASION of weird WOMen and MOTHer and daddy were comPLETEly baffled and nonPLUSSED because they couldn't IMAGine whither I'd dePARTed all of a sudden, but BASil and I had a terribly intimate TALK and there was this cunning STATue effect of CUPID with a BUSted BOW and, my dear, I simply COULDn't reSIST telling BASil I bet Cupid had busted his BOW on some COLD-hearted MAN—can you BEAR it? GOSH, this Basil's inTRIguing, my dear! I mean he's so inDIFferent, sort of, that I'm perfectly MAD about him at this point only of course I've never let on and I'm conVINCED that's the WHOLE reason he hasn't proPOSED or anything, my dear—I mean I ACtually AM!'

STILLS SEIZED, WOMAN HELD IN DRY RAIDS

Two 100-gallon stills, a liquor-laden automobile and large quantities of moonshine were seized in four raids by Federal prohibition agents yesterday. Three persons including a woman, were arrested.

The stills were found in the home of Walter Conlavac, 32, Willock road, Brentwood, and in a residence at 391 Willock road, a short distance from the Conlavac home, agents said. Conlavac was arrested.

The home of Anna Longo, 47, 127 Carver street, yielded the raiders 80 gallons of wine and large quantities of homebrew, the raiders reported. The Longo woman furnished bond for a hearing.

Fifty gallons of moonshine discovered in an automobile led to the arrest of Herman De Larosa, 41, 1705 Howard street, alleged owner, and seizure of the machine at Vinial and East Ohio street. For the second time in two weeks, the agents raided the store of Sam Brookner, 61, 66 Roberts street, confiscated four pints of moonshine and arrested Brookner, they reported.

Ohio M.E. Ministers Get New Pastorates

NEW PHILADELPHIA, O., Feb. 22.—Announcement was made last night by the Rev. W. B. Armington, Canton district superintendent of the Methodist Episcopal Church, that the Rev. P. B. Schaffner, pastor here since 1926, will be transferred to the pastorate of the Brown Memorial Church, Youngstown, succeeding the Rev. W. S. Smith, who will be assigned to the Mt. Vernon pastorate. The Rev. R. S. Mayer, Mt. Vernon pastor, will succeed E. R. Slutz, Cambridge district superintendent, who died recently. Mr. Schaffner's successor will be the Rev. C. J. Black, of Kent. Changes will take place March 1.

Rabies May Bring Animal Quarantine

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Feb. 22.—A general quarantine on all animals along the Greene-Washington County line in the vicinity of Marianna was being considered today following a conference between P. L. Headley and Jesse Mounts, state agents of the Animal Industry Department for Greene and Washington counties, respectively, as the result of a rabies epidemic which started in Greene County and spread to Marianna.

HE COUGHED SO BAD PEOPLE STARED-HAD TO LEAVE "MOVIE"

His Cough Worried Family. Ordinary Remedies Did Him No Good.

COUGHED WORSE NIGHTS OR WHEN INDOORS

"My husband months ago saw a doctor and was told there was nothing wrong with him, but that cough clung to him night and day. He would come from outdoors into a theatre or the house and soon he'd be hacking and barking terrible. Right in the midst of a movie he'd have to leave his seat. Neighbors commented on it.

He even took Cod Liver Oil, although he hated it, and quit before it did him any good. I finally told our doctor and he said: "Men are all alike and you can't blame them much, so go get him a big bottle of Linonine, it is a nice tasting Flaxseed, Eucalyptus, etc. mixture, far better than Cod Liver Oil and works quick.

RESULTS WONDERFUL

"He liked 'Linonine' so well he took it before meals until the whole bottle was gone. It not only stopped his cough—it built him up fine. I never saw medicine work such wonders before. Anybody with a cold or cough should use Linonine—and children love it."

A cough is dangerous this time of year. Well stocked druggists have Linonine, 50c or $1.00 size—or send dollar bill for large bottle parcels post. Kerr Chemical Co., Brentwood, Md.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A DRESS FOR MANY OCCASIONS (FOR MOTHER'S GIRL.)

Printed chiffon or taffeta, crepe de chine or georgette are suggested for this design, if made without sleeves, for dance or party wear. With sleeves, velvet or wool crepe would be pleasing. The front shows soft fullness at the shoulders. The skirt is gathered between the printed scallops of the waist.

The pattern for this pleasing model is cut in four sizes: 4, 6, 8 and 10 years. To make the dress for a 10-year size without sleeves, as pictured in the large view, will require 2 yards of material 36 inches wide or wider. If made with sleeves, as shown in the small view, 2½ yards will be required. To finish neck and armscye edges as illustrated will require 4¼ yards of bias binding.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

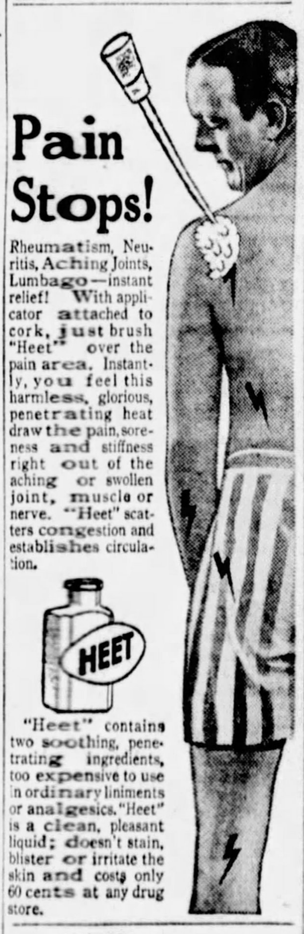
Pain Stops!

Rheumatism, Neuritis, Aching Joints, Lumbago—instant relief! With applicator attached to cork, just brush "Heet" over the pain area. Instantly, you feel this harmless, glorious, penetrating heat draw the pain, soreness and stiffness right out of the aching or swollen joint, muscle or nerve. "Heet" scatters congestion and establishes circulation.



"Heet" contains two soothing, penetrating ingredients, too expensive to use in ordinary liniments or analgesics. "Heet" is a clean, pleasant liquid; doesn't stain, blister or irritate the skin and costs only 60 cents at any drug store.

HIS DAD A CROSSPATCH

Faulty digestion may kill children's love

The father whose stomach is constantly at war with itself often scolds and punishes his children undeservedly. If he knew how bitterly they remember his abuse he would change his disposition by giving attention to his digestion.

If the father of your children is a victim of stomach trouble, urge him to take, before each meal, a tablespoonful of Triner's Bitter Wine, the pleasant tonic laxative made of California wine, cascara and medicinal herbs. Then mark the change in him—the quick return of his natural good humor and appetite. Potatoes and other starchy foods yield quickly to this different, digestant. At all druggists—75c and $1.25.

TRINER'S BITTER WINE

Deafness defeated

Head noises, earache, roaring hissing sounds and discharge yield quickly to Aurine. Those afflicted will be surprised how promptly it relieves. Aurine corrects ear drum trouble so that even whispers are audible. It is inexpensive, easy to use and comes complete.

Felicia May Lose Custody Of Son Because of Her Love for Dick

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Bound for Reno to get a divorce, and ashamed of the fact because he believes the wreck of his home signifies a colossal failure on his part, Dick Stuyvesant meets Felicia Brett on the train. He lies to her about his destination, saying he is going to Sacramento. She tells him she is on the way to San Francisco to join her father. At the hotel in Reno he finds that an old friend, John Berkeley, affectionately known as J. B., has invited him to share his suite. J. B., confirmed bachelor and rake, hears Dick's story of his marital crash and urges him to forget all about it and take life as he finds it. Dick is half convinced that J. B.'s outlook on life is correct, but he decides he will not give way to such a useless existence so long as there are in the world good women like the girl he met on the train. The next day Dick sees Felicia lunching with two college boys and Peg Hodge, with whom she is visiting. She does not see him and Dick, hurt, and angry and suspecting the worst, plunges into the gayety of the divorce colony. At a party given that night by Lola Penny to celebrate the granting of her divorce, he flirts and drinks with Betty Rogers, a snappy little Southerner also in Reno for "The Cure." They are sobered as Lola drinks poison. Meanwhile, in New York, Felicia's husband, Alexander Brett, aged and cruel retired statesman, tells Felicia's mother, Adrienne Henley-Martin, that he will force his wife to return home without scandal. She asks him what he plans to do. Dick and Felicia meet in Reno at a dinner party given at the home of Judge Cooper. A serious discussion of divorce at the dinner table paves the way for a talk later between Dick and Felicia, which clears up the misunderstanding between them, and they leave for a night auto ride. Ann fears for Felicia's safety as she sees her depart with Dick.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER V.

FELICIA drew the collar of her evening wrap about her throat—even in summer Reno's nights were bitterly cold—and leaned back in the front seat of the roadster beside Dick Stuyvesant. The moon, a luminous globe, was still rising, and in its pale light Felicia looked like some lady from Elizabeth's court, a pleated taffeta collar framing her oval face like a ruff.

Her eyes gleamed with excitement. This, she told herself, with a little thrill, was the sort of thing of which Alexander Brett had always suspected her!

"Why did we lie to each other on the train?" she asked, abruptly.

Dick smiled at her. "Why did you?" he countered.

"I suppose," she admitted, "I was ashamed. Divorce—it's an ugly word, isn't it?"

He nodded. "I think I've been almost afraid of Reno," he said. "The cheapening of things that are real, the mockery and the cynicism of disillusioned people . . ."

For a moment she was silent. "Sometimes I wonder—I haven't had much in my life that's real!" she said, faintly.

"Nor I," he murmured. And now a long silence fell.

The city lay suddenly behind, and they headed straight into the night, with a smooth road beneath them and the great star-spangled vault of the sky above.

Dick was intensely conscious of the girl beside him. Young and lovely, struggling like himself to believe in things that were fine, striving to find truth!

He thought of Betty Rogers, yet he wasn't ashamed of last night's party; that sort of thing made one appreciate all the more beauty such as this. So long as one could continue to believe in the existence of beauty, ugliness couldn't hurt . . .

"What are you thinking?" she asked him.

He tried to tell her. It was good to talk to someone who did not feel the necessity to be smart, to say "And how!" or "You would! You're the type!" or "Why bring that up?" at measured intervals. His thoughts shot back to Constance, his wife. "Really, Dick, you're so naive!" she used to say. Conversation, to Constance, was a give-and-take of comment on other people's affairs. Abstract ideas and beliefs she regarded as juvenile.

"J. B.," said Dick, "thinks that life is meant merely to be enjoyed. Take things as they come—".

"It's an easy philosophy," Felicia commented, "but it doesn't seem to me that one gets anything worth while that way. Things that come cheaply are apt to be cheap!" She bent forward; the dashlight illuminating the edges of her brown hair so that her head seemed surrounded by a misty halo of fine gold as she peered at her watch. "Goodness, it's after one o'clock!" she cried.

"I'll take you home," he said, "but I don't want to!"

He swung the car to the edge of the road, preparatory to turning, and in the moonlight he saw her eyes, starry and alive, questioning his last remark. Something in their depths held him.

Then, without warning, Dick Stuyvesant forgot everything except the one, living fact that he wanted to sweep this girl into his arms, to crush her sweet, yielding body against him, to kiss the soft cheeks, the tremulous lips. All their words were forgotten; nothing else had reality. Then he lost even the consciousness of his desire, as she swayed toward him and his mouth crushed down upon hers.

"Please—" Her voice was choked, frightened, but he held her ruthlessly, kissing again and again her soft lips.

Sanity returned to him slowly. He released her, staring at her in wonder.

"Oh, Lord!" He brushed his hand across his eyes. "Honestly, I didn't mean to do that. I must have been crazy! Please—"

Then swiftly, silently, he drove her home and without a word she stepped from the car.

"Felicia," his heart begged in his voice as she hesitated ever so slightly on the walk. "Let me come tomorrow and tell you how sorry I am—really—"

Slowly, without facing him, she nodded, then fled in silence up the steps to the house.

J. B. was waiting for him at the hotel. "Well—what luck?" he demanded yawning.

"It was awful," said Dick. "I made a hundred kinds of a fool of myself—"

J. B. listened in silence until Dick had finished. "Well, of all the darned saps!" he commented, then, "Will you ever learn anything about women? He laughed derisively. "We have with us tonight, Sir Galahad Stuyvesant, defender of—"

Of course J. B. would think him a fool! He was puzzled and bothered. Strange, the way things happen! He hadn't had the slightest intention of kissing Felicia Brett—until suddenly he had found himself doing so. Well, what of it? he asked himself. Why all this introspection? He tried to dismiss the memory—yet somehow he knew, deep in his heart, that Felicia was not, nor could ever be an ordinary casual acquaintance one meets and forgets. . . . Yet he could not efface one haunting memory: Though she struggled her lips had clung, giving him kiss for kiss.

Felicia was still trembling when she entered the Hodge's house and tip-toed quietly up the stairs.

"Is that you, Felicia?" Ann Hodge, in a dressing gown, appeared in the hallway.

Felicia would have given a great deal not to have had to talk at that moment. She wanted to undress to slip quietly into bed and lie still in the darkness. She was dazed by the force of the emotion which had swept over her, bewildered by what had taken place.

"Darling, I want to talk with you." Ann Hodge was gentle but determined. "I don't want you to think that I'm a busybody, Felicia, but I have to protect you! Tell me, is Brett quite willing to have you get a divorce?"

Felicia's chin tilted defiantly. "He can't stop me!" she cried.

"And your boy," Mrs. Hodge persisted. "He will let you have little Alex?"

"Let me!" the girl echoed. "Of course he will! Little Alex is mine, my own baby! Why, what do you mean?"

"I don't think you understand, my dear, what Brett could do—if he wished. You are to stay here in Reno three months to establish your residence. Do you realize, Felicia, that you will be constantly watched, that the courts maintain a surveillance over you, over everyone who comes here for a divorce?"

Felicia opened her eyes very wide. "They'll watch me? Why?"

"A great many cases are thrown out of court, my dear. You have to prove a legitimate reason for a divorce—as well as residence. Reno is not Paris." She looked squarely into Felicia's face. "It will not be wise for you to go about much with men, Felicia."

The girl flushed. "You mean Dick Stuyvesant! You mean—why, I told him I'd go for a drive with him tomorrow!"

Mrs. Hodge shook her head. "I think you'd better telephone him that you've changed your mind."

Felicia sprang to her feet. "I won't!" she cried out. "Ann, for seven years I've been ordered about like a child. Now I'm through. I'm going to do exactly what I please!"

"And if," said Ann firmly, "you do exactly what you please, you may just as well make up your mind now that if Brett protests your being given custody of the boy you will never see your child again!"

Felicia stared at her. Then her eyes blazed with resolution. "I'm going straight back to New York and get him!" she announced.

Ann Hodge bit her lip. "Are you sure that Brett will let you take him?"

Felicia still flushed from Dick Stuyvesant's kiss, radiant with youth and confidence, laughed contemptuously. "He can't stop me!" she said. "I'll get my boy—if I have to kidnap him!"

Creamy Apple Sauce

To make creamy apple sauce, cut the apples in quarters, leaving in the cores, and not pealing. When they have been cooked thoroughly, strain, and afterward beat with a wooden spoon. The sugar should be added after cooking.

Curdled Custard

Queen of the World -:- By Fanny Darrell

IN THE realm of love there are many monarchs, scepter-wielding and stern. But there is only a single queen, and her crown is motherhood.

Fortified by love, enriched by the gems of happiness, serenity and peace, the Queen of the World rules with a smile. She has no need of armament, for is not love invincible? She disdains material riches, for her coffers are filled with more satisfying metal—a baby's smile, a lover's homage.

She seeks no other lands to conquer—this queen. For love is her domain, a baby her "captive." And as she envelops the gurgling prisoner in her caresses she croons a lullaby of peace; she has no battles to win, no subjects to subdue. Motherhood is a fearless queen whose throne is never threatened.

LOVE'S AWAKENING

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge's Suggestion Gives Promise of Harmonious Solution

NO sooner were the words out of my mouth than I realized that I had put my request to Harry Underwood most banally. But it is an awkward thing to ask a man to curb his affectionate manner toward his wife when his stepdaughter is present, and only my anxiety for Lillian, so torn between her love for her child and her loyalty to her husband, had given me courage to put so impudent a query.

I did not dare look at him. He never has been noted for the evenness of his temper, although, at most times, he is the soul of jovial good humor. But I knew that when he did lose control of his temper, his black rage was not a pretty thing to see. I had heard the quick astonished intake of his breath at my question, was conscious that his breathing was a bit uneven, and my eyes, carefully focused below his face, saw his hand, resting on the lowered open window of the car, grip it so tightly that the veins stood out like blue twisting cords.

Then the hand relaxed, and after a few seconds I was not surprised to hear his throaty chuckle. He is as mercurial as Dicky, with laughter and anger so delicately balanced that one never knows which is to triumph.

"Scared so her back teeth rattle, isn't she?" he asked quizzically, and my smile as I looked at him and nodded with a bit tremulous.

"Suppose you snap out of it," he suggested in matter-of-fact tones, "and tell your Uncle Dudley just what's on your mind. Better spill the whole thing. No use scamping the job."

But it was no part of my plan to tell Lillian's husband how concerned Katherine and I were over a possible nervous breakdown. I knew his masterfulness, and that he would at once take matters in his own hands, insist upon her stopping all work and going somewhere for a complete rest—demands which would completely upset her. I was reasonably sure that once Marion was safely in school, with the strain of witnessing her dislike for her stepfather removed, Lillian would quickly regain her usual poise and strength. If we could but tide over the few days remaining of the vacation I had faith that Marion's absorption in her school would make her forget her prejudices.

"It's only this," I began slowly. "You probably know that Marion is acting like a spoiled baby about you."

"She is?" he queried in patent surprise. "I had hoped she was getting over it. She was sweet today about the car."

"Yes, she was," I agreed, "and I think you are right. She is getting over her silly prejudices slowly. But—I have noticed that she is over-sensitive about the familiar and affectionate tone and words you use toward Lillian—oh, I don't mean—"

"Go on," he said quietly. "I'm not an absolute numbskull. I understand that you are dealing with Marion's reaction alone, not the thing which causes it."

"Thank you," I breathed. "But I wonder if you can understand fully that the real reason for all this is the fact that to Marion you are an absolute stranger. She cannot realize that you were Lillian's husband and comrade during the years of her enforced exile from Marion. For years Marion has been everything to her mother. To her your entering their life is as bizarre as if you had met and married Lillian but a few weeks ago. We must give her time."

"I see," he said slowly then added quickly:

"Look here! What's the matter with my staying in the city with Dicky until it's time to come out and take Marion up to school? If Lil needs me for anything I can get out here in a jiffy. There are a million things I want to do in the city anyway, and my going in will leave Marion and her mother together for these last days. If you can persuade Lil to drive the car they might even go away for two or three days on some trip. What do you think?"

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Wedding Details

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

I am planning to have a simple home wedding. Where do the bridesmaid and best man stand during the ceremony?

2. If the bride comes in with her father does the groom come in alone?

3. When do the bridesmaid and best man come in?

4. In a double ring ceremony who carries the rings, if there is no ring bearer?

5. Is it necessary for the bride and groom to stand under a bell?

ANXIOUS.

THE bridesmaids and maid or matron of honor (one or all) stand on the left of the ceremony-place, on the left of the bride. The best man stands on the right, on the right of the groom.

2 and 3. First the clergyman enters, alone, and takes his stand before the ceremony-place, facing the guests. Then the groom and his best man enter, together, and they take their place on the right of the ceremony-place, facing the door through which the bride and her father are to enter. Then comes the bridal attendant, who walks to the left and takes her place. Last come the bride and her father.

4. The best man.

5. No, it is not necessary, or customary.

No Page Boy

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

At a church wedding where there are to be six bridesmaids and a maid-of-honor, best man and six ushers, is it necessary to have a flower girl and page boy?

2. At the reception when the bride throws the bouquet, are all the single girls included or just the bridesmaids? A. M.

NO. It is never necessary to have children in the wedding party, no matter how many adult attendants there are to be. And it is the rare wedding at which there is a page.

2. Usually all of the bride's girl friends are included.

Miss or Mrs.

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

A says that when a married woman is in business she should be addressed by her marriage name, for instance, Mrs. Garfield."

B says she should be addressed as "Miss Garfield"—as it is a better business form.

C thinks she should be addressed by her maiden name. Then it would be correct to use the form "Miss Blanck."

Please tell me who is right. I. K.

THERE isn't any "correct" or "incorrect" about this: it is entirely a matter of choice and convenience. If a married woman in business wishes to keep her social and professional worlds separate, she may more or less accomplish it by using her maiden name in her world of business, and her formal married name in her social world.

I know some women who use the form that B suggests, but this to me seems thoroughly inconsistent and illogical. However, if it is practicable for them, there is no real reason why they should not use this form. Actually, however, it is very confusing, and people who have business contacts with them and who know that they are married, are constantly wondering whether to say "Miss" or "Mrs."

"Attacking" Oysters

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

What is the correct way to eat oysters on the half shell?

A. B. G.

SPEAR the oyster with the oyster fork as gently as possible, with the full knowledge that you must eat the beast in one mouthful whether you like it or not! If cocktail sauce is served with the oysters, in the small container in the center of the plate, the oyster may be dipped in the sauce first.

Meditations of a Wife

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Where to Find Your Ideal Woman

NO MAN probably ever chose a wife by locality, and yet that's pretty nearly as good a guide to a woman's character and personality as any you can think of.

* * *

There is almost as much difference between Southern women and Western women as there is between Florida oranges and California oranges; and as much difference between New England girls and New York girls as there is between the apples that come from those parts of the country.

HELEN ROWLAND

* * *

Any man with the price of a railroad ticket can find in this broad country almost any type, style or variety of woman that appeals to his boyish fancy.

* * *

If you must have a "show-piece" for your drawing room, a woman who knows how to wear clothes, who is the last word from Paris, and to whom good grooming and swank are positively next to Godliness, don't bother to go to the Rue de la Paix. Take the first train for New York.

* * *

The New York girl may spend your money till it hurts, but she will do you credit wherever you go and serve as a show-window to advertise your success to the world. Moreover, you will find her interesting and sophisticated, a jolly little pal, who will wink at your peccadilloes, never make you go to church, be generous to your faults, and probably never bore you.

* * *

On the other hand, if you are a sweet, old-fashioned man, who believes that "man is the natural head of the house," and who has a highly developed ego, go South, young man, go South!

* * *

There you will find the combination coquette-clinging-vine-and-salve-spreader, who will make you feel like a great big Conquering Hero, in fifteen minutes, and like Lindbergh and the Prince of Wales in the next ten.

* * *

The Southern girl is one of the few specimens of her sex, now left, who still believes that the chief aim of woman's life is to please and charm men, and that of all "woman's rights," the most important is the Right Husband! She may be more skillful at using her eyes than she is with a broom or a darning needle. But the way she can feed the applesauce would reduce any man's inferiority complex to a mere nothing.

* * *

If you are looking for a thrifty, comfortable, dependable wife—the kind of girl your Mother would pick out—try Boston and points East. There, in New England, still exists the woman who will keep your socks darned, your house in order and your feet in the straight and narrow way. The girl who can make a pie with one hand and manage a man with the other; who will be your guide, philosopher and housekeeper—and incidentally your conscience.

* * *

And if you are looking for a running-mate and working-mate—a breezy, peppy GO-GETTER, turn your face toward the setting sun. They grow them big and sweet and strong out West! The Western girl will jack up your ambition and put her hand to the wheel beside you—but she'll take no nonsense. She'll rush and pull and shove you toward the goal she sets for you. But if you're looking for a lullaby, don't marry a human alarm clock!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Ear Pains May Lead to Serious Trouble

IT is not at all uncommon to have an infection or contagious disease cause more or less inflammation of the lining membrane of the nose. It is very easy for the trouble to creep up the tube from the nose to the ear and produce inflammation in that organ.

DR. COPELAND

Even though the attack of fever has been very mild and the little patient hardly sick at all, there may be serious trouble in the ear. The parent should be on the outlook for trouble and report it to the doctor as early as possible.

Sometimes the child seems to be almost or quite well. All at once he becomes irritable and the fever returns. There is extreme restlessness. Occasionally the child cries out suddenly, or may continue to cry.

When there are paroxysms of crying with no apparent cause in a child who has been sick, do not fail to examine the ear. All too often that is the seat of the trouble.

Earache is bad enough in an adult. If you ever had it you have an idea how terrible it is. It seems as if a red-hot spike was being driven into the brain.

Think of a little child having such a symptom. You can well understand why it cries out in agony.

Measles is one of the diseases which has earache as a symptom. Scarlet fever is another. Influenza may have ear trouble as one of the many serious complications.

Have you ever thought how near the ear is to the brain? Back of the ear and opening into the middle ear are the honeycomb cavities in the bone.

These spaces, known as the mastoid cells, are very near to the inner surface of the bone. Resting on this table of bone is the brain substance, separated by a layer of bone sometimes no thicker than paper.

If the nose and ear contain fluid teeming with pus-producing germs we have all the makings for serious trouble. The germs creep into the honeycomb cells I have mentioned. Pus forms so rapidly that it cannot drain away. In such a case the bony wall may be broken down and the brain itself is bathed in pus.

Bear in mind that you must not neglect baby's running ear, or for that matter, anybody's running ear. The ear is too close to the brain to be overlooked as a cause of trouble.

All ear symptoms demand a consultation with your family doctor. He will advise as to what should be done.

Earache is such a common thing among children that we are apt to grow careless about it. It is unwise to disregard the warning. In every instance give it the attention it deserves.

Answers to Health Questions

M. S. Q.—I am 17 years of age, have never worn high-heeled shoes, and would like to know if they are detrimental to my health and how?

A.—Too high heels are bad as they throw the body weight in such a way as to produce strain.

* * *

B. F. Q.—How much should a girl aged 20, 5 feet 5¼ inches tall weigh, also a girl aged 17, 5 feet 3¾ inches tall?

2.—Is white bread more fattening than potatoes?

3.—Is once a week two often to shampoo the hair?

A.—They should weigh respectively about 125 and 118 pounds.

2.—No.

3.—No.

* * *

R. B. Q.—Is it possible to inherit a discontented nature?

2.—Can a nature of this kind be cured or helped in anyway?

A.—Yes.

2.—I would suggest that you practice self-control. Self-control must be cultivated and does not come over night. Be patient and make up your mind not to let things upset you. Persist in this attitude and you will soon find that you are able to control yourself to a great extent.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Saturday, February 23.

MAJOR planets are in powerful operation on this day, betokening high aims and great enterprise wished to gratifying conclusions by indomitable will, perseverance and hard labor. The energies will be under high stimuli, but well held to dependable manipulation by the restraining and responsible figure of Luna, trine Saturn. There is need of this, since there are certain menaces to employment and as to subtle underminings or treacheries in transactions with large interests. Personal affairs also give concern.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of great ambitions and highly stimulated initiative pushed to the goal by resolution, persistency and unswerving hard work. This will be required to offset some menaces from subtle and sinister oppositions as well as friction in dealing with those in places of power and authority. Employment is in jeopardy. Home affairs annoy.

Menu for Sunday's Dinner

By PRUDENCE PENNY

Stuffed Celery.
Baked Ham.
Pickled Red Cabbage.
Glazed Sweet Potatoes.
Twentieth Century Salad.
Cream Cake.
Coffee.

THERE are ways and ways of stuffing celery. For instance you may stuff it with cream cheese, and decorate it with a large halved walnut. Or you may cream together two tablespoons of Roquefort cheese, a cream cheese, and a finely minced pimento and stuff the celery with that mixture.

Or you may choose a favorite way of mine, and put enough stuffed olives through the food chopper to make a half cup and add six finely minced sardines with enough mayonnaise to blend.

Any one of those methods will make the celery doubly good to eat.

* * *

THEN we'll choose a baked ham for th piece de resistance this Sunday. And something tells me there will be little or no resistance! Soak and scrub the ham. When ready to cook, make a dough of thick paste of rye flour and water, and spread over the ham, encasing it completely.

Set on the rack in a baking pan into a hot oven so that the paste may cook, then lower the temperature and let cook for about five hours.

About an hour before it is done, make a hole in the paste and pour in a cup of hot cider; repeat this twice if needed, or in place of the cider, use the liquid in the pan. When tender, remove both crust and skin.

Brush with beaten yolk of egg, sprinkle with brown sugar and rye bread crumbs and return to oven to brown. The crust may be reserved intact and used to preserve the left-over ham—if there IS any left-over ham!

* * *

PERHAPS you might like the recipe for glazed sweet potatoes again, so here it is: Wash, pare and parboil about four large sweet potatoes. Drain, cut lengthwise into slices about a half inch thick and lay in a baking dish.

Mix ¼ cup of butter, ½ cup brown sugar and ¼ cup of boiling water together and spread over the potatoes. Bake until they are tender, basting often with the syrup in the pan.

Twentieth Century salad gives every indication of being an exceedingly modern, up-to-the-minute salad! And here's the way you prepare it: Combine two tablespoons of chopped green peppers, one tablespoon of finely minced pimentoes, a half teaspoon of salt and 1½ cups of creamed cottage cheese. Work them all together thoroughly and form into balls an inch in diameter.

Place three balls in the center of a slice of pineapple which has been arranged on crisp lettuce leaves. Place a halved pecan or walnut on the top of each ball. Mix your salad dressing with two or three teaspoons of whipped cream and top each serving with the dressing.

* * *

PEAR SALAD DESSERT—Arrange half a pear, hollow side up, on a bed if crisp lettuce and sprinkle with candied ginger. Cover each half pear with two tablespoons French dressing, a tablespoon of whipped cream slightly sweetened—use the proportions of one teaspoon of powdered sugar to six tablespoons of cream—and over all sprinkle cream cheese that has been put through a ricer. Serve cold with a dash of paprika in the center.

* * *

FRENCH FRUIT SALAD—Peel two oranges, separate into sections, and remove the skin from each section. Peel three bananas and cut into quarter-inch slices. Remove the skins and seeds from one-half pound of grapes; break a dozen walnut meats into small pieces. Mix all together, and arrange on lettuce leaves. Serve with this fruit salad dressing:

* * *

FRUIT SALAD DRESSING—Whip a cup of heavy cream until stiff. Gradually add a tablespoon of powdered sugar, two teaspoons each of orange, lemon and pineapple juice, a teaspoon of maraschino cherry juice and five cherries finely chopped. Prepare this dressing just before using.

And, for a delightful dessert, try this:

* * *

ORANGE AND BANANA WHIP—Mash three ripe bananas through a strainer; add one-quarter cup of powdered sugar and a quarter cup of orange juice. Whip a half pint of heavy cream until stiff, then add the bananas and beat lightly with a fork. Put in a cold place until ready to serve, and just before serving, top each sherbet glassful of the whip with red jelly.

* * *

CRANBERRY JELLY ROLL—CRANBERRIES make a marvelous dessert! Have you ever tried a Cranberry Jelly Roll? It is a favorite with my family and my guests—especially when my guests bring their children with them. There's something about a Cranberry Jelly Roll that makes a personal appeal to children—and they're very quick indeed to make a personal answer to that appeal.

Here's how you make the Cranberry Jelly Roll: 3 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon baking powoder, 1-3 teaspoon salt, 3 tablespoons cold water, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Beat eggs and sugar till quite thick; add water, then flour, salt, baking powder, sifted together twice. Line a shallow pan with greased paper; pour in the batter evenly, and bake in a quick oven about 12 minutes. Turn out onto a cloth or paper sprinkled with sugar; tear off the paper and spread with either cranberry jelly or warm strained cranberry sauce. Roll up quickly and sprinkle with powdered sugar.

Cranberry Velvet is all that its name implies; and it makes an especially light, tempting and wholesome dessert for the children. We do seem partial to desserts for children, today.

* * *

MARSHMALLOW SALAD—Four oranges, two bananas, one cup marshmallows, three-fourth cup cream, yolks of two eggs, two tablespoons sugar, two tablespoons lemon juice, sprinkling salt, one cup fresh grated cocoanut.

To Give Inexpensive China and Glassware Brilliant Sparkle

Simple New Way Does Wonders and Is Kind to Pretty Hands—Use Any Ordinary Soap

Even the most inexpensive table china and glassware can be made to look far better than its price in a simple way. It can be given the brilliancy and sparkle of the most costly kinds; and glassware particularly is judged by its sparkle.

Simply add one teaspoonful of the cleansing preparation called CLIMALENE to your water. Use the same soap you ordinarily do, but use only ONE-FOURTH the usual quantity. Wash as usual.

This preparation is a grease dissolvent, while soap is, strictly speaking, a grease. Thus it gives shine and sparkle while soap often leaves a greasy film that's hard to get rid of even with the most careful drying.

Most hotels use this method to make glass and china gleam. Housewives like it not only for this reason, but because it acts to soften and whiten skin fabric of the hands.

Results are surprising. Try it. Get at any grocery store in 10c or 25c package. Just ask your grocer for CLIMALENE.

PATRICIA PITT'S SPRIGHTLY COMMENT ON PITTSBURGH'S SOCIETY HAPPENINGS

Frances Gittings Forsyth Latest Bud Added To 1929 Bouquet

WITH Easter only five weeks off, one might expect spring weddings to be the sole thought of that imaginary entity, the cosmic social mind. But with snow piled winterishly deep, changing the landscape sketch to one in white and black, those who are interested in social activities these Lenten days are planning for events that are associated with winter months, I find. Down in Philadelphia the stay-at-homes are having a diminutive season entertaining for brides-to-be of March and April. Here almost no spring dates have been named yet, though I've learned there'll be a goodly number made known before many more weeks.

Plans for next winter, especially if they are for those charming young society members, debutantes, are most attractive. And I'm still hearing of some charming "seriousnesses" of our socially prominent families who'll come out with that scintillating list I've already named.

* * *

YOUNG Frances Gittings Forsyth, daughter of the James Magees, of Forbes street, will come out next winter, did you know? Her mother hasn't named a definite date for her daughter's debut, I believe.

Just now Frances is traveling in Europe with a small group of subdebs, all of whom are studying as they go. Of course, Paris and Florence have held their interest the longest. Instead of going East to school, Frances studied in the South at the Fernata School, Aiken, S. C.

* * *

FOLLOWING close on the heels of Margaret Mellon Laughlin's marriage to that well-known polo player, Thomas Hitchcock, Jr., we have the engagement of a member of another important Pittsburgh family to an easterner whose name is high in the ranks of polo men. This is the betrothal of Craigie McKay, daughter of the J. Albert McKays, of "Oak Hill," Amberson avenue, to A. Charles Schwartz, of New York.

Perhaps you knew that Craigie is in California, having gone there to attend the polo matches at Pebble Beach, in which Mr. Schwartz is taking part. They are both members of the party of Maj. Metcalfe, one time aide to the Prince of Wales, and Lady Alexandria Metcalfe, who was formerly Lady Alexandria Curzon, daughter of the late Lord and Lady Curzon.

Mr. Schwartz played No. 1 on the Eastcott polo team, which won the Monty Waterbury Cup in 1927, and he is also well known on the turf, being owner of Jumper Jack Horner, the winner of the English Grand National in 1926 and of Kentucky II, winner of the Dwyer stakes in 1927. He was educated at the Berkeley School.

* * *

WHEN society folks begin to return early next month, plans for spring weddings will be revealed. Anna Margaret Snow, daughter of the George Snows, of "Grey Manor," Northumberland street, is now in Bermuda, and will return in March. Whether her engagement to John Nusser Harper, son of the Albert M. Harpers, which was made known early in January, will end in a spring wedding, I'm not sure yet.

* * *

RUMOR has come to me that Darrel Ewing Morrow, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Wilson Morrow, will name a spring date for her marriage to Robert Charles Todd, son of the George A. Todds, of the Schenley Apartments. Their engagement was made known, if my memory serves me rightly, last spring. Just now Darrel is in Coral Gables with her father and mother. They'll be back in mid-March.

* * *

MANY a representative of old families will be in Pittsburgh today to attend the luncheon the Daughters of the American Revolution are giving in the Hotel Schenley in commemoration of George Washington's birthday. Among these is Mrs. Alexander Ennis Patton, of Philadelphia, who is the house guest of her daughter, Mrs. Bennd Janssen. Mrs. Patton is past state regent and past vice president general of the National Society of the D. A. R., by the way.

MISS ELEANOR LOUISE NEVINS, daughter of Mrs. Louis H. Nevins, of Reynolds street, became the bride of Howard Milton Silver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Silver, of Cleveland, at a wedding Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock in the ballroom of the Hotel Schenley. The bride, who was given in marriage by her grandfather, David Rosenthal, wore ivory chantilly lace with a tulle veil arranged in coronet effect with orange blossoms, and she carried jonquils and white lilacs. Her matrons of honor, Mrs. Charles Brown and Mrs. Alfred S. Goorin, sister of the bridegroom, appeared in pale pink chiffon and carried pink roses and snapdragon, while the maids of honor, Miss Flora Koch, of this city, and Miss Margaret Brosius, of Brownsville, wore chartreuse taffeta and carried yellow roses, jonquils, snapdragon and purple iris. Lawrence Silver, of Cleveland, was his brother's best man, and the ushers included Sidney S. Nevins, brother of the bride; Alfred S. Goorin, Herman Arenson, of Pittsburgh, and William Merstein, of Cleveland. Miss Amelia Lockart, of Point Marion, O., sang, accompanied by Mrs. Mabel Davis Rockwell. The bride's mother wore pink chiffon embroidered with crystals, while Mrs. Silver appeared in flowered chiffon. Their corsages were of orchids. A dinner and reception followed the ceremony and later Mr. and Mrs. Silver left for New York to sail for Europe. They will be at home after May 1 in Cleveland.

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Nancy Pritchard, daughter of Mr. Richard Pritchard, of Beaver road, Edgeworth, and Curtis G. Plies, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Plies, of Mt. Pleasant, was solemnized yesterday at 5:30 o'clock in St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Sewickley by the Rev. Myron E. Cole. The bride wore orchid chiffon with a straw picture hat to match, and carried white roses. Her maid of honor, Miss Mae Rainsberg, of Philadelphia, appeared in apple green chiffon with a small hat of straw and felt to match, and her flowers were pink tea roses. John Duff, of Rochester, was best man and the ushers included Lawrence Gibb, of Sewickley, and Frank Strobel, of Edgeworth. Mr. and Mrs. Plies have left for a trip in the Middle West and early next month will be at home in Edgeworth lane, Edgeworth.

* * *

THE marriage of Miss Margaret Lindsay Reber, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W. Franklin Reber, of East End avenue, and Charles Edward Macfarlane, son of Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Macfarlane, of Pittsburgh and Frankfort, Germany, will be solemnized tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the chapel of the East Liberty Presbyterian Church by Dr. Reber, assisted by the Rev. Dr. Stuart Nye Hutchison. Miss Marguerite Dambach, of Ellwood City, will be maid of honor and Miss Jane Elizabeth Irwin, of East Liverpool, and Miss Emily Ritner Alter, of Parnassus, bridesmaids. Miller D. Cooper, of Orange, N. J., will be best man and the ushers will include N. D. Cooper, Landon Fuller and Marshall Kiehl, all of Pittsburgh, and Harold D. Holmes, of Orange, brother-in-law of the bridegroom. A reception in the Penn-Lincoln Hotel ballroom will follow the ceremony.

* * *

OFFICERS of Orient Chapter, O. E. S., of Wilkinsburg, will hold a card party Thursday night, March 7, in the Wilkinsburg Masonic Temple. Bridge, "500" and euchre will be played.

* * *

MISS LEAH ROTHMAN, chairman of entertainment for "Club Georgian," the night club dance to be held Monday night in Webster Hall by the Pittsburgh Section, National Council of Jewish Juniors, has arranged a special program. Miss Rosalyn Krakover, a member of the section, will present several dance interpretations, and there will be dances by Miss Bello Schaffran, also a member of the section, and Bill Pillich. Other features will be Miss Jean Claskey, radio star, and Harry Carr, juvenile impersonator. Dick Liebert will be master of ceremonies.

National Secretary Addresses B. P. W.

BECAUSE of their economic independence, their practical training and their understanding of the male mind, all of which fit them to put into effect the theories formulated by other groups of women, the business women of America have a particularly important contribution to make toward world peace. This was the sum and substance of an interesting address delivered last night before the Pittsburgh Business and Professional Women's Club by Miss Emily Kneubuhl, executive secretary of the National Federation of B. P. W. clubs. "Man's political extremity has become woman's golden opportunity," Miss Kneubuhl said in stressing the part women can play in politics, and in pointing out that an intelligently organized minority of men or women or both can do what it will with any government. "Women are daring to dream of things that never were. Why not a secretary of peace in the President's cabinet?" she queried.

The local club gathered in the Fort Pitt and had as other special guests Miss Cora Helen Coolidge, president of Pennsylvania College for Women; Mrs. Florence Spencer Dueryea, chairman of public relations in the national B. P. W.; Mrs. D. Edwin Miller, chairman of education, Congress of Clubs, Dr. Mildred Rogers, president of the New Castle B. P. W., and James F. Malone, president of City Council, each of whom was introduced by Mrs. Alberta Hull, president of the local club. Miss Alice Davis, accompanied by Miss Esther Katten, sang.

The dinner was one of particularly effective decorations, in which both city and country's flags, with clusters of red, white and blue tapers and a centerpiece of red poppies were most artistically utilized, while at one end of the room a portrait of the Father of His Country was draped with flags.

MORE than 1,800 reservations have been made by the women of Pittsburgh for the interdenominational luncheon being given in honor of the Rev. Dr. E. Stanley Jones, missionary to India, next Wednesday. The capacity of the William Penn Hotel having been exceeded, arrangements have been made for an overflow meeting at the Fort Pitt. The Fort Pitt meeting will begin at 11:30 o'clock, Dr. Jones speaking there preceding luncheon. He will give the same address there as at the William Penn later in the afternoon. Dr. Jones is probably best known as author of "The Christ of the Indian Road."

"MANY a good looker is a poor cooker and a husband is not to learn on," said the Rev. Dr. Percival H. Barker in addressing the Outlook Alliance at luncheon yesterday. Dr. Barker was speaking on "Perils of the Home," under which he enumerated bad literature, such as questions marriage and ridicules morality; ignorance of home making and unwillingness to learn. Mrs. J. Charles Wilson read an appropriate poem, and Mrs. C. R. Hall, a short story concerning Washington. Mrs. H. D. Stark was in the executive chair after an absence of several weeks. The decorations were in red, white and blue, with a bust of Washington at the center.

HOW I BUILT UP STRENGTH

Many people feel that they are taxing their strength to the utmost all of the time. They seem to have no reserve. I felt that way for years, and about twice every year I had to spend a week in bed. Sometimes it was indigestion, twice it was sore throat, and once my kidneys were in trouble, and two or three times I was just worn out.

Doctors helped me out each time. They got me on my feet, but I just dragged around. Finally I determined to get well. First I did what I could at home. I slept with two windows wide open, exercised a little every morning, and drank plenty of water. These helped but I didn't get well.

There wasn't anything very definite the matter, I had what I thought was a little catarrh, but it didn't worry me much. One day I read about World's Tonic for catarrh and concluded to try it in the hope that I might get relief.

I did, but I also learned so much more about this wonderful medicine that I must tell you. Almost from the first I felt better, and then I kept up my exercise and water drinking. The three of them—World's Tonic, exercise and water—built me right up. I gained a little in weight, but very much in strength and energy. Now for over a year I haven't known an ache or pain, and my strength is a never failing wonder. That is what World's Tonic, the new medicine has done for me.

World's Tonic is sold by all Dow Stores (formerly McCulloch) and all other good druggists. (A-75)

PIRATES APPROACH PASO ROBLES

SPORT COMMENT by JAMES J. LONG

Cuyler's Temperament. Factor In Club Chances. McGraw Denies Deal.

CHRISTNER-PAULINO FIGHT TOSS-UP

BY no means the least item to be figured in trying to size up the chances of the Chicago club in this year's National League pennant race is the probable mental attitude of Outfielder Hazen Cuyler. If he is satisfied with conditions and things go right for him, the former Pirate is likely to play at the fine clip he struck during the latter part of the 1928 season after getting away to a poor start. That will mean some sparkling individual work and a strong factor toward the success of the club. But the opposite mood, if he falls into it, probably will bring different and less helpful results.

Kiki Cuyler

For this reason, Pittsburgh fans are waiting with considerable interest to learn what Cuyler's reaction will be to the suggestion that he be used as lead-off man in the Cub batting order. Manager Joe McCarthy himself intimated during the minor league convention in Toronto last December that he was thinking of putting Ki in that position, and when the Chicago battery men in training at Catalina Island fell into a discussion of the batting order the other day the great majority of them expressed themselves as favoring the same plan.

JUST how the shift will appeal to Cuyler if it is attempted remains to be seen. Ordinarily the difference of a notch or two in the hitting array would appear unlikely to have any great bearing upon the work of a player, but with Cuyler it is different. He has always had a hunch that he cannot hit to the best of his ability unless he is in third place.

It was because Donie Bush moved him from third position to second that Ki first got into difficulties with the Pirate management during the season of 1927, and that was the starting point of the trouble that finally led to his being traded. If he shows the same resentment and the same discontent in the event that Manager McCarthy attempts to convert him into a lead-off man this spring the developments are not likely to be of a sort that will enhance the pennant chances of the Bruins.

THE consensus of opinion among the players and coaches forming the Cub advance guard, according to reports from the camp, is that Cuyler would make the best lead-off hitter, with English batting second, Hornsby third, Wilson fourth, Stephenson fifth, Hartnett sixth, Grimm seventh and Beck eighth.

Jimmy Burke

One coach who thinks that it will make little difference in what order the Bruins bat, and that they are going to win the pennant anyhow, is Jimmy Burke. "Play the Cubs with a straight ticket, and you'll stand in line to collect next fall," he predicts.

BURKE, who was a utility infielder on the Pittsburgh club back in 1901 and 1902, insists that it isn't merely spring enthusiasm or club loyalty that makes the Chicago team look to him like a probable pennant winner. "And it isn't only the added punch that Hornsby will give to the club," Jimmy continues. "There is something else to be figured, and that something else is the pitching power that will come from Charley Root and Hal Carlson. Carlson won only three games and lost two for us last year. He was out practically all season owing to spring illness, and his loss was a hard blow. Root was our big pitching shot in 1927, when he won 26 games, but he was slightly off last year and won only 14. Both will be back in form this year and the difference ought to mean the pennant."

JOHN M'GRAW, Giant skipper, naturally declines to share Burke's views that the Cubs are going to have a big edge on the remainder of the National League field. "I look for another close race and an open one," McGraw says, "a fight that may not be decided until the final days of the season. Not only the Cubs, but the Pirates, Cardinals and Reds will show power, and I have no doubt that the Giants will be up there, too. Even the Phillies will be an improved team, though the death of Frank Ulrich was a heavy loss to them. He was a good pitcher."

McGraw believes that Carl Mays is going to be a big help to the Giants. He says the veteran has informed him that his pitching arm is giving him no trouble and that he will be ready to go on the slab during the early part of the training season. The Giant manager denies the report that he has a trade pending with the Reds for a pitcher. He says he is not interested in either Adolfo Luque or Pete Donohue.

ARTHUR DUFFEY, in his day one of the greatest sprinters of all time, says he cannot understand why Charley Paddock and the other fast men of recent years did not succeed in breaking more old sprint records during the last decade while nearly all other marks in athletics were being cracked.

Charles Paddock

In discussing the subject with Detroit sport scribes, Duffey pointed to the 40-yard dash. The world record of 4 2-5 seconds for that distance has stood for almost a quarter of a century. It was first made by William D. Eaton in 1905 and has never been beaten.

"RUNNING 40 yards is nothing more than a scramble," Duffey declared. "It is a mad dash. There never was another event just like it. Any one can run 40 yards. It takes a real sprinter to run 100 yards. The 40-yard dash is run in one breath, one burst of speed. The man runs as if his life depended upon the result. To beat the present record for 40 yards, the sprinter must run the first 10 yards in 1 2-5 seconds. This will give him all the time he needs to gather himself for the remaining distance. The second 10 yards must be covered in 1 1-5 seconds. By this time the runner will be going at top speed and should be able to reel off the next 10 yards in four-fifths of a second and the final 10 in the same time. That would mean a new record of 4 1-5 seconds.

"WHEN a sprinter gets set on the mark he usually takes one long breath. When the gun barks he generally allows the breath to go until he reaches the last plunge for the tape. Then he gives all he has in the final dash for the finish line."

Duffey contends that, like a base-stealer in baseball in getting a lead on the opposing pitcher, a sprinter must do his best work at the start, rather than at the finish. "No sprinter can hope to get anywhere unless he has gun sense," he said, "that is a feeling that will let him know just when the gun is going to bark."

BEFORE Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling climb into the ring at Miami Beach, Fla., next Wednesday night two other big battlers will claim a share of the heavyweight limelight. K. O. Christner and Paulino Uzcudun are to clash in New York tonight. The outcome will be awaited with no little interest as likely to furnish another contender with whom the Florida winner will have to reckon later.

LARGE GATES BELIE TALES OF SLUMP

By HARRY KECK, Sports Editor.

On all hands one hears repeated complaints that boxing is in the doldrums in Western Pennsylvania, with Motor Square Garden inactive because of a lack of dates due to the rental of the building for automobile, aeroplane and other shows.

Nothing could be farther from the truth, a survey of conditions reveals. The game never was in a more flourishing condition in the smaller towns surrounding Pittsburgh and the packed houses that are attending the shows in the small Moose Temple arena bear evidence that the fans in the city are just as keen for the sport as ever.

"GOOD OLD DAYS" BEATEN

In the so-called "good old days" of the past in Pittsburgh, gates ranging from $1,000 up were considered good. Three shows have been held at the Moose Temple since Francis Flynn began staging bouts there recently, with the shutting down of the Garden. His first venture attracted more than $1,800, a capacity turnout, at prices of $1 and $2. His second, with substitutions marring the program, fell a few dollars short of $1,000, and last week he played to $1,502 at the same popular prices and with anything but a pretentious bill.

Henry Firpo and Dick Evans, a couple of second grade middleweights, drew $2,024 in the Jolly Bowl at New Castle, last Monday night, a phenomenal intake for a town of that size.

At Washington, Pa., the same night, the fans paid $1,481 to see Battling Gizzy in action against Ray Newton, while, at Oil City, Rudy Ceder and Johnny Plai played to an $1,800 house.

GATES ARE BIG

Johnstown, last week, had a gate of $3,415 for a card headed by Murray Gitlitz and Gene Baker, while Jim McGirr's Majestic Club in McKeesport drew $1,480 with Dominick Profio and Young Rudy in the main bout. Maxie Strub and Johnny Shupack packed 'em in to the tune of $2,922 at prices of $1.25 and $2.50 at the Auditorium Club in Erie last Friday night.

Despite the heavy snowfall, McKeesport last night had a gate of $1,317 for the bout between Willie Davies and Howard Mayberry.

Boxing on the blink in Western Pennsylvania?

OLIVER, PERRY CLASH TODAY

Oliver and Perry high schools, two of the three teams tied for the title in Section Two of the City League, will clash this afternoon in the first game of the sectional play-off series. The contest will be staged on the Langley High floor.

South Hills, the third team in the deadlock, will face the winner of today's game next Tuesday. The winner of this game will meet Fifth Avenue in a three-game series for the City League title. Fifth Avenue, defending champ, was returned victor in Section One after a hectic race that was not decided until the final day of the campaign.

The W. P. I. A. L. race in all groups, save Section One, will be brought to a close tonight. The most important game on the card is the Duquesne-Homestead affair at Homestead, with the title in Section Seven at stake. Homestead defeated Duquesne in a close game at Duquesne on the occasion of the first meeting between the schools. Tonight's contest promises to pack 'em in, with the possibility being that a record crowd will see the game.

Officials of the W. P. I. A. L. will hold a meeting at the Fort Pitt Hotel tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock to arrange details for the annual eliminations between the winners of the various sectional titles. This year's eliminations will be held at the Pitt Stadium pavilion.

Freeport at Arnold.
Verona at New Kensington.
Tarentum at Oakmont.
Springdale at Parnassus.

SECTION II.
Avalon at Ashinwall.
Wilkinsburg at Ben Avon.
Swissvale at Bellevue.
Sewickley at Edgewood.

SECTION III.
New Brighton at Beaver Falls.
Mars at Butler.
Evans City at Edgwood City.

SECTION IV.
Ambridge at Rochester.
Monaca at Beaver.
Freedom at Midland.
Leetsdale at Aliquippa.

SECTION V.
Charleroi at Waynesburg.
South Brownsville at Donora.
Monessen at Monongahela.

SECTION VI
Ford City at Apollo.
Vandergrift at Kittanning.
New Bethlehem at Leechburg.

SECTION VII.
Duquesne at Homestead.
McKeesport at Elizabeth
Munhall at Clairton.

SECTION VIII.
Turtle Creek at Braddock.
East Pittsburgh at Trafford.
Rankin at North Braddock.
Norwin at Pitcairn.

SECTION IX.

E. Huntingdon at Scottdale Township.
Redstone at Mt. Prospect.

SECTION XII.
Redstone Township at Brownsville.
Point Marion at Gastes.

Eli Track Team Of 1889 Holds Reunion

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS)—Six of the nine members of the track team which won the intercollegiate championships for Yale in 1889 exchanged reminiscences until the wee sma' hours at the Yale Club early today. The stars of 40 years ago were Gen. Charles H. Sherrill, Thomas Shearman, Frank Clark, F. W. Robinson, H. L. Williams and L. N. Deming. They received messages of congratulation from President Coolidge and Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

AVIATOR JOE DAWSON SNOOZES WAY WEST

"ASLEEP IN THE DEEP"

Pitcher Ralph (Joe) Dawson may be a great aviator, but as a rail traveler he doesn't rate with the other members of the Pirate corps. The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph staff photographer caught him stretched out on a seat dead to the world shortly after the locals' train left Chicago on its run to the Paso Robles (Cal.) training camp, which will be reached today. Even the flashlight pop failed to arouse the sleeping pitcher.

CEDER BATTLES CUDDY AGAIN TONIGHT

Rudy Ceder and Cuddy DeMarco go to it again tonight, in the 10-round main bout at the Moose Temple. The welterweight former stablemates clashed at Motor Square Garden last Christmas afternoon, with DeMarco winning the decision in an interesting bout with the hard-hitting Tarentum pride after being floored and in danger of a knockout. Cuddy's boxing skill pulled him through, and history may repeat itself tonight, but always there will be the threat of a finishing blow from the dangerous Ceder, who is a favorite with the fans because of his rough-and-ready punching proclivities.

Promoter Francis Flynn has arranged a promising preliminary card. He has Lee Sala, Donora's young middleweight, and Johnny Windsor, of Herron Hill, stablemate of DeMarco, in the semi-final; Johny Brown, of Lawrenceville, and Jess Hook, of McKeesport, the second event and Georgie Tomosky, of Wilmerding, and Sammy Paris, of the Hill, a new Red Mason protege, flyweights, in the opener. Paris and Tomosky also fought the opening bout of the first Moose Temple show, a month ago, and their bout was the hit of the card. Tomosky winning with a great finish, including a knockdown for a count of nine in the closing round.

Sala takes the place of Hugh Fetzer, of the North Side, who has a sprained hand. Last week, Lee scored a victory over Windsor at McKeesport, which he will endeavor to repeat tonight.

WALKER DEFENDS TITLE

Mickey Walker defends his middleweight championship against Cowboy Jack Willis, of Texas, at San Francisco this afternoon. Willis gave Mickey a great, close fight on the Coast about a year ago.

Charley Belanger, Canadian light-heavyweight, and Tiger Jack Payne, Negro star, box the semi-final to the Paulino Uzcudun-K. O. Christner bout in Madison Square Garden, New York, tonight and Billy Alger meets Alf Roa in another 10-rounder. Joey Lecirey, formerly of Johnstown, who defeated Tony Vacarelli last Saturday night, engages Willie Gerfolo in the main bout of a show in the One Hundred and Sixth Armory New York.

Jimmy DeForest, veteran trainer of boxers, has taken over the management of Lou Barba, New York heavyweight.

Harry Blitman and Wilbur Cohen will box at Elam, Pa., next Thursday night. Davey Adelman and Frankie Di Angelo will battle in the semi-final.

BOUTS AT KEYSTONE CLUB

Eight bouts between the leading amateur boxers of the Pittsburgh district have been arranged for the initial mitt show of the Keystone Athletic Club, to be held in the gymnasium of the new athletic plant tomorrow night. The program follows: 112-pound class, Johnny Warner, Clairton A. C., vs. Mose Butch, Willow Club, and Tony Marino, Duke O'Hara A. C., vs. Pete D'Allesandro, Washington Y. M. C. A.; 118-pound class, Sylvester Pastorina, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C., vs. Paul Balint, North Side A. C.; 125-pound class, Eddie Hebner, Clairton A. C., vs. Robert McConnell, Willow Club, and George (Slim) Lehr, North Side A. C., vs. Charles Fulks, Twenty-seventh Ward A. C.; 160-pound class, George Chambers, Willow Club, vs. Billy Windso, Duke O'Hara A. C., and heavyweight class, Frank Novak, North Side A. C., vs. John Rebisko, West Newton, and Robert Corned, Monaca, vs. George Hussza, West Newton. Billy Lewis and William Simendinger will divide the refereeing and Harry Little and Harry Neaman will judge the bouts.

AMERICANS TOP ICE PIRATES; WHITE STARS

By CARL W. SHATTO.

Mr. Wilfred Belmont White, known as Tex White until he was sent from Pittsburgh to the Big City about a week ago, was the sparkplug of the New York attack as the Americans rode to a 4-2 triumph over the Pirates at Duquesne Garden last night. Wilfred Belmon showed so much enthusiasm in his first two appearances with the New Yorkers as a spare that Manager Gorman shoved him into the starting lineup in last night's battle, and W. Belmont vindicated Gorman's judgment by driving home the Americans' first goal before the game was four minutes old and continuing to worry the Pirate defense men and check Pirate drives throughout the fight. It is assumed that the change of scenery is to White's liking, for the former Buc showed more life in an American uniform in one evening than he did in a Pirate uniform in a week.

NEW BUCS IN DEBUT

Wingman Eddie Bouchard and Defenseman Jess Spring, who came here in the White deal, made their first local appearance in Pittsburgh livery and gave a very creditable exhibition. Bouchard, cavorting at right wing on the spare line, was particularly impressive. His passing was timely and accurate, and his great strength enabled him to best his opponents in many scrimmages. McKinnon was given a rest, and Drury was moved back to center to make room for Bouchard, and, with Lowrey teaming up well with Herb and Eddie, the reserve forwards gave local fans their biggest thrills of the night.

Smith and McCaffrey were started at the local defense posts, but after the invaders had knifed through for two goals in the first stanza they were removed from the ice, and Holway and Spring took care of the defense work throughout the remainder of the fight.

White's goal, registered three minutes and 40 seconds after the start of hostilities, climaxed a lone dash down the ice. Picking up a loose puck between the blue lines, Tex dribbled through Smith and McCaffrey and right in on top of Miller. Joe made a great effort to save, but he was beaten from the start.

CONACHER, LOWREY SCORE

Seven minutes later, while Drury was languishing in the penalty box, Big Train Lionel Conacher, another former Pirate, duplicated White's feat. Even as Tex had done, Lionel knifed his way through the defense, and he experienced no difficulty in driving the disc home after feinting Miller out of position.

Jerry Lowrey, who has been playing brilliantly since he came here from Toronto, about 10 days ago, teamed up with Herb Drury to register the first Pittsburgh goal, after 10 minutes of play in the second period. Drury almost floored Goalie Roy Worters, former Pirate No. 3, with a whistling drive from the blue line, and Lowrey, following Herb in, picked up the rebound and slammed it into the cage. His drive must have been a "curve ball" for he appeared to be behind the goal mouth when he let his shot go.

Four minutes later Connors and Simpson duplicated the Lowrey-Drury feat and restored their two-goal lead to the Americans. Simpson carried the puck into the scoring zone and was robbed of a goal when Miller made a great diving save. Connors, rushing in fast, grabbed the rubber on the rebound and flipped it into the open net before Miller could regain his feet.

HOLWAY BREAKS THROUGH

Holway broke into the scoring column after about eight minutes of play in the final stanza. The Buccs' big defense man, starting from his own blue stone, cut in from the left lane as he neared the cage and beat Worters with a hot one from near the blue line. The drive was just high enough to be troublesome, and the puck skipped from the diminutive goalie's shoulder into an upper corner of the cage.

Himes tailed New York's fourth goal, and the last of the fray, 10 minutes before the final bell on a solo effort that matched Holway's in every respect.

Frederickson, Milks and Darragh, using combination plays, broke through repeatedly, and only Worters' brilliance in the nets kept them from breaking into the scoring column. Lowrey, Drury and Bouchard, while not as smooth as the starting line in their team play, used pep and fight to offset this deficiency and provided the best Pittsburgh action of the night.

Despite the fact that the Americans concentrated on defense in the last two periods, the game was fairly well filled with rough, fast action, and fans who delight in heavy scoring had their fill.

The victory gave the Americans an even break in the season series with the Pirates, concluded last night. Each club licked the other for two wins during the campaign. Immediately after the finish of the fray the local skaters left for Ottawa, where they are to battle the Senators Saturday. The lineup:

DAILEY ISSUES ULTIMATUM

WINDBER, Pa., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—With practically every town in the loop shivering from six inches to a foot of snow, President Elmer Dailey last night began "thawing out" the Middle Atlantic League situation by issuing an ultimatum to the owners of the Cumberland, Md., and Clarksburg, W. Va., clubs.

Dailey said he hoped to get in touch with the clubs today to determine definitely whether the teams are to be at the scratch when the race gets under way.

"All the other clubs are set to go," Dailey said, "and I am particularly anxious to receive word from the two teams not yet in the fold, because forfeits must be posted by March 20, when we will hold a meeting in Uniontown, Pa. At that time the schedule which I intend to begin drafting next week will be submitted for approval. I should like to know before drafting the schedule whether we can count upon Clarksburg and Cumberland to be in the league. There are at least three other towns in the league's territory which would like to have the franchises if they are dropped by Cumberland and Clarksburg."

Dailey was emphatic in stating that if the Cumberland and Clarksburg clubs did not take immediate and definite action, the clubs will be absorbed by the league.

CORSAIR SQUAD DUE IN CAMP LATE TODAY

By CHARLES J. DOYLE, Staff Correspondent.

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., Feb. 22.—The Pirate pitchers and catchers were within a few hours of their training camp at noon today as they passed through here this morning.

Smiling skies greeted the Buccos early today when they reached Los Angeles, where they had about 30 minutes for changing cars and relaxation. It was the sixth time since they started to train in California that Los Angeles has greeted them with sunshine.

When the batterymen arrived at Paso Robles they expected to be met by Remy Kremer, Carmen Hill, Earl Sheely, Fred Fussell, Joe Devine, Chick Fraser and one or two others.

FIRST DRILL TOMORROW

Although the party is scheduled to arrive at the training site about the middle of the afternoon, Manager Bush does not contemplate any action at the ball orchard until tomorrow morning, when the first workout of the season takes place. Bush has decided to hold one long workout a day until the second squad arrives. After that the order will be two a day.

The Pirate boss has decided on the division of his squad of pitchers and catchers. Provided Larry French reaches camp today, Donie will have 17 pitchers and four catchers there ready to begin the spring-time jousts. Eleven of the sharpshooters and three of the catchers have been selected to wear the grey suits, which color generally signifies first choice performers. The pitchers are Grimes, Hill, Kremer, Petty, Meadows, Fussell, Brame, Dawson, Tauscher, Swetonic and Blankenship. The six chosen for the white suits are Mahaffey, Spencer, Erickson, Chagnon, Mackay and French. Hargreaves, Hemsley and Linton of the receiving group will be adorned in gray spangles, with O'Connell representing the Yanigans. Traynor and Stroner, of course, will wear the gray. These selections, however, are subject to change at a moment's notice.

INDIFFERENT TO MEINE

French and Meine are holdouts. Concerning the latter, Treasurer Dreyfuss announces that no further negotiations from the club angle will be carried on with the Kansas City star; in fact Dreyfuss declares that even if the pitcher should reopen the case, he would not be asked to report at Paso Robles. If he cares to accept the contract offered him, he may join the club later, according to the tone of Dreyfuss' remarks.

The Pirate official declares that Meine drew a big salary from the Kansas City club. In regard to French, there seems to be a feeling that the recruit left-hander will be in camp soon.

Bush will stress throwing, running and fungo chasing in the daily workouts for pitchers until the arrival of the infielders and outfielders, six days hence. It will be hard for him to keep the pitchers away from the plate, as every diamond athlete likes to swing at the ball; however, there will be little batting done before the others arrive, unless the appearance of Traynor and Stroner constrains Bush to allow a little swat practice.

Chillysauce

The Cubs already are at it on Catalina Island, Joe McCarthy doubtless holds visions of a pennant that would give Chicago a flavor to contrast with the bad odor that springs from the city's gunmen.

The Bears will be considered favorites in many quarters, but in other circles their stressed right-handed attack may be rated as a handicap. There is no doubt as to the composite power in McCarthy's battle-front, but there may be a serious weakness at the top of the order concerning batters and their ability to reach first. If the lead-off hitters can get on consistently, there will be no doubt about as to their scoring, what with Hornsby, Cuyler, Wilson, Stephenson, Grimm and Hartnett following somewhat in the order named.

Marse Joe may be pining for an effective left-handed hitter ere the season is half run. He has a sprinter who swings from the left side in Cliff Heathcote, but Cliff finds it difficult to displace any of the outfielders.

The Cubs, on the whole, should be a colorful attraction. They have plenty of that type of player that appeals to the public.

Hornsby is not an outstanding athlete aside from his batting prowess, but his punch is so pronounced that it is sufficient to make him a headliner, and the picture presented by the Rajah at the plate is something to gaze upon.

The Pirates should be among the leaders all year if they get a few "breaks." But they will not be so keen in the point of color. The club of the Maranville-Grimm-Tierney-Whitted era often disappointed, but it never failed to attract the fans. Many patrons rushed to the park early to see the infield workout of that entry.

The Waner brothers charm in one sense, but they do not cut any didoes that are distinctive marks. Pie Traynor is a perennial attraction and Burleigh Grimes has a big appeal, but many of the players on the club roster seem to be too drab to attract much public favor.

Danny Benjamin, sport photographer of the Sun-Telegraph, climbed aboard the train in Pittsburgh with a new suit and one of those 1,000-mile blue shirts. Dan has a spare or two in his suitcase, but as late as yesterday the departure garment was still in fine shape.

Fight Results

At McKeesport—Willie Davies defeated Howard Mayberry, 10 rounds; Buck McTiernan defeated Mickey Soimen, 6 rounds; George Kerston defeated Young Johnson, 6 rounds; Jimmy Marlow defeated Johnny Russell, 6 rounds.

CHAMP IN LEAD

BRATTLEBORO, Vermont, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Magnus Satre, of Salisbury, Conn., successfully defended his national senior cross country ski championship over a difficult 14-mile course on the first day of the two-day tournament here. His time was one hour 14 minutes and 30 seconds.

By JESS CARVER.

Carnegie Tech will engage in its third Big Four contest of the week, three, count 'em, by tackling Francis Stadsvold's West Virginia Mountaineers on the Tartan gym court tonight. Duquesne will help to swell Pittsburgh's program for tonight by playing the American University passers of Washington, D. C., on the Bluff.

The Tartans are hoopin' it up since their fine triumph over Wash-Jeff hers Wednesday night. It was the second win of the season for the Tartans and their first Big Four victory in two years. And more, their first win in history over a W. and J. basketball team.

MOUNTAINEERS FAVORED

West Virginia defeated the Plaid handily, to say the least, at Morgantown early in the season, but since then, the Mountaineers have met up with Old Man Defeat themselves. They figure to beat Tech tonight, though one never can tell how the encouraging win over the Presidents may affect John Irwin's team.

Duquesne hopes to dig copiously into the balsam of revenge tonight against the boys from American U. The last minute defeat suffered at the hands of Bethany Tuesday sent Duquesne basketball stock plunging downward. There is something wrong when a team can hold a five-point lead for a minute and 59 seconds.

American U. sent a well drilled team here a year ago and while beaten, displayed a fine passing game. At Washington two weeks ago, the Bluffmen won by a 48-40 count. Being on their own court, they figure to repeat this time.

BISONS MEET JACKETS

Bethany, incidentally, plays another Conference engagement this evening, meeting Waynesburg at home. If the Bisons win, and the betting is about 10 to 1 that they do, they'll be assured of nothing worse than a tie for the Conference lead at the close of the season, even though they lose to Geneva next week.

Wash-Jeff is in Meadville for a return game with Allegheny. This contest completes the card for the night.

GENEVA BEATEN

Westminster College's Titans gave another hefty shove to Bethany's title claims at New Wilmington last night by kicking over Geneva, 23 to 15, in a game that was far from interesting or brilliantly played.

Both teams appeared to be keyed up to too high a pitch to allow the playing of really good basketball. Dale O'Donovan stole the entire show, and stamped himself as being one of the three best forwards in the district, scoring 12 of the 23 points totaled by his club. He deserves to rank with Hyatt, of Pitt, and Little Sleepy Glenn of West Virginia.

The Covenanters moved out in front early and stuck there until the finish. At half-time they led by 12 to 5. Geneva rallied strongly after the rest, but were only able to creep up to within two points of the Titans when Babe broke out again and flipped through two goals in bang-bang succession.

The worst Bethany can get in the Conference now will be a tie, provided Geneva beats 'em at Bethany next week. The Titans and Covenanters will fight it out for second place, which means little or nothing. The lineup:

Westminster—23.	Geneva—15.
O'Donovan	F. Paisley
Delahunty	F. Friedman
Crowell	G. Hanson
T. Lewis	G. Emerick
Price	C. Merriman

Substitutions—Brownlee, Hamos, Fisher, Ayers, Montgomery. Field goals—O'Donovan 5, Delahunty, T. Lewis, Emerick, Friedman 3, Paisley 2, Brownlee 2, Price—Westminster, 5 out of 16; Geneva, 5 out of 15. Referee—Bolster. Umpire—Slack.

Loughran Wants Winner at Miami

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Tommy Loughran, light-heavyweight champion of the world, has asked Jack Dempsey to promote a bout between Loughran and the winner of the Sharkey-Stribling fight, according to Frank McCracken, local referee and sports writer.

Cubans to See Sharkey Battle

HAVANA, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Cuba will send several thousand fight fans to the Sharkey-Stribling heavyweight match in Miami Beach next Wednesday. A survey of applications for tickets to Miami Beach during the two or three days preceding the fight shows that 3,000 fans will travel to Florida by way of one of the three main arteries of travel from Havana.

NEW SINGLES LEADERS IN PIN TOURNEY

The Iversons of McKeesport rolled the best score in the five-men event of the Southern Duckpin tourney on the South Side Recreation alleys last night. They registered 2,522 pins, which advanced them to second place in the tourney. The third day's bowling is slated for today.

No change took place in the doubles, although many 1,000 scores were rolled.

Two new leaders showed up in the singles competition when Brokenbach of McKeesport turned in a 622 total for first place and Skirtrera tallied 620 for second place.

One Kayo Marks Duquesne Light Show

Fred Scolara, of the Willow Club, scored the only knockout in the smoker for the employes of the Duquesne Light Company at Syria Mosque last night. He stopped Harry Peters, of St. Joseph's Lyceum, in the first round.

In the other bouts, William Zurich, Willow Club, defeated Frankie Porto, Logans Ferry; Slip Lehr, North Side A. C., defeated Tom Fairful, Swissvale A. C.; Frank Flack, Willow Club, defeated Johnny Birek, and Pat Powers, Lawrenceville, defeated Louis Trenga, Willow Club. A battle royal and a wrestling bout also were on the program.

Local Boxers Lose At Grand Rapids

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Feb. 22.—Pittsburgh amateur boxers lost four out of six bouts in an intercity meet with Grand Rapids here last night. The summary:

Pete D'Allesandro, Pittsburgh, defeated Henry Sompolinski; George Chambers, Pittsburgh, defeated Leon Jasinski; Mose Butch, Pittsburgh, lost to Jimmy Kerr, national junior flyweight champion, in an extra round; Cowboy DeLuce, Pittsburgh, lost to Chester Roberts; Red Hartley, Pittsburgh, lost to Wesley Ramey, and Lawrence Markey, Pittsburgh, lost to Carl Schmid.

HARVEY STOPS MOODY

LONDON, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Len Harvey scored a technical knockout over Frank Moody, light-heavyweight champion of Great Britain, in the seventh round of their scheduled 15-round bout at the Crystal Palace last night. The referee stopped the bout after Moody had been floored several times and had absorbed much punishment while on his feet.

Bush Bans Golf For Pirate Squad

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 22.—Manager Donie Bush, of the Pirates, has served notice on his athletes that under no circumstances would golf be played by any member of the team during the spring training season.

Bush believes that the ancient Scotch game does not mix with baseball and has ordered his players to stay away from the links during their stay at Paso Robles.

WILLIE DAVIES VICTOR OVER MAYBERRY

Two battling atoms of the ring gave a large crowd of fistic fans a genuine treat for their money last night at the Palisades, McKeesport, and at the conclusion of their 10 rounds, every one of which fairly bristled with action, Willie Davies, of Charleroi, was awarded the decision of Referee Al Grayber after the judges had disagreed, over Howard Mayberry, of Donora.

Forced to step at a merry pace in the final round to grab the verdict, Davies won, without doubt, in that session by his masterful boxing and hard hitting, using a straight hard left to the head and a beautiful right to the stomach for his most effective blows. The Charleroi mite took five rounds, the second, fourth, sixth, ninth and tenth, while the third, seventh and eighth went to Mayberry with the first and fifth even.

FAST THROUGHOUT

The fight was fast all the way, with Davies excelling in speed and infighting. After an even first round, he took the second by using a hard left jab effectively and making Mayberry miss plenty by sidestepping all over the ring.

Mayberry came back strong in the third to take this round by catching Willie with several hard rights to the head which slowed down the classy fly-weight considerably.

The fighters continued their merry pace in the fifth with honors even and, in a flashy sixth round, Davies showing his best form until then, pummeled his opponent in the infighting, concentrating on the Donora boxer's head.

JUDGES DISAGREE

The seventh and eighth stanzas went to Mayberry by comfortable margins and Davies found difficulty in evading Howard's hard rights to the head and body. Davies won the ninth by a shade and then went after Mayberry hammer and tongs in the tenth to leave no doubt as to the victor. Jock Sinco, one of the judges, cast his vote for Davies, while John Graff, working the other side of the ring, though Mayberry won. Referee Grayber settled the issue with a Davies vote.

JOHNSON BEATEN

George Kerston, of McKeesport, won over Young Johnson, of Pittsburgh, in the second bout, both judges favoring the McKeesport slugger, who weighed 147 pounds against 150.

Jimmy Marlow, of Aliquippa, 158, and Johnny Russell, of Fayette City, 142, stepped six slow and uninteresting rounds with Marlow winning, the judges' verdict.

JOE STECHER BEATEN

BOSTON, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Joe Malcewicz, of Utica, N. Y., won the right to meet Gus Sonnenberg, world wrestling champion when he defeated Joe Stecher, of Chicago, here last night in two out of three falls.

Arkansas Gets Offer to Play Army

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Arkansas University has been offered a game of the 1930 Army football schedule, but athletic officials here have indicated that it would not be accepted, because of changes in the coaching staff. Arkansas will be without the services of head coach Francis A. Schmidt, who has resigned to accept the position as head coach at Texas Christian University at Fort Worth, Tex. He has been coach here for the last seven years.

LOCAL STARS OUT OF TITLE SWIM

Pittsburgh will not be represented in the National A. A. U. women's swimming championships at Chicago next week, due to the lack of funds to send a team, so that this city's only glimpse at contenders for the titles will be presented next Monday night, when New York's strong team appears in exhibitions at the Keystone Athletic Club, en route to the championships.

This city has some mermaids who undoubtedly would fare well in the title events, notably the representatives of the Homestead Library Club, coached by Jack Scarry. Included in this squad are Susan Laird, now a student at Temple University in Philadelphia; May Cutnell, Florence Goza, Anna Elek, Irene Batnick and Hannah Laughlin. Josephine McKim, formerly of the same club, has returned to the Panama Canal Zone, where her father is stationed and where she is competing unattached. Misses Laird and McKim were members of the United States squad in the Olympic Games at Amsterdam last year.

A meet between the local stars and the New York delegation might be more interesting than the exhibitions of the visitors here. Included in the New York team are Martha Norelius, queen of the women stars of the nation; Lisa Lindstrom, Ethel McGary, Eleanor Holm, Kathryn Brown and Catherine Ames.

Charleroi Expects Big Baseball Year

CHARLEROI, Pa., Feb. 22.—Local baseball fans have registered approval of the discontinuance of the split-season system by the Middle-Atlantic League. Charleroi is preparing for its biggest year in Middle Atlantic baseball and it is expected that Manager William Phillips will soon announce a stellar lineup of players for the Governors.

Conditions generally are more auspicious for a good year for the Charleroi club than they have been previously. The team finished the latter half of 1928 in a most creditable manner and showed form that augurs well for the season just around the corner. Excellent popular support not only in Charleroi, but in all neighboring places is expected.

Wagner Organizes Baseball Leagues

Under the personal supervision of the famous big league ball player himself, the Honus Wagner baseball leagues are being whipped into shape for the coming season. Three loops already have been formed and with meetings scheduled for February 26, 27 and 28, other loops are expected to be welded into shape. Church, fraternal, semi-professional and industrial circuits will be listed among the Wagner leagues. One league needs a team from the North Side, and one team from the Lawrenceville district to close the loop. This is a 15-year-old circuit. Teams wishing to enter should attend the meetings at 211 Wood street, or call Honus Wagner at Court 3556.

ROCCO, GUIDO WIN

YOUNGSTOWN, Feb. 22.—Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City heavyweight, outpointed Yale Okun, New York, in a flashing 10-round bout here last night. Young Guido, Sharon, had an edge over Joe Feldman, Cleveland middleweight, in six rounds.

PROFIO TO BOX GANS AGAIN

California Joe Gans, Negro welterweight, of McKeesport, and Dominick Profio, of Cecil, have been rematched for the main bout of the weekly show at McKeesport next Thursday night.

Gans holds the only victory scored over Profio since the latter turned professional. He will be seconded by his new manager, Reed Brown, who last week gave up the management of Profio after the latter had knocked out Young Rudy at McKeesport. Profio now is under the management of James (Red) Mason, who will be in his corner.

HEIDELBERG, AKRON TILT POSTPONED

By TOM BIRKS.

Conflicting dates are playing quite a part in the playing of the national amateur and challenge cups again this season. On Sunday, the Akron Goodyears were scheduled to meet Heidelberg in the fourth round of the National amateur cup at the Bridgeville Speedway. And a letter from Secretary McEwan of the amateur cup committee received on Wednesday verified that.

But last evening, Manager Balsarini received a letter from the secretary of the Goodyear club stating that the game with the locals would have to be postponed until March 3, or one week from Sunday, owing to the Goodyear club having to meet the Holley Carburetors of Detroit in the Michigan City next Sunday, in the National Challenge cup, and this takes first call over the amateur tourney.

Another angle entered into the playing of the game March 3. The National challenge cup committee met in New York Thursday to make the draw for the semi-final round of the challenge cup. Should the Akron Goodyear defeat the Detroit eleven, they will be required to make the trip to St. Louis March 3 to meet the Madison F. C. in the Western semi-final.

So it seems as though Manager Balsarini of the Heidelberg club will have to await the result of the game Sunday at Detroit before making any arrangements for the Goodyears' appearance in Pittsburgh. However, local sentiment is that this is a good break for Heidelberg. It is questionable if the game could have been staged Sunday with six inches of snow on the Speedway. Balsarini would have had to have hired a tractor to clear the snow from the playing field.

The other fourth round game between the Pittsburgh Soccer club and the Corinthians, scheduled for the Westinghouse High School stadium tomorrow afternoon, was still on, according to officials of the Pittsburgh club last evening. This game is booked to start at 2:30 o'clock.

N.Y. FEDERAL RESERVE BROKER LOANS CONTINUE TO DROP

Forbes

Land Dotted By Branches; What Future Will Bring.

—By B. C. FORBES—

ONE American company, Continental Can, since the beginning of last year has acquired 10 additional plants, located at different points on the Pacific Coast, in the South, in the Middle West and in the East. Its president, Carle C. Conway, tells me that his action is typical of what he believes will prove an increasingly popular way of solving that paramount problem, the high cost of distribution.

Is he right?

"TWENTY-FIVE years ago," explained Mr. Conway, "capitalists bought up the chief plants in industry after industry with the sole purpose of establishing monopolies. Monopoly then became regarded as the one supreme goal, the one royal road to enormous profits. Industry is now more enlightened. Its goal today seldom is monopoly. It seeks, rather, to render the public the greatest possible service in the most efficient way at the least possible cost.

"By acquiring or establishing factories at all the main strategic points on the continent, we will be able, just as other manufacturers who do the same thing are able, to shorten delivery hauls and thus to reduce the cost of distribution."

UNQUESTIONABLY, this economic evolution is actively under way. General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, Willys and other leading automobile manufacturers are dotting the country with branch factories or assembly plants. The nation's foremost mail-order houses are opening branches in many cities. The electrical industry is acting on the same principle.

IS NOT this one more reason for expecting the trend in industry and business toward bigness to continue? Is not this going to make it harder and harder for small or moderate concerns, doing only a local business, to exist? Is not this whole movement analogous to the rapid development of chain stores of every conceivable description?

TRANSPORTATION by land is costly. Industries producing heavy goods find this cost a severe handicap in serving territories distant from manufacturing plants. Is it not entirely logical, therefore, that, wherever feasible, plants will be set up at points from which important markets can be served conveniently and economically?

The claim is made that such a plan of doing business permits of engaging the very best brains at headquarters and gives each plant and each distributing office the benefit of these brains at very little cost per establishment. And is it not obvious that a concern doing $25,000,000 to $500,000,000 of business a year can afford to pay salaries entirely beyond merely local companies?

THIS whole situation is of interest not only to business men, but should be brought to the attention of and given careful consideration by young men facing the duty of choosing their life-work. It used to be the ambition of most go-ahead young men to set up as their objective the launching of a business of their own. That objective is steadily becoming less and less practicable in many lines.

The youth leaving school or college would do well to take cognizance of the actualities of today and the probabilities of tomorrow. He should strive to reason out whether it would be likely to pay him in the end to attach himself to a large enterprise, with a view to striving to climb to an executive position, or to enter a line of activity in which he might reasonably hope to branch out on his own account by and by. There still are, of course, quite a number of lines in which it requires relatively little capital to hang out one's own shingle.

$4,918,000,000 STILL OUT ON CALL

Loans to brokers and dealers by New York Federal Reserve member banks totaled $5,477,000,000 on February 20, a decrease of $91,000,000 for the week, according to the Federal Reserve Board announcement.

This compares with a decrease of $101,000,000 for the previous week. The high point of loans in this category for 1929 was $5,669,000,000, recorded February 6, and the low was $5,312,709,000 on January 9. A year ago the total stood at $3,728,316,000.

Loans of the New York member banks for their own account decreased $74,000,000 during the week, to $1,023,000,000, while loans made for out-of-town banks decreased $73,000,000, to $1,786,000,000. Loans for account of others than banking institutions increased $56,000,000 for the week, to $2,668,000,000.

CALL MONEY ATTRACTS

Of the total outstanding on February 20, $4,918,000,000 represented demand, or call, loans, while $559,100,000 were time borrowings.

The loans for account of "others" is one of the chief sources of concern of the banking authorities, at present bending their effort toward a reduction of the volume of credit engaged in the securities markets. The "other" loans represent the surplus funds of institutions and individuals attracted to the securities markets by the high rate of interest being paid for call money. The total of this class of loans today stands at the highest on record, being $508,000,000 higher than on January 2, this year, and $1,528,000,000 above the total as of February 21, 1928.

OUT-OF-TOWN INCREASE

On the other hand, loans of the New York member banks for their own account have shown a steady decrease to the present figure from a total of $1,516,000,000 on January 2, this year, while a year ago the total was $1,094,000,000.

This week's loans for out-of-town banks, however, show an increase over the $1,648,000,000 reported as of January 2, this year, and were also well above the $1,495,000,000 shown in the statement of the corresponding date last year.

3-Day Holiday On Stock Exchanges

Banks, stock exchanges and the principal commodity markets throughout the country are closed today in observance of Washington's Birthday. The stock exchanges and several of the commodity markets will also be closed tomorrow for a special holiday, making a three-day suspension of trading over the week-end. The banks will be open as usual tomorrow, however, as will the Chicago Board of Trade.

MERGER FORMS BIGGEST BANK

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Wall street, closed for a three-day holiday, heard today that several years' negotiations were about to be consummated in the merger of the Guaranty Trust Company and the National Bank of Commerce into the largest bank in the world with resources of $2,000,000,000.

M. C. Taylor

Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation, generally is given the larger share of the credit for successfully completing the merger.

The new bank will outrank the National City Bank of New York and the Midland Bank, Ltd., of London.

Thomas W. Lamont and George Whitney, partners in J. P. Morgan & Co., are among the directors of the Guaranty Trust Company, which has been classed in the "Morgan group" of banks. The other bank in the reported merger has also been allied with the Morgan interests.

Report of Earnings Boosts Erie Issue

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The splendid January earnings report of the Erie was reflected in the market price of the issue yesterday, the common selling within a few points of its high for the year. Surplus after charges in the first month of the year were $491,000, against a deficit of $453,000 in January, 1928, and a deficit of $800,000 in January, 1927.

Barring a sharp decline in traffic movement this year it is expected that Erie will materially better the showing made last year when approximately $5 a common share was earned.

$2,000,000 Cocoa Futures Traded In

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—The largest turnover of cocoa futures in the history of the New York Cocoa Exchange—627 lots, or 3,402 tons, valued at more than $2,000,000—changed hands yesterday. Prices increased 11 to 26 points. The heavy trading was attributed to public participation in anticipation of a possible shortage. The previous high record—585 lots—was made October 16, 1926.

Atlas Glass Shows $2,206,324 Profit

WHEELING, W. Va., Feb. 22.—The annual financial statement of the Hazel Atlas Glass Company, Wheeling, for the year 1928 shows net profits of $2,206,324 and assets of $20,910,677 total current liabilities were reduced from $3,869,265 to $2,779,580 for the period. J. C. Pady, chairman of the board of directors, reports the outlook for business in 1929 exceptionally promising.

FIRE PROOFING FIRM SHOWS GAINS

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE National Fireproofing Company showed a moderate improvement in its earnings in 1928. Net after all charges was $513,086, an increase of 8.4 per cent over 1927.

Net profits was equivalent to $3.24 a share or the 155,010 shares of 7 per cent non-cumulative preferred stock of $50 par value. In 1927, $3 a share was earned.

ALTHOUGH the increase in earnings made it possible for the company to declare dividends of $3.32½ a share on the preferred stock out of 1928 profits, the year's results did not cover the full amount of $3.50 a share to which the preferred stock is entitled. Regular quarterly dividends of 87½ cents have not been paid on the preferred since October, 1927.

A year ago the building industry was having difficulty with price cutting on the part of many of the small makers. Although this only affected certain parts of the country it was largely responsible for the reduced earnings of the past two years.

THIS competitive condition was substantially improved in 1928. Several changes have taken place in the company's organization and policy during the past year which are resulting in greater economies, increased output and better distribution. These will be reflected in earnings for the present year.

Sales of glazed products and conduit have shown a large increase during the year, while the demand since January 1 has been even greater. Several new types of conduit have been perfected and nine plants are now engaged in conduit manufacture. A new type of floor tile is being developed and several improvements have been made to the company's line of "vitritile" products.

The Chicago construction department, which was reorganized in 1927, was placed on a profitable basis last year. The company is finding that its greatest profits are in specialty types of building tiles and is devoting its efforts to improving the market for these products.

DURING the year the company purchased $290,000 of its 20-year 5½ per cent debentures at prices below par. The total of debentures held in the treasury at the end of the year was $350,000, which was obtained at a cost of $317,375. This reduced the outstanding funded debt to $2,580,000 against property valued at $9,149,452, after charging off depreciation and depletion.

A strong financial position was disclosed by the balance sheet. Current assets were $3,668,020, compared with current liabilities of $1,021,167. The company had cash of $414,201 and call loans of $502,730.

EXTENSIVE improvements were made to plant facilities to permit the production of new products. These new plant investments amounted to $237,553.

The company had total assets at the end of the year of $20,823,248, but $4,461,300 of these represented good will. The par value of the common stock was exactly equal to the amount at which good will was carried.

No dividends have been paid on the common since 1903, and nothing has been earned after allowing for the preferred dividends since 1924, when $1.33 a share was applicable to the junior issue. In 1923, $2.37 a share was earned. Earnings have not fully covered the preferred dividend requirements since 1924.

TRADE HARMED BY WEATHER

While the general tone of trade remains cheerful, and industry in "heavy" lines retains all its previous activity, there is visible this week rather more complaint of severe winter weather retarding movements of salesmen, discouraging rural buying at retail, checking production of lumber and slowing down building operations and movements at mines.

There is also more discussion of effects of higher money rates upon possible spring trade. The consensus of reports is, however, that distributive trade and industry still are better than last year or in 1927 at the like date.

Best reports as regards operations still come from the iron and steel and allied lines, with production in the first-named lines ranging from 85 to 95 per cent, depending on location, but with relatively most manufacturing activity reported in western mill centers, where railroad and automobile buying has largely centered. Activity in steel buying and operations seems hinged prominently on the automobile industry's takings of material, and February output of automobiles is expected to exceed that of the like month in any previous year.

Bank clearings will be issued February 25.

Extra 50 Cents On Chesebrough

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—An extra dividend of 50 cents was declared on the capital stock of the Chesebrough Manufacturing Company Consolidated, maker of petroleum products, with plants at Pittsburgh and Perth Amboy, N. J. The regular quarterly dividend of $1 was also declared. Both are payable March 30 to stock of record March 9.

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Thomas F. Kelly, a page on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange for 14 years, was today a member of that institution and will shortly become a partner in the firm of Joseph & Co.

Kelly has arranged to become a member by acquiring four "rights" under the recently announced plan by which the membership of the exchange is increased from 1,100 to 1,375.

The price paid by Kelly was not revealed, but it is understood he paid not less than $110,000 a "right," or $440,000 for the full seat.

Announcement also was made that James Russell Lowell, a great-grandson of the poet, has bought four "rights," entitling him to a seat. He will become a member of the firm of Wren Bros. & Co. The price paid for each "right" was not disclosed.

OIL FIGHT FOES CROSS FIRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Broadsides were fired from both camps yesterday in the fight of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., to oust Col. Robert W. Stewart from the chairmanship of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

The Rockefeller committee issued a statement in the form of a letter to a Midwest banker who is a stockholder in the Standard of Indiana, asserting that "we can grasp the truth of all of Col. Stewart's almost incredible story and still, on his own admission, we must come to the conclusion that he has lost the right to our confidence in his leadership."

From Col. Stewart's camp, Albert L. Hopkins, Col. Stewart's personal attorney, issued a statement that the Rockefeller committee's document "repudiates the 72-page document issued by Mr. Rockefeller's brother-in-law, for in it he frankly admits that the effort of Mr. Aldrich to involve Col. Stewart with Teapot Dome and Secretary Fall in that document was unwarranted by any facts known to anyone."

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for the various lines of fruit and vegetables was fair today at the Pittsburgh wholesale houses. No changes were made in the quotations.

Poultry was in moderate supply with demand fair, and market firm. No change was noticed in quotations on this market. Eggs were up 1 cent today. Butter and cheese remaining the same. The market was firm.

Car lot supplies were moderate with a total of 513 on track. The arrivals included 8 cars of apples, 8 cabbage, 2 lemons, 1 celery, 9 lettuce, 2 onions, 3 oranges, 5 spinach, 6 potatoes, 2 tomatoes, 2 cauliflower, 1 chicory, 1 turnip and 2 carrots.

CITY FIRE LOSS CUT IN HALF IN 1928

Fire losses in the City of Pittsburgh during 1928 were reduced 49.9-10 per cent—almost one-half—over the previous year, according to the annual report of Fire Chief Richard L. Smith, issued today. With this record, Pittsburgh leads all other metropolitan cities of the country.

Total loss by fire in 1927 was $2,276,039, while in 1928 it was $1,139,217, or a net reduction of $1,136,822. This savings was effected despite the fact that the firemen answered 3,837 alarms last year, or 300 more than in 1927. Of this total 512 were false and 60 were for causes other than fire.

Modern fire-fighting methods are credited for the reduction in losses. Where in times past firemen merely thought of quenching blazes without thought to property damage, the modern fire department, as represented by Pittsburgh's, acts with a two-fold purpose — ending the fire and protecting property.

For this purpose Pittsburgh has several salvage companies equipped with tarpaulins and gas masks. Their task is to enter burning structures and cover with tarpaulins as far as possible all household goods or perishable articles, that the flow of water will not damage them. The work of these salvage companies, according to the report, represented a saving of $232,975 during 1928.

Fire Chief Smith closes the report with a recommendation that sufficient funds be appropriated to extend these salvage operations.

HOO-DOO CLUB, GORDONS MEET TOMORROW

By JULIUS LEVIN.

One of the most important junior basketball games of the season is scheduled at the Sarah Heinz House, East Ohio street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock when the Hoo-Doo Club of Lawrenceville opposes the Lou Gordon Juniors of the Hill district in the semi-finals of the annual A. A. U. tournament. The winner of this game will meet the Flying Dutchmen for the championship.

The Hoo-Doo and Gordon clubs have been setting a fast pace in junior circles this winter and their game tomorrow afternoon should be productive of some fast basketball. Both teams are composed of youngsters who have come to the front rapidly in local junior circles.

DEPEND ON STARS

The Hoo-Doo Club is banking on Joe Kraus and Jack Dunn, its star forwards, to carry it through to victory, while the Gordons feel confident that Lou Skeegan and Paul Pratt, forward and center respectively, will score enough points to enable the club to enter the final.

Next Tuesday night the Gordons will open a three-game series with the Red McMahans, of the South Side. The first game is scheduled at Columbus Temple and the second at the South Side Market House. The Gordons defeated the McMahans in a similar series last winter.

Another important A. A. U. tournament game tomorrow night is the battle between the Young Men's Hebrew Association and Heinz House at the One Hundred and Seventy-sixth Field Artillery floor for the right to meet Washington Moose in the finals. The Y. M. H. A. and Heinz House teams are entered in the Greater Pittsburgh Institutional League race and have been rivals all season.

DRIBBLES

The game between the Original Merry Big Five and the Rosenblums will be played at the South Side Market House Thursday night, March 7. It was planned to stage the game on March 2, but Sharon Buhl Club had previously booked the Rosies for this date.

The Mellon National Bank quintet will be out to make a clean sweep of its two-game series with the Federal Reserve passers, of Cleveland, when they meet in a return game at the Pitt Stadium pavilion tomorrow night. Mellon nosed out the Clevelanders in the first game at Cleveland. The Mellon girls meet the Spalding girls in the preliminary.

The Rauhs and Miele-Franchinas have completed arrangements to play a fifth game on Thursday night, March 7. The two teams split even in four County League games at Columbus Temple.

The Commercial-Industrial League race is in a hectic stage and two games, having an important bearing on first place standing, will be played on the South Side Market House floor tonight. The first game scheduled for 8 o'clock brings together Duquesne Light, last year's champion, and Carnegie Steel. In the other game Charley Price's Reliance Life quintet, tied with P. & L. E. and Duquesne Light for the lead, clashes with Peoples Bank.

Hill Top Swimmers Defeat Greensburg

GREENSBURG, Pa., Feb. 22.—Hill Top Y swimmers of Pittsburgh defeated Greensburg in the local pool last night by the score of 32 to 23. The visitors took first place in the relay, backstroke and breaststroke. Greensburg placed first in the 40-yard free-style and 100-yard free-style, and fancy diving. The summary:

160-yard relay—Hilltop (G. Schmiller, John Schmiller, Joe Schmiler, Smith). Time, 1:26.4. 40-yard free-style—First, Barnard (Greensburg; second, Kurtz, Greensburg; third, Joe Schmiller, Hilltop. Costello defeated Jokichi Takamine of Ridgewood, N. J., 6 and 5.

PROFIO JOINS MASON

DOMINICK PROFIO JAMES (RED) MASON

Profio, sensational 20-year-old welterweight knockout star, of Cecil, Pa., has gone under the management of Mason, Pittsburgh's leading manager of boxers, following a break with Reed Brown, who guided his destinies from the time he turned professional, less than six months ago, until after his most recent bout, in which he stopped Young Rudy at McKeesport last week. Rudy also is managed by the veteran Mason, who recently added Johnny Windsor, of Herron Hill, to his string of boxers.

FIGHT ARENA COMPLETE

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Flamingo Park arena, where Jack Sharkey and Young Stribling will battle next Wednesday night, was completed today and is now ready for occupancy. It has a seating capacity of 34,800.

William F. Carey, vice president of Madison Square Garden, who, with Jack Dempsey, is handling the bout, visited the arena and expressed his pleasure over its completion. More seats will be added if necessary.

The lighting system will be installed by tomorrow and everything will be ready for a rehearsal by Monday. A number of Miami University students are being trained to act as ushers. Fifty experienced ushers arrived from New York this morning.

Dempsey and Carey conferred with the police today on the problem of handling the crowds. The authorities assigned 100 policemen to the arena next Wednesday.

Sharkey played golf today but did no sparring. Stribling ran a mile this morning and planned a strenuous workout at the Casina late this afternoon.

Scribner and Lindsey To Bowl for Title

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Joe Scribner, of Detroit, and Mort Lindsey, of Stamford, Conn., will meet next month in a 60-game bowling match for the championship of the United States, according to an announcement made public today by Frank A. Dwyer, owner of the Broadway Academy in this city. A purse of $2,000 also will be at stake.

Thirty games will be rolled in Detroit on March 2 and 3, and the other 30 at the Broadway alleys in New York on March 10 and 11.

BIG SHOOT OPENS

READING, Pa., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—More than 200 gunners invaded the Reading Fair Grounds today to face the traps in the annual open live bird shoot for the historic Pennsylvania Cup. Shooting began shortly after noon.

GUS BEATS ANOTHER

30,000 TO SEE WALKER BOUT

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Some 30,000 fight fans are expected to be at Recreation Park this afternoon when Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, and Jack Willis, Texas battler, renew their hostilities. The same pair battled 10 rounds here a year ago today, and Walker was awarded the decision after a sensational battle.

The sharpshooters evidently figure that Walker has come along or the cowboy fighter has slipped, as odds are being quoted at 5 to 1 on the champion. Even money is being wagered that Willis will finish the fight on his feet.

PAULINO 7-5 FAVORITE

Coast League Ruling May Cause New War

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Something probably more than a tempest in a teapot has been stirred up here today by President Harry Williams, of the Pacific Coast League. He ruled the Los Angeles Club must limit its free days for women to three days a week or else pay other clubs owners for the privilege of admitting them without charge. Heretofore, every day was ladies day at Wrigley Park when the Angels played.

J. H. Patrick, president of the Angels, announced that he would continue to allow women to see ball games without charge despite the ruling of Williams.

CONLEYS TRIUMPH

The Conleys defeated the Mangans, 59 to 34, in the P. & O. League last night. The lineup:

Conleys—59.	Mangans—34.
McGill, F	E. Jesko
Simko, F	Meade
Jacko, C	Sweeny
Dober, G	Clark
Baker, G	Tecky

Substitutions—F. Jesko, Bavusik, Davies. Field goals—McGill 6, Simko 4, Jacko 3, Tecky, Dober 7, Baker 5, Davies, E. Jesko 2, Meade, Sweeney 2, F. Jesko 2, Clark 2. Fouls—Conleys, 7 out of 16; Mangans, 13 out of 20. Referee—Griffith.

MIAMI FINAL TODAY

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Harcourt M. Brice, of Miami, has advanced to the final of the annual Miami amateur golf championship and will defend his 1928 title in a 36-hole match today with Lee Chase, of Buffalo.

Long's Sport Comment

ey or a bout with Stribling or Heeney, and if Paulino should succeed in stopping Christner where Sharkey failed he will step out ahead of the gob in the ranking. There will not be much boxing class to the affair of tonight, but it ought to be a sultry number from the viewpoint of slugging and near-kayo thrills. Both men can punch and both can take it. It's a toss-up as to which will be able to do the greater amount of damage. A draw would not be surprising.

Charles F. Adams

THOUGH it was Art Ross himself who, while playing for Ottawa many years ago, evolved the defensive type of hockey that is today bringing so many complaints from National League patrons, the Boston manager and his employer, Charles F. Adams are now offering more suggestions than any other ice experts to open up the game. Adams and Ross announce that they will urge five changes in the rules with a view to increasing the scoring. The first is that goalers be forced to get rid of the puck instantly after catching it, holding the disk to be penalized by a face-off directly in front of the net. 10 feet out. The second is that hicking of the puck be allowed in all three zones. The third is that a defending team be prohibited from having more than three players behind its blue line when the puck is in any other zone. The fourth is that a forward pass be allowed for attacking teams in their opponents' defense zone on plays that have originated in either of the other zones, and the fifth is that a goalie's pads be reduced from 10 to eight inches in width.

MACK TO IGNORE ATHLETICS' BALKERS

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Manager Connie Mack, of the Philadelphia Americans, is not worrying much about holdouts, but he declares that the action of some of them is irritating, to say the least.

Three of Mack's squad, Mickey Cochrane, "the most valuable player in the American League," Bill Shores and Stewart Bolen, the last two named returning to the big league for trials, are classed as holdouts.

"I won't pay a nickel more to anybody on the club than I have offered," the veteran manager said today as he prepared for the Athletics' first workout at their spring training camp here. "We pay every penny in salary that we can give. It's up to the ball player whether he wants to play for that salary.

"I've had my last say. If they want to play ball, all right. I need them all, but I'm paying the salaries and I know what I can give and they don't. The claims of some of them are so ridiculous that they are really funny."

Twenty-one men, 11 veterans and 10 rookies, are at the Athletics' camp. They include 13 pitchers, four catches and four fielders.

COCHRANE REMAINS FIRM

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Mickey Cochrane, star catcher of the Philadelphia Athletics, declared today that he would not join the team at its southern training camp unless his terms are met by Manager Connie Mack. Cochrane is reported to have asked for $3,000 a year more to sign a new contract to replace his three-year agreement which expired last fall.

"I made by demands to the Athletics," Cochrane said. "Connie Mack made his reply. I didn't accept his terms. If I go South it will be because I won my argument. If I don't then Mack doesn't accept. If I play ball, the fans can be told that I have been given what I asked. If not, then I didn't get it."

HACK WILSON ABSENT

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Absence of Hack Wilson was conspicuous among the Cubs' infielders and outfielders assembling today for the jaunt to the Catalina Island training camp. There are rumors that Fencehuster Hack is sulking over the terms of his contract and may elect to "hold out" for a while. Prominent among the players leaving tomorrow to join Manager McCarthy and his batteries are Rogers Hornsby, Kiki Cuyler and Riggs Stephenson.

ROBINS LEAVE TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—The advance guard of the Brooklyn Robins, consisting of one coach, one rookie pitcher and several sports writers, starts tonight for training camp at Clearwater, Fla. Receipt of the signed contract of Lou Koupal, pitcher, today brought the total of signed players to 21, but several regulars, including Pitcher Dazzy Vance and Outfielders Babe Herman and Rube Bressler, are still out of the fold.

THOMAS SIGNS CONTRACT

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Alphonse Thomas, ace of the White Sox pitching staff, has returned his signed contract, lifting another load of worry off Owner Charles A. Comiskey's shoulders. The Baltimore blonde, it was intimated, was given a substantial increase in salary.

GIANTS SHOW PROGRESS

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Feb. 22.—(AP.)—When the main body of New York Giants gets here, the new arrivals will find the pitchers and catchers far ahead of them in the spring training grind. Except for one day, McGraw's batterymen have been cavorting in the sunshine daily since they arrived and even the veterans are beginning to cut loose with fast ones.

HOOLEY SMITH FINED, BANNED

MONTREAL, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—R. J. (Hooley) Smith, of the Montreal Maroons, was indefinitely suspended and fined $100 by President Frank Calder, of the National Hockey League today because of his belligerent actions in last night's game with the Montreal Canadiens here.

The penalty imposed by the league head was the latest and stiffest in a series of punishments dealt out to the fiery player after he became unruly in the exciting third period of the heated battle between the Montreal rivals.

A minor penalty was handed him for a violation of rules. Smith objected and drew a major penalty for doing so. In protest he undertook to battle with all the opposing players within reach. He was sent off the ice for the remainder of the game and a match foul called against him.

Georges Township Has Lead Clinched

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Feb. 22.—Georges Township High School virtually clinched its lead in section 13, W. P. I. A. L. basketball race when it defeated Brownsville by a score of 30 to 22. North Union Township is holding second place in the sectional scramble, but the hiatus between Georges Township and North Union is so great that there is little danger of the latter usurping first place before the conclusion of the season. North Union seems to have second place fairly well clinched with third place contenders well in the rear. Point Marion, Brownsville and Redstone Township are running a neck-and-neck race for permanency in third place.

Williams Equals, Pickard Sets Record

TORONTO, Feb. 22.—(AP.)—Beaten in one of the trial heats, Percy Williams, Olympic 100 and 200-meter sprint champion, came back to capture the final of the 60-yard dash in record-equalling time at the Canadian National indoor track and field championships here last night. Williams' time was 6 1-5 seconds, equalling the record held jointly by a number of sprinters.

Victor Pickard, of Hamilton, student at the University of Pittsburgh, set a new Canadian mark in the pole vault, clearing 13 feet.

OUT OF NEW YORK MEET

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—(INS.)—Percy Williams, the Canadian youth who won two Olympic sprint championships last year, will not compete in the National A. A. U. indoor track championships here tomorrow night, according to word received from Toronto. It is believed that the Maple Leaf flier's schedule is too heavy to permit him to make the trip here.

Obituary

Miss Agnes M. Smith.

Miss Agnes Marie Delaphine Smith, daughter of Mrs. Rita A. Smith, of 1226 Illinois avenue, Dormont, died yesterday. Miss Smith was born on Mt. Washington and spent most of her life in that community, moving to Dormont two years ago. She was a graduate of St. Mary's High School and also attended South Hills High School. Since her graduation she had been employed by the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing Company. She was a member of St. Mary's of the Mount Roman Catholic Church. She leaves her mother, a brother and three sisters. Funeral services will be held Monday morning in St. Mary's Church and burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Dr. Mary A. Williams.

Dr. Mary A. Williams, 59, wife of Rev. R. E. Williams, pastor of the Cobden street Baptist Church, died Thursday in her home, 109 Clearfield street, Crafton Heights. Dr. Williams was born in Wales and came to this country 30 years ago. She was a graduate of the Atlantic School of Osteopathy, formerly at Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Dr. Williams was a member of the Eastern Star, Woman's Welsh Club and the State and Local Osteopathy Association. Besides her husband she is survived by three daughters, Mildred, Irene and Gladys Williams.

Mrs. Jane B. Steen.

Mrs. Jane B. Steen, widow of Maj. James Brown Steen, died Wednesday in her home at 734 South Millvale avenue. Mrs. Steen was a life-long resident of Pittsburgh and a member of St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church. She leaves one son and four daughters.

Frank B. Hastings

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Feb. 22.—Frank B. Hastings, 57, is dead at his home here. He had been ill for 10 years.

BORROW FROM "HOUSEHOLD" SAVE Almost One-Third Loans $10 to $300

This old established organization by reason of large volume efficient management and ample capital is now making a substantial reduction in the cost of loans up to $300 by lowering the interest rate from the lawful maximum of 3½ per cent a month on unpaid principal balance to 2½ per cent.

FOR EXAMPLE ON LOANS, Payable in 20 Equal Monthly Payments. You save as follows:

$ 50	Loan—You Save	$ 5.25
100	Loan—You Save	10 50
200	Loan—You Save	21 00
300	Loan—You Save	31 50

THE SAME PROPORTIONATE SAVING ON OTHER AMOUNTS.

Loans may be paid in full at any time and you will only be charged for the actual time you keep the money. You get the full amount in cash—no deductions of any kind. We do not notify your employer, neither do we make inquiry of your friends, relatives nor tradespeople. If it is not convenient to call personally phone Atlantic 1198 or Atlantic 0735 and we will send a representative to your home.

BUGS BAER Says

AND GEORGE DID IT

"Bugs" Baer

It takes a bigger man to be elected President after having stood up in a canoe while crossing the Delaware.

February is a good month for all of us. We make so many mistakes every day that this short month improves our batting average.

By the way, on what date was Rupert Hughes born?

And why?

Rupert and George had quite an argument last year and Rupert had many things to say about George in spite of the fact that George never mentioned Rupert once.

There is one thing agitated by amateur biographers that is interesting. Would George be a great man if he were alive today?

Did he have a radio voice?

Did his delivery have resonance, tonality and timbre? Or was it too manly?

Could he have found parking space at Valley Forge?

Would the income tax people have given him exemption for that dollar he tossed across the Potomac?

Would he have any excuse to chop down that cherry tree with the delicatessen stores so close together?

If he couldn't tell a lie, how could he make an election promise?

If he was so truthful how could he look into the faces of his campaign committee and say, "Gentlemen—"

Taking it all in all, we figure that it is a good thing for history and progress that George lived when he did and Rupert when he could.

There is only one modern standard by which George can be condemned. He started and won a war with an army that had no shoes, no food and no ammunition.

Intelligence Test

Dr. J. F. Engle, widely known educator, has evolved a series of questions which, he says, if answered "Yes," indicate the "Highly intelligent individual." Readers of this department are requested to read the questions, answer "Yes," and thus establish the contention that this department has an exceptionally high average of intelligent readers. Thank you.

1. Do you enjoy building a fire in the morning?
2. Do you embrace every reasonable opportunity to wash your hands?
3. Do you frequently massage your scalp?
4. Do you love to bring order out of disorder?
5. Do you maintain a favorable mental attitude toward soap?
6. Do you garb yourself according to the kind of labor in which you are engaged?
7. Do you drink two quarts of water daily?
8. Do you read fiction sparingly and literature extensively?

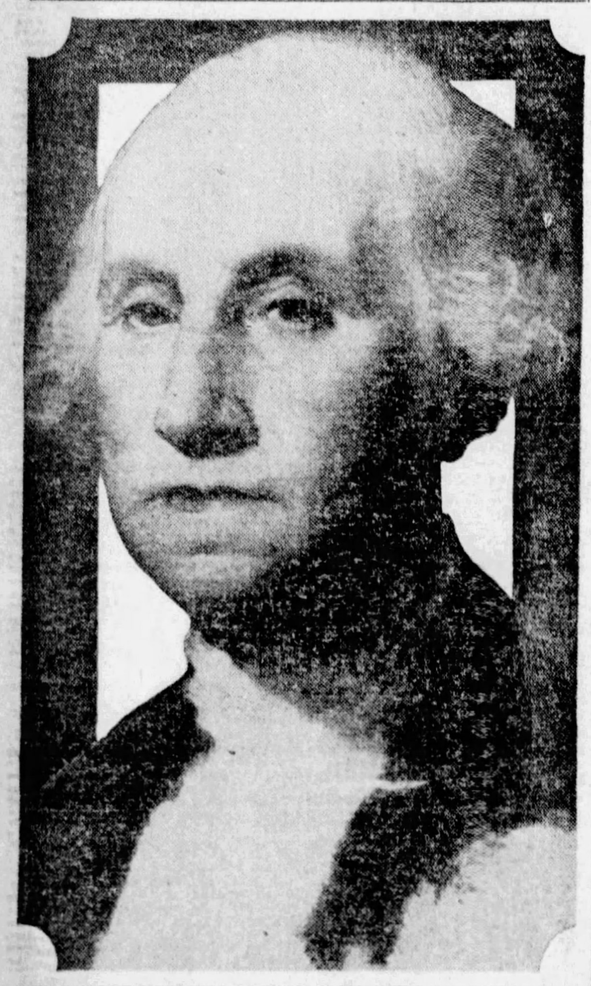
George Washington Made This a Free Country

And if the country will take his advice, it will remain a country free, and at peace.



THE FATHER OF HIS COUNTRY.

This is the birthday of America's greatest citizen. He is as young in the hearts of men today as he was when he took the oath as president, formally putting an end to foreign rule in this country.

The whole world honors him as a patient, courageous patriot, a great general, a wise adviser of his people and, above all, as a good and honorable man.

On his birthday every American should remember and determine to support at the ballot box and elsewhere Washington's sound advice to KEEP OUT OF FOREIGN ENTANGLEMENTS.

He won our first and greatest war. He changed this country from small British colonies strung out along the Atlantic to the great nation that it is today.

He advised us to attend to OUR business, letting Europeans attend to THEIR business, and to keep free from entangling alliances with foreign countries.

If we do not know enough to take the advice he wisely gave, we shall deserve whatever we get in consequence. But fortunately the average American trusts Washington, values his advice more highly than that of an unthinking sentimentalist or a clever international financier, and in the end the average man rules.

And Washington's advice will be followed, and the peace and prosperity of this country that he established will be MAINTAINED.

Proposed Rail Grouping Would Affect Pittsburgh

The proposed grouping of railroads, permission for which is requested of the Interstate Commerce Commission by the Baltimore and Ohio and the Van Sweringen interests of Cleveland, involving in some cases transfer of ownership and in others a community of interest, is of interest locally because a number of rail properties in the Pittsburgh district are mentioned in the mergers. It would make some lines which are of minor importance in themselves factors in one or another of two great systems each embracing approximately 13,000 miles of track.

In the change the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh ownership would pass from the Van Sweringens to the Baltimore and Ohio, over the rails of which it now enters Pittsburgh. The Bessemer and Lake Erie, having its northern terminal at Conneaut Harbor and southern terminal at North Bessemer, near Pittsburgh; the Pittsburgh and Shawmut, one terminal of which is in Freeport, and the Pittsburgh, Shawmut and Northern, with main lines and branches scattered through Northwestern Pennsylvania and Southwestern New York, would pass to the control of the Van Sweringens, as would the Wheeling and Lake Erie, with terminals in Cleveland, Toledo and Zanesville. In addition they ask for interest with other carriers in several bridge and terminal lincs in the vicinity of Pittsburgh.

Several larger lines, the territory of which is more remote, indicate the vast extent of the proposed change, but here their significance is that of the possibility of traffic line extensions that could make shipping more direct to certain points.

The proposal is one of the most interesting that has come to the notice of the public relative to railroad grouping since L. F. Loree, president of the Delaware and Hudson, which now is included in the Van Sweringen grouping, in 1927 attempted to bring about a merger that would have brought into existence a third eastern trunk line system. The Interstate Commerce Commission did not approve, but it may look more favorably on the present arrangement, since voluntary grouping of lines is held to be the better economic policy, but has not been accomplished.

It is significant that the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburgh was included in the Loree plan, but passes to the Baltimore and Ohio in the new deal.

Tales That Are Told

Couldn't Get Away

A DANCE had been arranged at the local deaf and dumb hospital, and one of the doctors had invited an old friend to attend.

"But what'd be the use?" protested the young man. "How on earth can a fellow ask a deaf and dumb girl to dance?"

"Oh," said the doctor, "you just smile and bow to her and the job's done."

The young man bowed to the first girl he came across, and away they danced. They danced not only one dance that evening but three, and he was on the point of asking her for a fourth when a stranger approached, and remarked, with a mournful look:

"Darling, when are we going to dance together again? It's almost an hour since I had one with you."

Poor Chap

THEY had met once again after a number of years and found much to tell each other.

Suddenly the first youth clutched his friend by the arm.

"Look," he cried, "that's Pamela crossing the road! Aren't you going to speak to her?"

"No," said the other tersely, and he looked away.

Then it dawned on the first speaker that something was very wrong.

"I say," he began, "I am awfully sorry. Did she turn you down?"

"Yes; I was always unlucky at love. If I'd been Adam, I'll bet Eve would have remained an old maid," was the disconsolate reply.

Speed Hog

He worked very quickly, and occasionally the speaker glanced at him rather nervously, afterwards speaking at greater and greater speed.

But the faster he spoke the quicker the reporter's pencil glided over the paper. Finally, the orator could stand it no longer.

"Not so fast," he shouted; "not so fast! I can't keep up with ye."

Worst Story I Have Heard Today

By WILL ROGERS

THERE was a guy in Oklahoma City that had struck oil or something, so he wanted to build him a stylish house. He and his wife tried for 10 years to sell the house they were in. It wasn't a swell place, but they thought it was pretty fair, and they asked a high price for it.

Well, they never could sell it. Everybody said the price was too high. So they turned it over to a real estate agent, and he advertised it in the Sunday papers. Monday the agent called up the man that had the house to sell, and says, "Have you had any offers at the price I put on the house? You see, I doubled the price, and I was not sure whether you'd get offers."

"Oh, yes," he says, "we got plenty of offers at your price, and the place was crowded with people that wanted to buy."

"Well then, it's sold, I reckon."

"No, it ain't. After we read your description of the place in the paper, my wife and me decided we wouldn't sell it for no price."

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

TROUBLE in the Jones family.

The usual thing—the youngsters won't obey.

Ever since Jim began working in that service station and Eva got a job in a broker's office they've been wanting to boss themselves.

"I can't imagine what's come over children nowadays," wails Mother Jones. "Think of a 16-year-old girl and an 8-year-old boy wanting to decide everything for themselves. Why they're nothing but babies yet. What are parents for if they can't do the thinking for their children?"

Mother Jones should approve of the ancient Chinese method. Chinese parents did the thinking for their children—and how! They had 300 points of ceremony and 3,000 rules of behavior which little Ah Wong was supposed to follow. But even the rigid Chinese regime has had to go down before modern influences. Nowadays young China, like young America, is demanding the right to think for itself.

And the truth is—though most parents will go to the stage before they'll admit it—young America is better able to think about the world in which it lives than either mother or dad.

For young America is PART of that world—is turned into all its amazing new wave lengths—and mother isn't.

Eva Jones says flippantly, "Mother doesn't know what it's all about. She never worked a day in her life outside a home. She can't know what a modern girl's up against—"

That may be impertinent, but it's true. It's manifestly futile for Mother Jones to try and formulate precise rules of conduct for a daughter who lives in a world which she never contacts. The Chinese could do that in a world whose social customs did not change from century to century, but America changes over night, and daughter Eva steps right along with it.

"CHILDREN SHOULD BE TAUGHT HOW TO THINK, NOT WHAT TO THINK."

You can't teach your child WHAT to think about religion, business, politics, fashions, marriage, amusements or any other department of human life, and you've no right to try. He should be allowed to make his own decisions in these matters and he won't be worth a plugged nickel if he doesn't.

But you CAN teach your child HOW to think about life and his fellow man. You can and should teach him to think steadily, logically, fairly, honestly, tolerantly. You can encourage his curiosity, stimulate his imagination, nourish a healthy pride in him, discourage fuzzy, flabby thought. His curiosity may make him ask questions you cannot answer, his imagination may lure him into adventures strange and terrifying to you, and his emancipated mind may condemn much that is foolish and cowardly in your own thought. If so get down on your knees and thank God that you have been a success as a parent. For that should be the dream of every father and mother—to make their children wiser, braver, better than they themselves have been.

THE MOON'S CRATERS

By Garrett P. Serviss

"Please give your theory (preferably), or the universal theory, as to the formation of the craters on the moon. I look forward to your interesting articles with great eagerness."—David W. Steinberg, Chicago.

I HAVE no theory of my own, and there is no theory that can be called the universal one, if by that you mean its universal acceptance. The volcanic hypothesis of the origin of the lunar "craters" is the earliest and the most natural one, if superficial appearances alone are considered. Looking with a telescope into the great ragged-walled cavities constituting such crater mountains as Copernicus, Tycho, Theophilus and many others, one is at first strongly tempted to say that these can be nothing but the yawning mouths of enormous volcanoes, which have been extinct for ages. The central peaks which they contain, and which sometimes are themselves crowned with what appear to be the openings of smaller volcanic throats, seem to bear out that hypothesis. The concentric shelving ridges of the inner walls, however, are not very consistent with it, while evidences of great flows of lava radiating from the craters like those around typical terrestrial volcanoes, are not found.

But it is the sectional form of the lunar craters which causes them to differ most widely from the volcanoes that we know. The principal ones are vast sink-holes, surrounded by roughly circular, but ragged, mountain rings. Their broad, comparatively level bottoms lie sometimes thousands of feet below the general surface of the moon outside. Some of these interior sunken floors are smooth and almost unbroken, while others have, as already remarked, lofty, steep peaks in their centers, often assembled in close groups and sometimes possessing crater-like openings at the top.

These crater floors are in many cases more than 50 or 60 miles broad. A number exceed a hundred miles.

and the curious fact becomes evident that if a person could stand in the center of some of these he could not see surrounding walls, for they would lie below the horizon. This is owing to the small radius of the moon and consequent rapid curvature of its surface.

Another hypothesis which has been warmly advocated is that of Gilbert, which ascribes the lunar craters to the effects of impact by great meteorites. Experiments have shown that projectiles shot with great force against solid targets do often produce cavities closely resembling those on the moon. But such resemblance alone is not a convincing argument, especially since the theory is doubtful for various reasons. One of the strongest of these is that the lunar craters are nearly all more or less circular, indicating that the meteorites must have fallen radially upon the moon. They could not have done this because their velocity in space is more than 20 miles a second, so that the feeble gravity of the moon could not deflect them into vertical courses, and nearly all of them would strike more nearly horizontally than vertically. This would not accord with the shapes and appearances of the craters. Then, if ever the moon was bombarded with enormous meteorites, the earth should have suffered much more in the same way, and there is no evidence of a meteorite as large as those supposed to have pocked the moon having ever hit the earth.

Bible Passages

Hezekiah

(Isaiah 38; 9-22)

THE writing of Hezekiah king of Judah, when he had been sick, and was recovered of his sickness:

I said in the cutting off of my days, I shall go to the gates of the grave: I am deprived of the residue of my years.

I said, I shall not see the Lord, even the Lord, in the land of the living: I shall behold man no more with the inhabitants of the world.

Mine age is departed, and is removed from me as a shepherd's tent: I have cut off like a weaver my life: he will cut me off with pining sickness: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me.

I reckoned till morning, that, as a lion, so will he break all my bones: from day even to night wilt thou make an end of me.

Like a crane or a swallow, so did I chatter: I did mourn as a dove: mine eyes fail with looking upward: O Lord I am oppressed; undertake for me.

What shall I say? he hath both spoken unto me, and himself hath done it: I shall go softly all my years in the bitterness of my soul.

O Lord, by these things men live, and in all these things is the life of my spirit: so wilt thou recover me, and make me to live.

Behold, for peace I had great bitterness: but thou hast in love to my soul delivered it from the pit of corruption: for thou hast cast all my sins behind thy back.

For the grave cannot praise thee, death can not celebrate thee: they that go down into the pit can not hope for thy truth.

The living, the living, he shall praise thee, as I do this day: the father to the children shall make known thy truth.

The Lord was ready to save me: therefore we will sing my songs to the stringed instruments all the days of our life in the house of the Lord.

For Isaiah had said, Let them take a lump of figs, and lay it for a plaister upon the boil, and he shall recover.

Hezekiah also had said, What is the sign that I shall go up to the house of the Lord?

Full Measure

He who gives full measure
Gives not toil alone,
But a rarer treasure,
One less often known.

He must bring as dower
Something of delight.
If with all his power,
He would work aright.

Gladly must he offer
Always of his best;
With no other proffer
Can he meet the test.

He who gives full measure
Does not only gauge
Worth of bright coins' treasure,

In his toil lies pleasure
Others cannot sense;
He who gives full measure
Gains full recompense!

He Wasn't a Rollo Boy

By Herbert Kaufman

Sculpture and legend, draining the red blood from his veins, have embalmed their misconceptions of his character.

That stern, aloof pile of marble before the Capitol, and the emasculated portraits of sugar-plum biography, rob a supreme force of virility, and intensify the feeling that our national grandfather was almost too good to be true.

But research, working through the myths—as skilled restorers erase superimposed daubs from a painted-over masterpiece—at least reveals the foremost American in his full reality.

No prig ever stood first in peace, war—or in the hearts of anybody.

No Rollo boy ever whipped a group of undisciplined individualists into an effective army, and knocked the stuffing out of the strongest king in Europe.

It took a manhandler to quell the mutinous levies at Valley Forge, and lead them over the frozen Delaware to victory.

Evidence suggests that the hero of the cherry tree episode was, more likely, the child of a preacher's imagination.

Washington wasn't that sort of a lad at all—or that sort of a man.

He adored the ladies, loved to dance, told and liked a gay story, kept the demijohn filled and tilted it on occasion.

He could lose his temper with the best, and hold his own with fist, small-sword or rifle.

His great virtues were sprinkled with small vices. Nature doesn't deal in perfections. The molds of majesty and genius are never quite flawless. But who wants them to be?

Washington was so rich in wisdom and ability—his career so fertile, and his achievements so epochal—that his blindest idolator can loyally concede some minor kinship with the common herd.

The pens that seek to correct his idealizations simply bring him nearer to popular understanding—and deification.

We insist upon the superior quality of all idols, but it's comforting for ordinary mortals to recognize a slight streak of alloy in their composition—which reduces one's secret sense of inferiority, and somewhat lessens the gap between.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Feb. 22.—Thoughts while strolling: Undertaker's sign: "Horse-Drawn Service." Wonder what a one-armed man pays for a manicure. Ethel Barrymore's hair nearly white. Whatever became of John Steele? Telescope view of Jupiter—10 cents. Clare Gould once a popular Broadway juvenile. And now has a seat on the Stock Exchange.

Beatrice Lillie. Who makes her own friends wear formal dress at her night club. Plump brunettes in red. And the slim red-haired in green. James R. Quirk, a Boston boy, who made good in the city. Spiritual chanters in nearly all musical shows. A group of garbage wagon drivers. Maybe talking slop.

Mabel Boll—if that means anything to you. Cops bawling out the "Sunday drivers." After all no one can write a stirring march like Sousa. Nellie Revell—once a famous invalid. Now a gadabout. The "dese, dem and dose" boys who wield toothpicks in front of chop houses. Bert Lahr, a new Broadway comic.

French millinery shops that "fit hats to individual heads." They whisper Carl Van Vechten is not so popular in Harlem any more. S. Stanwood Menken, the lawyer. Texas Guinan's pearl head dress. New York's ceaseless rumble. Like the far away roar in a tunnel. And somehow fascinating.

The architectural dreams in marble and stone. Flung high. Never read those fake stories from Winsted, Conn., any more. A man's hat blows off and he walks on without looking back. That's being don't carish. Warning in apartment house foyer: "No courting!"

Fast working clerks in theatrical ticket agencies. Chic Sale in four different movies. Fred and Tom Waring—the Pennsylvania Warings. The flood of cocktail recipe books. Prohibition inspiring literature on the refined art of drinking. The Broadway types who wear black derbies, white mufflers and dinkey mustaches.

What will the modern flapper be 10 years from now? Outside of 10 years older. That scarlet blaze at dusk. As the sun topples over the edge of the sky. The majestic haughtiness of a New York night. Herman Tappe. Shivering white-coated clerks in the open-fronted drink stands. Sometimes I think I'll wave my hair and go on the stage.

Hoboken continues the high spot for ultra slummers—the seacoast of Bohemia as the whimsical Mr. Christopher Morley, its discoverer, quaintly labels it. Heretofore, Hoboken has been to most New Yorkers just a place to catch a ship. But now that one may whisk through the white-tiled Holland tunnel at full motor speed, Hoboken becomes an adventure—like going through a Child's restaurant on a greased pig.

* * *

Max Schumann's old Hoboken haufbrau, which for several years after prohibition had the gloomy look of an abandoned brewery, does the biggest business of its career, now that blase Gotham is "seeling" to the town. Here those who wish to partake of the German squab—intelligentzia for pig's knuckles—and the favorite Hoboken draught, must make reservations days in advance and then shift from one foot to another in the aisles for an hour or so.

* * *

After dinner comes the play at the Old Rialto Theater, now in its tenth week—a hilarious presentation of the favorite of the 60s "After Dark, or Neither Maid, Wife Nor Widow." It is done in the serious manner and costume of the period, with its villians and their whispering asides—"Wait for me in yonder shrubbery!"—and its pale, wistful heroine's anguished wail: "I cannot love you, for another's image is in my heart." To say nothing of the hair's breadth escape of the lovely lady, tied to the railroad track, from an onrushing train. The Park avenue crowds catch the spirit and boo, hiss and cheer and an announcer very seriously warns enthusiasts not to toss coins on the stage. So successful was "After Dark" done merrily by Harry Wagstaff Gribble, the famous "Black Crook" with its shameless and hippy ladies in spangled black tights is being revived a few steps down the block.

* * *

Among the old songs of the 60s revived in "After Dark" are: "We Never Speak as We Pass By," "Up in a Balloon, Boys," "O, Fred Tell 'Em to Stop" and "Mama Have You Heard the News?" And they are just as tuneful and certainly more sensible than the flood of mammy yo-deo-do and boo-boop-a-doop ditties that have given such impetus to national fingernail biting.

* * *

Hoboken bristles with old-time swing door saloons and their mahogany bars and barkeeps featuring roached hair. Beer and hot rum are the favorite tipples, and in one I noticed a dead clock bearing the sign: "No Tick." What do you mean, the good old days? And what Hoboken with its old-time prices is doing to Broadway theatrical and night life is one of the current crying-out-louds.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

EVERY man should desire to dress as well and as neatly as his work and his income will afford.

They are paid for time and spend it in frivolous motions—not upon the work at hand.

From the time a real man starts his work in the morning till he finishes his job at night there should be no thought of clothes.

There are more important matters to think about.

The man who frequently gives attention to himself is a vain bird who will drift along with the poorly paid.

He has not the right attitude toward his job and will not make a success of it.
